INDUSTRIAL DEPARTMENT.

The Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul Railway Company's 6,150 miles of road traverses a vast territory, rich in all the resources that insure industrial success.

The Industrial Department is conversant with the Iron, Coal, Lumber and Tanbark, the Water-Power (both river and artesian) for factory and electric power purposes, the markets, the transportation and financial facilities, and other interests on the line pertaining to industrial development, and disseminates information concerning same.

A number of new factories has been induced to locate—largely through the instrumentality of this Company—at enterprising towns on its lines.

As the interest of the Company is to secure the location of industries at places where the surroundings will insure their permanent success, the information furnished a particular industry is pertinent and reliable.

In the Eastern States and in other parts of the world factories are so congested and distant from the actual markets as to result in fierce and destructive competition. That the West is taking a place as one of the great manufacturing territories of the world is forcibly impressing itself upon discerning and enterprising manufacturers. Steps should be taken by such while the field is as yet not fully covered, and while inducements are still being offered, to locate in the West.

Individuals or companies wishing to embark capital in Western industry can find a profitable field.

THE REAL ESTATE MARKET.

TRANSFERS OF UNUSUAL SIZE GIVE PROMISE OF AN ACTIVE MARKET — TRANSACTIONS ON MICHIGAN AVENUE GREATEST HOTEL DISTRICT IN THE CITY.

The current week in Chicago real estate has been one of large operations. The weather still continues to be a bar to the opening of the general spring market. A number of extensive operations which involved properties of all conditions, however, have been made public. Outside capitalists still figure in the more notable of these deals. Last week a Chicago real estate agent sold one of the best pieces of St. Louis property. During the same week a Minneapolis syndicate arranged for the purchase of a $400,000 acre tract in the southwest part of Chicago. This week, the star transaction might be considered the purchase of the Richelieu Hotel. A company composed of Gov. W. L. Merriam, John L. Merriam and A. H. Wilder, all of Minneapolis, have contracted for the purchase of this hotel with the leasehold of the land which it covers, at a consideration of $400,000. These parties give in part payment 400 lots in Campbell's Fifty-fifth street addition to Chicago, at a valuation of $200,000 and assume a mortgage on the hotel property of an equal amount. These lots are west of the Grand Trunk railroad and south of Fifty-fifth street. They were purchased a year ago by Gov. Merriam for $160,000. The purchase of the lots, as well as the present hotel purchase, was negotiated by R. L. Cresey, formerly of Minneapolis. The sale of the Richelieu is made for a company of which H. V. Bemis is President and W. P. Hugunin is Secretary. The hotel is a six-story structure, occupying a frontage of fifty-three feet on Michigan avenue just south or the Leland Hotel. In the transaction, the leasehold is considered worth $162,000, while the building is placed at $238,000. The land was leased about eleven years ago at an annual rental of $1,344. The lease is one of a series of transactions which illustrate in a striking manner the appreciation in value of property in the down-town district. The leases of the Richelieu Hotel property and the Leroy Payne property on Michigan avenue were made at the same time. The former was leased on a basis of 6 per cent on a front foot valuation of $427. The latter piece of property which is just a block north, was leased at a valuation of $400 a front foot. Either frontage, in fee simple, would, at present, be worth over ten times the valuation determined ten years ago. Between the Richelieu Hotel and the Leland Hotel there is a light court seven and one-half feet in width. For the easement of this narrow frontage, a higher annual rental is paid by the Ridhlieu Hotel Company than is paid for the entire fifty three feet on which the hotel stands. The Richelieu Hotel as a building, has a rather interesting history. The front portion of the building was erected as an apartment house by Leroy Payne, the original lessee of the land. The building and lease-hold were then sold to H. V. Bemis for $110,000. He re-constructed the building, put in a new front extending to the street line, and made an addition in the rear covering nearly all of the depth of 170 feet.

The completion of the present transaction does not indicate that there will be any change in the management of the hotel. The Minneapolis parties buy simply as an investment. The Richelieu Hotel Company, or H. V. Bemis, takes back a twenty-year lease of the building sold at an annual rental of about $22,000. This company will retain the lease of the Masury property adjoining the Richelieu on the south. Twenty-seven feet of this property is covered with a two-story building owned by H. V. Bemis. The entire Masury building covering fifty-two feet of frontage, with the exception of the first floor, is also leased, and operated in connection with the main hotel. The leases of both these properties will terminate in twenty years, with the lease from Gov. Merriam and the syndicate represented by him. The furniture, and collections of china and paintings which have given the Richelieu an enviable reputation, will remain the property of the Richelieu Hotel Company.

Further progress is reported in the project of building a hotel on the site of the Leroy Payne stables. This project has been under way for some months, with more or less prospects of a favorable termination. It has reached such a point at present, that there is a fair prospect that within a few months work will be under way for the substitution of the unsightly livery stable, with a building more suitable for the location. The property occupied by Leroy Payne has a frontage of 107 feet. Under the lease which was described above, Mr. Payne offered to sell his leasehold interest in the property for $3,000 a front foot. He was offered instead, a cash payment of $150,000 and $200,000 in stock of the new hotel. He then made a counter proposition to take $150,000 in cash and $250,000 in stock. The syndicate of Chicago capitalists which has had the offer under consideration, finally decided to agree to this. Now a new feature has appeared to at least temporarily block negotiations. A $900,000 hotel is to be built and the cash payment to Mr. Payne of $150,000 is to be made. To make satisfactory arrangements for placing bonds to raise the necessary amount of money, the syndicate wished to acquire the property in fee simple, instead of as a leasehold. As a fee, no difficulties would be experienced in borrowing the necessary amount of money. It is more difficult, however, to make arrangements for borrowing so large an amount of money on a leasehold, as long as the owner of the fee has the first lien on the property. The Jennings estate owns the fee which, from a 6 per cent investment basis, is worth just $400 a front foot, or $42,800. This is the valuation on which the original lease was made. The Jennings estate, however, demands $105,000 for the fee. The hotel syndicate hesitates to pay this amount and it is on this feature of the negotiations, that the transaction is hinging.

Michigan avenue and its possibilities as a hotel street, have attracted more than their share of public attention during the past six months. Nearly every one of the chain of famous hotels on this thoroughfare has been the subject of negotiation of sale or lease. It is less than two weeks ago, that a formal announcement of the purchase of the Leland Hotel was made by Andrew J. Cooper. The new Victoria, at the corner of Van Buren street, which is the Beaurivage flats remodeled, is about ready for occupancy. Negotiations were on foot some time ago for the purchase or lease of the Leland, the Richelieu and the Victoria, which cover the frontage of an entire block. Since that time, announcement was made of William Fitzgerald's lease of the corner opposite the Auditorium, as a hotel site. The new Lexington at the corner of Twenty-second street and Michigan avenue and the Hotel Metropole, one block further south, are somewhat out of the down-town hotel district, but are still notable Michigan avenue improvements.

The prediction which has been freely made that Michigan avenue is to be a counterpart of Broadway, in the hotel section, promises to be fulfilled at no far distant date. A fair beginning is made in the chain of hotels, which will include the Brunswick, the new Leroy which is to occupy the Payne property, the Leland, the Richelieu, the Victoria, the Auditorium and the new hotel to be erected by William Fitzgerald.

The same reasons which influenced the syndicate purchasing the Leroy Payne property, to secure the fee, were the occasion of the purchase of a West side property made last week by a St. Paul capitalist. A. K. Barnum purchased the Ogden flat building, at the southwest corner of Ogden and Warren avenue over a year ago for $175,000. The building contains twenty-eight flats and is opposite the entrance to Union Park. The land on which the building stands is 165x145 feet and was leased for ninety-nine years at a valuation of $33,000. To secure the property in fee simple, Mr. Barnum agreed to pay $45,000, a bonus of $12,000.

Still another real estate deal in which the relative values of fee and leasehold cut an important figure was completed this week. Dr. F. D. Owsley has purchased the building at No. 59 Third avenue for $35,000. The building is a six-story structure covering a west frontage of thirty feet between Van Buren and Harrison streets, and has been occupied as a medical college. The land was leased at an annual rental of $1,500. This on a 6 per cent basis would establish a land valuation of $25,000. At present the valuation of the land is placed at $2000 a front foot or a total of $60,000. The building itself cost $30,000, so that including the appreciation of the leasehold, the property was secured at an exceptionally low figure.

Clear skies and warmer weather are exerting a favorable influence on almost every branch of business. The return of spring will be the signal for such a revival of trade as has not been seen for many months. Business men generally are looking forward with confidence to the next few months as likely to be a season of unprecedented activity.

Tributary to Chicago is a great country which takes on new life with the approach of spring. The west and northwest awake in April from the lethargy of the long cold winter, and the inspiration of agricultural and industrial activity are felt all over the land. Hundreds of vessels from the port of Chicago trim their sails with the opening of navigation, and the river which during the winter has been practically deserted becomes alive with the commerce of the greatest inland port in the world. Simultaneously, signs of activity in other directions are noticed. Building operations which in Chicago are always extensive, now exhibit an unprecedented activity. It would seem as though the building projects of two years are being crowded into one. Yet every new structure is tenanted before it is completed, and there is still a demand for more.

Capital which has hitherto been conservative, is now coming to the front for investment in Chicago property. Elsewhere in this issue is detailed at length certain large transactions in Michigan avenue hotel property. These are regarded merely as indications of activity that are to follow. It is reported that the deal for the transfer of the Lake street elevated road is practically completed. The deeds and papers necessary to a change in the ownership have been deposited in escrow at the First National bank in Chicago, and the formal announcement of the sale is to be made as soon as the details are completed. A gentleman familiar with the proceedings says that work will be begun on the road within one month, and that the entire seven miles of the line will be ready by fall. The sale is said to be absolute, the New York syndicate, of which Edward Lauterdale is the representative, becoming the sole owners of the road. One of the most prominent promoters of the new company is the president of the Brooklyn elevated road. The re-organization provides for the representation in the directory of local capitalists, but who they are to be has not yet been decided. This is in line with other enterprises which are taking on tangible form. The Alley "L" road will soon be running cars and expect to secure a direct entrance to Jackson park. It is reasonably certain that an elevated road project for the North Side will be completed before the opening of the World's Fair.

That enterprises of this kind will pay handsomely cannot be seriously questioned. The rapid growth of the city will always keep in advance even of projected improvements. It may be broadly stated that any investment which depends for its profitableness on the needs of the Chicago people, and which is worthy of the patronage of the public, will always be financially successful. Wild-cat schemes are not included in this category, but they do not deserve to succeed anyway.

Heretofore, and even at the present time to a very great extent, Chicago has been dependent on the capital of outsiders. It is too often the case that Chicago capital cannot be obtained for a local enterprise of merit, but that outsiders must be appealed to, and are allowed to step in and secure some of our most valuable investments.

A GREAT ENTERPRISE AT CHICAGO HEIGHTS.

Herog and Marrenner of New York City, the largest plate glass manufacturers in America, have located at Chicago Heights. The contract for the construction of their factory, 370x210 feet, with engine house 50x80 feet, has been let; also a contract for 100 houses for their men. During this week lots amounting to $67,500 were sold through the various agencies of the association. There are now in course of construction a large number of dwellings and stores. The work of macadamizing the streets is progressing very rapidly.

†Not included in totals.

We note continued improvement in the bank clearings this week, New York showing an increase of 31.9 per cent, as against 21.6 per cent last week, and Chicago and Philadelphia 20.3 and 23 per cent respectively, as against 1.9 and 17 per cent last week. Nearly all the cities which showed increased percentages last week show larger increases this week. Also the percentages of decrease are nearly all smaller this week. The total percentage of increase is 23.2 as against 15.7 last week, and that of all the cities outside of New York, 11.7 percent against 7.5 last week, Taken as a whole, the situation is encouraging.

At this time of year the bank clearings are affected by the weather, inasmuch as bad weather retards spring trade. Considering the very unfavorable weather that has prevailed all over the country ever since the beginning of the year, it is remarkable that such a good showing has been made. The furious blizzards in the west have been equaled by the great snow storms in the east. In many parts of the New England states within two weeks there have been heavy falls of snow which have rendered the roads impassible and paralyzed business of all kinds. From some of these localities reports come that the snowfall has been the heaviest known in forty years. The effect of such storms on the local traffic of any section can be better imagined than described.

In general, it may be said that everything seems favorable to increased business in the near future. The reports indicate that trade is not only improving but that it is taking on a very healthy tone. There is an absence of the uncertain element of speculation which is always disturbing.

Mechandise exports exceeded imports in February by $21,256,124. The exports of domestic products have fallen off, but for three weeks of March they were about $656,000 larger at New York than a year ago, while imports have been $4,500,000 larger, indicating for the month a considerable excess in imports.

The percentages of decrease, with the exception of a few unimportant instances, are all from far western and southern cities. On the other hand, all the northern and eastern cities show increases. The far West has for some time been undergoing a reaction, but the decreased returns from the South are not accounted for by the general state of Southern trade and industry. A surprisingly large number of new enterprises have been established in the South of late, and continued reports of prosperity are received from southern cities. In the face of all this the bank clearings do not begin to compare with those of the corresponding period last year, and though there is some improvement noticeable, it is not such as would be expected under the circumstances. For some time Montreal and Halifax have been showing poor returns, but this week they present handsome percentages of increase. This is the more remarkable in Halifax, inasmuch as her returns have for many weeks shown decreasing percentages.

	WEEK ENDING MAR. 24, 1892.	WEEK ENDING MAR. 26, 1891.	PERCENTAGE.

Totals,	$ 1,129,989,473	$ 930,946,093

As before mentioned, the groups showing decreases are the Southern and Farwestern, while all the other groups show increased percentages. The increase in the New England group is much smaller than last week, while that of the Middle group is much larger. The decrease in the Southern group is larger also, and the decrease in the Farwestern remains about the same as last week. The total of clearings by groups shows a slight falling off from the total of last week but the returns as compared with those of last year are on the whole very satisfactory.

SILVER MADE GOLD.

E. Huntington Pratt of the well known firm of Pratt & Ely, is the author of a neat little pamphlet entitled "Silver Made Gold by Truth and Honesty." In his introduction on the subject of silver he says:

"The silver question has been examined from so many standpoints that those who have impartially considered the various arguments and statistics, especially studying the last, will be prepared to consider suggestions for utilizing the inherent force and strength in silver and its power to hold man's condensed labor, and, after coinage, to act as true evidence of the amount of labor performed."

In suppport of his theory that silver can be made interchangeable with gold, he further says: "The United States government being now nearly (if not actually) the most powerful monetary nation of the world, because of its small debt and relative vast resources, it must, can, and will zealously guard its credit and, impartially, the welfare of each citizen. Nor can nor will our country call upon other nations with the feeble cry, "help us to know if silver is this price or that; or, help us to make it this price or that," for, if such help was given us, our country assumes a joint pooling interest, or virtually forms a silver trust, and any form of trust or pool is discontenanced by our laws and public sentiment. Our government is now strong enough to settle the silver question for the welfare of its people and virtually for the world; that is, it can look at the great question in a broad, impartial manner, and can be trusted to maintain progressively its past record for ability to cope with all questions of public needs, and formulate a true financial silver policy."

SPECIAL ASSESSMENT DECLARED VOID BECAUSE ILLEGAL.

The supreme court in the case of Edwards and others v. the City of Chicago, have recently handed down their opinion, deciding that the lands west of Milwaukee avenue were improperly assessed for the Belmont avenue sewer, running from Milwaukee avenue to the North Branch. No provision was made in the ordinance under which the assessment was levied for the surface drainage of the lands, and it is also held that without an extension of the improvement to accommodate the lands west of the western terminus of the sewer, which would require further action of the city, they cannot be said to derive benefits from the proposed sewer which can be assessed as special benefits under the law.

The lands involved are embraced in the district a fourth of a mile on each side of Belmont avenue, extending a distance of about three miles west from Milwaukee avenue. The decision interests a large number of property owners, and seems to relieve the parties who appealed from paying what they regarded a burdensome assessment. Attorney Frank J. Crawford represented the property owners in contesting the validity of the assessment.

This decision is regarded as very important, and as likely to open to contest a large number of cases in which special assessments for sewers are spread over territory not directly benefited by the improvements. If the principle laid down in the decision can be sustained in similar cases, it will affect seriously the whole scheme of special assessments on property not directly benefited. We shall give a further discussion of the subject next week.

LOCAL STOCK MARKET.

Despite the plethora of money, investors continue to hold aloof from stock speculation. It was thought that the set-back given to the Bland silver measure would strengthen confidence in the future of securities, but the hope has scarcely been realized.

The cables have apparently been restored in public confidence. It is thought by insiders that there was nothing substantial behind the sensational disclosures of jobbery that set the market agog recently. It is in every way to be regretted that great interests should be the object of any such assault. Such tactics may contribute to the sale of a newspaper, but they are potent for mischief, inasmuch as they contribute to spread a spirit of distrust among the investing public.

The range in North Side cable during the week has been but ½ point. Last Saturday this property opened at 179¼ and sold down to 179¼, at which it closed for the regular. The same price practically ruled during the early days of the week. On Thursday, there was a considerable accession of business upon circulation of a rumor that the management were seriously considering the practicability of declaring quarterly dividends in place of distributing profits semi-annually as heretofore. Under the influence of this report, North Side cable advanced to 180, but subsequently declined to 179¾, which was the close for regular. A brace of deals finally carried the price to 179¾ for the account.

West Side cable held, last Saturday, steady at 131¾ regular. On the first day of the week, the opening was strong and the property lifted to 132½, but subsequently declined to 131¾, regular. The close was not at the lowest point, and 132¼ was paid for the second account. On this day there was a fairly brisk demand, upward of 1,250 shares being traded. Later in the week the inquiry fell off materially, which resulted in some concessions being made by sellers. The close on Thursday was only factionally off, being 131½ regular.

City Railway has, upon moderate transactions, advanced from 328½ to 330. For some weeks past the advance in this property has been regular and well sustained. During the preceding week, city Railway was selling at 324½ with 326 for the high.

Street's Stable Car Line shows practically no movement. There was a fractional bulge early in the week that carried this property to 37¼ regular, but since then the tendency has been downward, and the close Thursday was 36¾ regular. This leaves Street's practically where it was the preceding week. The bulk of the business went through on Tuesday and Wednesday, which were the days of highest prices.

Diamond Match in limited request at 140 both for regular and cash. Business for the week amounted to 180 shares in all.

Calumet and Chicago Canal and Dock has been one of the active and advancing stocks of the week. There has been some talk about arranging to take stock in payment of land. As this would have the effect of reducing the amount of stock outstanding, this property opened strong on Tuesday at 80¾ regular. Orders to buy were pretty plentiful, and lots of fifties moved briskly off. The price was advanced to 81 but did not hold there, the close being at 80⅝ regular. On this day over $1,200 shares were disposed of, the bulk of the trade being for the account. Wednesday was another active day in this property, and the price was advanced to 81⅜ regular, with 1,500 shares changing hands. The close Thursday was 81¼ regular, the trade being only moderate in volume, viz, 300 shares.

American Strawboard has experienced a lapse of two points. Business was confined to the early part of the week and aggregated some 500 shares. The range was from 81 to 79 regular, the close being at the low mark.

Arc Light & Power, which sold last Saturday at 87, was advanced on Wednesday to 88. The close was, however, a half point off being at 87½. On Wednesday, as many as 150 shares were placed.

Brewing and Malting attracts but little attention just now. The common stock was steady at 32, with 31½ for the account. Preferred stock started out at 41½, advanced to 41½, and closed at 41.

Packing and Provision moves slowly but at advancing prices. The common stock is now selling at 53 for lots of any size. This is a gain of two points from the closing price, as given in the JOURNAL of the preceding week. Preferred stock last sold at 48¾, and at the close Thursday, 49 was demanded.

The bond market runs limited and narrow. Gas Light & Coke 5s were selling from 88¼ to 88⅝ regular. Consumer's Gas 5s steady at 84½. Among miscellaneous bonds, the following deals were made. West Chicago Street Railway 1st Mort'g 5s, $11,000 at 101¼. West Chicago ditto Debenture 6s, at 100¼ to 100⅝, and City Railway 4½s, $15,000 at 98⅝ to 98¾.

The week witnessed the following prices established. First National Bank at 350. Globe National Bank at 107½. Atlas National Bank at 116. Chicago Edison Company advanced from 152½ to 153 with 175 shares placed, and Passenger Railway advanced from 92 to 95, upon a brace of small lots amounting to 20 shares in all.

MICHIGAN AVENUE VALUES.

COMPARISON OF PRICES—SOME INTERESTING FIGURES

The recent activity in Michigan avenue property has turned all eyes in that direction, and the rapid increase in values along the avenue has caused much speculation as to the probable future of frontages in that locality. Following the decision to remove the old Exposition building, it was announced that an $800,000 hotel would be built on the site of the Leroy Payne stables. This announcement was followed a few months later by the sale of the Leland Hotel. This week the Richelieu Hotel building, with the leasehold of 53x171 feet of land, has been sold to a Minneapolis syndicate for $400,000. In all of these cases the ground values have shown a remarkable advance. In two instances lately reported the increase has amounted to nearly ten times the value of the fee as estimated about ten years ago.

One of the cases referred to is that of the Leroy Payne leasehold of 107x101 feet opposite the Exposition building. The price paid for this property by the new hotel company is $500,000, or nearly $15,000 a front foot. The leasehold brings $400,000 and the fee $100,000. Notwithstanding this disparity in the valuation of the leasehold and the fee, the price of the latter is regarded as high, inasmuch as the land is now subject to a 99-year lease at a valuation of only $400 a front foot. According to this valuation, which was made about ten years ago, the fee would be worth only a little over $40,000. The price paid now for both fee and leasehold can be said to fairly represent the present value of the property for hotel puprposes and is nearly twelve times the valuation placed on the property about ten years ago when the 99-year lease was made. This is the highest price ever paid for an inside frontage on Michigan avenue.

Another instance of the remarkable rise of values in this locality is that of the Richelieu hotel property the leasehold of which was sold this week for $162,000. The property is 53x171 and the valuation placed on the leasehold in the recent transaction was a little over $3,000 a front foot. Eleven years ago this property was leased for 99 years by W. C. D. Grannis and the Jennings estate to Leroy Payne at the ridiculously low rate of $1,344 a year, or 6 percent on $22,400 a valuation of a little over $422 a front foot. Taking this as the present value of the fee for investment purposes, it will be seen that the value of the leasehold is more than seven times that of the fee; and taking the combined value of the leasehold and fee as the present value of the property free from the leasehold, we see that the frontage is now worth seven times as much as it was when the lease was made eleven years ago.

The difference in values of ten years ago and the present time is well illustrated by the terms of an agreement entered into not long ago between H. V. Bemis and Warren F. Leland. Mr. Bemis pays for an easement of 7½ feet on the north of the Hotel Richelieu, an annual rental or consideration of $1,500. That is, he pays Warren Leland more for the use of 7½ feet for a light court than he paid annually for the 53 feet of land on which the hotel stands.

A glance backward at the transfers of Michigan avenue frontages during the 80's is interesting in this connection as showing the comparative values of property on the avenue.

In 1880 the southeast corner of Van Buren street and Michigan avenue 54x171½ feet, was sold by White & Vowell to A. E. and S. A. Kent for $28,000. In 1882 the same property was sold to the Art Institute for $45,000. The present value of the land cannot be less than $5,000 a front foot, or a total of $270,000, six times the value of the property ten years ago.

The property recently secured for the Press Club on Michigan avenue is 48x170 feet, and was sold in 1882 by Aaron C. Goodman to Ansel N. Kellogg for $31,200. In 1892 Mrs. Kellogg transferred the same property to Frederick S. Wheeler for $114,000 and Mr. Wheeler in turn to Eugene K. Butler for $125,000. The land was then leased on a valuation of $130,000.

These are instances of remarkable advances in down-town property. Frontages farther south have been similarly affected but not in so great proportion. A lot 34x180 feet, 77 feet south of Harrison street, on Michigan avenue, was sold in 1886 by S. B. Cobb to C. Studebaker for $26,000. The same lot was sold the other day by a master in chancery to Peter E. Studebaker for $58,000.

An east frontage of 50x181 feet, 304 feet south of 14th street, was sold in 1884 by Lewis C. Straight to Ferd. C. Peck for $20,000. In 1889 this property was sold to F. P. Owings for $65,000 and in the same year by Mr. Owings to E. P. Whitehead for $70,000.

A west frontage of 50x162 feet, 216 feet south of 26th street, was sold in 1882 by R. & M. G. Scott to J. H. Swan for $20,795. The same property was sold by Mr. Swan ten years later to W. S. Henderson for $85,000.

The foregoing instances illustrate the wonderful growth of Chicago and an increase in values beyond the anticipation of the most sanguine property owner of ten years ago. But Michigan avenue property is only typical of the general increase in values all over the city, and the instances above mentioned could be paralleled by other examples taken from any first-class business and residence locality inside the city limits.

MORTGAGES AND EQUITIES TO BE TAXED SEPARATELY.

THE SUPREME COURT OF MICHIGAN SUSTAINS THE MORTGAGE TAX LAW.

That the aim and tenor of legislative enactment should favor the debtor, was once accepted in the United States as a favorite theory of law writers, but courts and legislators have failed until recently to recognize it. While the spirit of the laws of the states has not been generally heeded, it is obvious to every thinking man that the rule as well as the spirit still lives.

The mortgage tax law of the state of Michigan, the text of which has been published in this journal, has been sustained by the supreme court of that state, in a recent decision, in the case of the City Council of Detroit v. the Board of Assessors of Detroit. The court handed down five decisions. Among the provisions of the new law was one transferring mortgages from personal property to real estate mortgages, and compelling their assessment as a part of the real estate affected. Under the new law, the mortgagee was to be assessed for the amount of the lien upon the real estate, and the owner was to be assessed only for the difference between the amount of the mortgage and the total assessed valuation. Then to make the foreign mortgagor's tax effective, it was provided that if it was not paid within thirty days after it was due, payment should be demanded of the mortgagor, and he might pay it and hold it as a legal offset against the mortgagee's claim for interest. The effect of this law, which went into operation October 1 last, was to drive a large amount of foreign capital out of the state and cause it to seek investment elsewhere. It also struck at every mortgage held by home insurance companies and savings banks, and so far unsettled confidence as very largely to cause a suspension of ordinary loaning operations.

The following are the main points passed upon by Justice Montgomery in the main opinion:

"1. That the law is constitutionally passed, as appears by the journal.

2. It applies to mortgages in force prior to the passage of the act.

3. It applies to mortgages held by non-residents.

4. It applies to savings banks and insurance companies, and mortgages held by them are to be taxed as real estate, and they are entitled to deduct real estate to the full value of their capital stock.

5. There is nothing in the tax law or in the usury law passed by the legislature of 1891, that prohibits parties from agreeing as to who shall pay the taxes, although the interest agreed upon, together with the taxes, would exceed eight per cent.

In an editorial on the subject, the American Banker has the following:

"In the dissenting opinion, Justice Grant states that it was the intention of the legislature to incorporate into the law the California system of taxing mortgages. For this purpose mortgages are to be considered real estate; the value of the mortgage is to be deducted from that of the land, and each assessed accordingly, which is covered by section 17 of the bill. As printed in the journal, the section contains this clause: 'Every contract hereafter made, by which a debtor obligates himself to pay any tax assessed on the interest of the holder of any mortgage, deed of trust, or other lien, shall, to the extent of such obligation, be null and void.' The provision does not appear in the act as signed by the Governor, nor in the act as published. The House journal does not even show an attempt to strike it out. The only record anywhere is in the printed copy of the bill, with riders attached, found in the office of the Secretary of State, and claimed to be the bill passed, and from which the engrossed copy was made. By the absence of this provision the law is shorn of all its force and effect. So far as the taxing of mortgages as concurred in under the act as it is, it is conceded that the mortgagor and mortgagee may make a solid contract by which the mortgagor must pay the taxes. Common experience suggests that every mortgagee would insist upon such a contract, and therefore no relief is afforded to the mortgagee by the act. This was an important and radical provision. We cannot assume that the Legislature intended to leave it out. The journal records that they did not, and it must prevail. The journal must control.

Justice Long concurs with Justice Grant that the act signed by the Governor is not the act passed by the Legislature, and is therefore void. He states that the whole tax upon the land and upon the mortgage interest is made a lien upon the land for which it can be sold, and thus the land of the owner is sold to pay the debt of the mortgagee. The mortgagee's tax may also be collected from the personal property by re-issue and sale of the mortgagee's, although the tax upon the mortgage interest is against the mortgagee. Although the principal and interest on the mortgage may not be due for five years, yet the collecting officer may seize the last piece of personal property of the mortgagor to satisfy the tax under this act. It is disstressful enough to subject to this to pay one's own tax, but to pay the tax of another under such measures is not only monstrous but beyond the constitutional power of the Legislature. Mortgages are often accompanied by a note to which the mortgage is collateral. The note may be negotiable, and pass from hand to hand by indorsement. It may have been purchased solely upon the responsibility of the indorsers. A purchaser of such paper in good faith before maturity and before the tax becomes a lien upon the mortgage has a right to enforce it against the maker, and the payment is not subject to offset for taxes assessed against payee and paid by maker. The mortgagor paying the tax of the mortgagee would have no means of enforcing repayment by an offset against the mortgagee. An attempt is made by the Legislature to impair the obligations of existing contracts, as appled to mortgages in force at the time of the passage of the law. The act destroys the uniformity of tax action under Article XIV, Section 11 of the Constitution. It is proposed to permit the state, under this law, to take the money of one man to pay the debt of another; to compel the mortgagor to make payment upon his mortgage long before anything is due thereon, so that the state may get its revenues, a thing which the Constitution prohibits. The whole scheme of taxation under the act is so defective that the whole act should fail. In the matter of review, if the mortgagee does not appear before the board of review, he will be barred from contesting the amount of the tax in any court, as the opportunity to appear will be regarded as his day in court upon the question of the amount of the assessment. He must, therefore, be upon the watch in every assessment district where property is situated upon which he holds mortgages."

AN INTERESTING TAX SALE INCIDENT.

"Talking about funny real estate transactions," said a real estate man the other day to a New York Tribune reporter, "I think about the funniest and certainly the most unique, took place in San Diego, Cal. It was at a delinquent tax sale, which is conducted on the principle of reducing bids.

"That is to say, the tax collector must accept the bid of the man who will pay the delinquent taxes and take the least fraction of the lot in payment thereof.

"Theoretically, you might suppose a bidder wouldn't be willing to take a fraction intrinsically worth less than the taxes he would have to pay, but practically, that consideration doesn't come in at all, since his ownership of even an infinitesimal portion of the lot prevents any one else from getting a clear title to it, and in that way he is amply secured for the amount of taxes he pays.

"For this reason rival bidders at these sales are in the habit of bidding for exceedingly small fractions of lots; until some time ago it was thought the limit had been reached when a man bid for the one thousandth of an inch of a lot. But the bid I refer to, made the transaction seem gigantic in comparison.

"The bidders were three men named Payne, Frame and Kipp, and tax collector Kennedy began the proceedings by reading: 'Lot A block 261; New San Diego; taxes due, $16.25.' Payne began by saying he would take the whole lot.

"This was followed by a series of reducing bids, until Kipp called out: 'One thousandth of an inch.' 'One hundred thousandth,' said Payne in a tone of triumph, feeling that was the limit, but it proved to be miles above it.

"'One millionth,' said Frame. 'One billionth,' suaveiy remarked Kipp. 'One trillionth,' called out Frame, as he got ready to put up the money. 'One quintillionth,' bawled out Kipp.

"'Let's see,' said Frame, trying to remember his arithmetic. 'Never mind the next two steps, I'll run her down to one octillionth,' as he looked around in triumph.

"'You haven't touched bed rock yet.' said Kipp, who was up in arithmetic. 'I'll pay the taxes for one vigintillionth of an inch of the lot.' 'Is there anything lower than that,' said Frame in despair. 'No sir,' replied Kipp, 'I've got you; that is the lowest figure in the arithmetic, and you can't bid lower.' And as Mr. Kennedy agreed with him, Kipp was declared the successful bidder.

"Then came the question how this astounding sale should be recorded. Everyone gave it up until finally an arithmetic was hunted up, and it was decided that one vigintillionth of an inch should be expressed decimally in this way; .000,000,000,000,000,000,000, 000,000,000,000,000,000,000,000,000,000,000,000,000,000,000,001.

"A strip of land one-vigintillionth of an inch in width is not very wide—not even wide enough to build a New York flat-house on—but it is plenty wide enough to throw a good sized shadow on the title to the property.'

THE LAW'S DELAY.

URGENT NEED OF SIMPLE METHODS IN THE ADMINISTRATION OF CIVIL JUSTICE IN ILLINOIS.

Much has been written and more has been said about the annoying delay and the intricate machinery of the law. Many remedies have been proposed; but thus far no visible improvement has been made. The unfortunate individual who finds it necessary to resort to legal proceedings to enforce his claims is still confronted with the formidable array of legal forms and ceremonies through which he must pass before he can bring his cause to a hearing. In the first place, he must decide as to whether his case is proper to be brought before a justice of the peace or a court of record, and if the latter, whether it comes under the jurisdiction of equity or common law. Having decided this point he must next consider which form of action is appropriate. Shall he sue on contract or bring action for a tort; shall he commence his suit in assumpsit or "on the case" or for debt, or is replevin the proper form of the action? Now, to the ordinary litigant or even to many a young lawyer this maze of intricate legal patchwork is unintelligible and confusing. The result is that suits are delayed and are wrongly begun and have to be tried over again or are thrown out of court entirely, simply because the proper forms of procedure were not followed. These forms instead of being helps to the attainment of justice, as they were intended to be, become hindrances, and the litigant is often delayed and damaged by them more than he is assisted. The question then resolves itself into this: Shall the machinery of the law be made strictly subservient to the administration of justice, or shall it be allowed to handicap and delay justice as it certainly does at present in the State of Illinois.

As long ago as the year 1852 the law-makers of New York saw and overcame this very difficulty. At that time they adopted the civil code, which for forty years has been in use in that state and has given universal satisfaction. This code was adopted by Wisconsin when that State was admitted to the Union and has been in use there ever since. To say that it is an improvement over the methods of transacting legal business in Illinois now in vogue would be like stating that the modern ocean steamship is an improvement over the old packet canal boat.

In the first place the distinctions of different forms of action are done away with. If the plaintiff has a case to state he is allowed to state it without the embarrassment of having to choose from half a dozen forms of legal procedure with the probability of having his plea met with a demurrer based on purely technical grounds. Then this bill of complaint, as it is called, need not be in writing but may be presented to the court orally if desired, and can there be reduced to writing. This opens the court direct to the aggrieved party and does away with the necessity of intricate and costly legal pleadings which are of no value except to furnish the lawyers with fees. The plaintiff having presented his complaint, the defendant outlines his defense, and an adjournment is then taken for several days to allow time to prepare for the trial. On the second hearing, issue is joined, unless good cause for a continuance can be shown, and the trial proceeds and verdict is rendered. If the defendant is desirous of establishing a counter claim, he files a statement of such claim, to which the plaintiff is allowed to reply, but this is the extent of the pleadings allowed. The intricacies of pleas and cross pleas which embarrass our practice are studiously avoided, and the court settles down to the strict business for which it is constituted—the administration of justice.

The practice of filing bills of complaint and the answer of the defendant several days before the suit, is of especial value to the magistrate as well as to the litigants, inasmuch as it gives to all a clear idea of what the plaintiff intends to establish and sharply defines the issue at stake. In our present Illinois practice it frequently happens that the magistrate or the jury are not able to discover just what the point is which the plaintiff wishes to establish until the last witness has been placed on the stand and the arguments begun. This is especially true of cases in justice courts. Witnesses will be examined as to matters that have not the remotest connection with the case, and the minds of the judge and jury are continually obscured by a mass of irrelevant testimony which is interpersed with the objections of the opposing council. The code system in justice court practice narrows the contest down to the actual points at issue and is a relief to judge, jury, litigants and the public generally.

The introduction of the code into the practice of New York State was bitterly opposed by the praticing attorneys of the time, as calculated to deprive them of a large portion of their fees. This was found by experience to be a mistaken idea, and the bar of New York has developed under the code system into one of the finest bodies of representative lawyers and statesmen to be found in the world. The fact is that the true science of legal learning and practice does not pertain to the mere knowledge of the blind forms which have been handed down to us by the conservators of the common law, but to the skillful marshalling of evidence and the masterly presentation of facts and deductions to the court and jury in such an eloquent and forcible manner as to command attention and win the cause.

CURRENT COMMENT.

The year 1892 has been remarkable for important railroad combinations. Following the Reading deal came that of the Richmond and West Point Terminal which was mentioned last week. Both these deals have been so large as to attract widespread attention and to dwarf other minor transactions which are nevertheless of great importance. One of these transactions is the leasing of the Chicago, St. Paul and Kansas City Railroad for 99 years to the Chicago & Great Western Railway Company, which was recently organized by Mr. A. B. Stickney and others. The Chicago St. Paul & Kansas City has been in operation five years, and now operates 922 miles of road. The traffic has grown so as to make necessary large expenditures for additional terminal facilities and equipment. Concerning the lease, Mr. Stickney says: "To meet this emergency the Chicago Great Western Company has been formed on a much larger financial basis; and arrangements have been made by which $10,000,000 of bonded debt of the Chicago, St. Paul & Kansas City Railway Company will be converted into stock of the Chicago Great Western, thereby reducing by about $450,000 per annum the interest charges of this company, which before were much lower per mile than those of any of its competitors. Arrangements have also been made to raise, by an issue of stock only, about $3,000,000 in cash to be used in increasing its facilities in order to accommodate its increasing business. President Roberts of the Pennsylvania Company, said in 1890, that it required the enormous sum of $10,000,000 annually to provide the necessary additions to real estate, equipment, tracks and other facilities of that company, a sum equal to about $1,250 per mile on its system of 800 miles. The $3,000,000 which this company has arranged for is equal to over $3,000 per mile, which sum it is expected to expend within the next two years, not increasing its mileage, but in purchase of additional real estate and new equipment, and in making permanent improvements. The lease, plans and arrangements were submitted to the Board of Directors for approval, and have received the unanimous consent of the Directors, and the meeting of the stockholders has been called to ratify their action. More than two-thirds of the stockholders have already informally signified their approval, so there can be no doubt as to what their formal action will be. The lease is to take effect July 1."

The business failures of the last week, as reported to R. G. Dun & Co., number for the United States 260 and for Canada 31, a total of 231, as compared with a total of 240 the previous week, and 256 for the week previous to the last. For the corresponding week of last year the figures were 256, representing 228 failures in the United States and 28 in the Dominion of Canada.

Julian Ralph, in Harpers for April, says: "All the commerce of Lake Superior that is sent to or from it must pass through the Sault Ste. Marie Canal until the Canadians finish the parallel water-way which they are building in order to be in all respects independent of us. Nature made the waters of Superior to flow into Huron by means of the Ste. Marie river, but in doing so they drop to Huron's level, which is somewhat lower than that of the King of lakes. They make eighteen feet of the descent suddenly by the rapids which give to the artificial waterway built to avoid them the name of the Sault Ste. Marie Canal. * * * * The canal accomodates an amount of traffic which for years has been greater than that of the Suez Canal. In 1886 the freighting through the great African canal amounted to a gross tonnage of 8,183,313 tons; but it has decreased, if I am not mistaken; while the tonnage that passed "the Soo" in 1890 was 9,041,313. It is interesting to note that of this sum the proportion of freight carried by Canadian vessels was only six per cent in 1888 and four per 1889. It is also worth while to note that of the nine millions of tons floated through the canal in 1890 about 4,500,000 were east bound and 2,600,000 were west-bound."

The defeat of the free-coinage bill has been the occasion of general congratulation in financial circles. The opposition to the measure, which at first was thought to be weak, gradually became so strong that even the partisans of free coinage hesitated to insist upon the passage of the bill. Very few prominent financiers or leading newspapers advocated the policy of free coinage, but one instance at least has come to our notice, in which the language used conveys its own verdict of absurdity. On March 24, the New York Sun, in a double-leaded editorial advocating free coinage, said:

People who have debts owing to them payable in lawful money would get less value if they should be paid in silver dollars under free-coinage than they would get upon the present gold basis, and people who owe debts payable in lawful money would not have to use so much labor or commodities to discharge those debts as they would upon a gold basis; and that is all. * * * *

It is true, also, that deposits in saving banks, being payable in lawful money, would not be so valuable if paid in silver on a free-coinage basis as they are now; but, inasmuch as the depositors are getting on very well without using their deposits, none of them would know the difference until he came to draw out his deposit and spend it."

It is not necessary to add any commentary to this allusion to the deposits of poor people in savings banks. The language of The Sun would be humorous if it were not so true as to be decidedly serious.

The New York Railroad Gazette, speaking of the recently granted Chicago compressed air ordinance, says: "It would be impossible to furnish air at a cost that would permit its use for large power plants such as are now found in the office buildings and the various manufactories of the city of Chicago. Even in the thickly settled business and manufacturing portions, where the steam plants are close together and the cost for piping and conveying air would be a minimum, to furnish sufficient power by compressed air is impossible. There are probably 400 buildings within a short radius of the central portion of the city using from 200 to 3,000 horse-power continuously for the purpose of driving elevators, pumps and machinery, and for heating. This would call for a central station having an effective capacity of at least 300,000 horse-power at the points where the power would be distributed, which would amount to about 600,000 horse-power in the boilers of the central station. Thus the proposition quickly reduces to an absurdity. Undoubtedly there are uses for which compressed air will be valuable in Chicago or in any other city, but its introduction would have little or no effect upon the smoke nuisance."

England has presented an entire change of front in the Bering Sea matter. It is now reasonably certain that there will be no disagreement as to the measures to be adopted for preserving the seals pending the action of the arbitrators and independent of the new treaty. The position taken by Lord Salisbury in his latest communications is decidedly satisfactory. He substantially agrees to enter into an agreement similar to that of last last year, now that the treaty between the United States and Great Britian has been ratified by the Senate.

According to the terms of the modus vivendi there can be no fur bearing seals taken in the waters of the Bering sea, prior to May 1, 1892, and while our cutters have not received any additional orders since last season they have a perfect right now to make seizures for any violations of that agreement between the United States and Great Britain. Consequently revenue cutters went up into northern waters for a cruise much earlier this year than ever before, mainly with a view to preventing illegal sealing. No catch of fur seals nor seizures for violating the modus vivendi have been reported yet and it is not likely that active sealing operations will be commenced before July of this year.

The opening of navigation on the great lakes this year is attended with almost unprecedented activity at the port of Chicago. It is said that three-quarters of the grain tonnage in port is under charter. Sixty-six vessels are either loaded or in process of loading waiting for the ice to disappear from the lakes. The cargoes chartered thus far are mostly corn, but there are numerous cargoes of wheat and some of rye, flaxseed and barley. The total quantity of the grain loaded and now ready for shipment is 3,792,000 bushels, valued at $2,500,000, and the value of the steam and sail vessel employed to carrry it is $3,500,000, making the total value of wheat and cargoes $6,000,000. To man this fleet 1,400 men are required. This includes officers, engineers, firemen, deckhands, sailors, etc. The vessels go to Port Huron, Sarnia, Georgian Bay, Buffalo, Kingston, Ogdensburg and Montreal.

At the first meeting of the special committee on the revision of the building ordinances of Chicago, Ald. Kent, Dankmar Adler, Willis G. Jackson, T. A. Bowden and Joseph Downing were present. Mr. Downing is the new member appointed by the Builders' Exchange. The meeting was preliminary. It was decided to meet regularly on Tuesday of each week, at three o'clock, until the work of revision is accomplished, and as much oftener as possible. City Clerk Van Cleave was instructed on the suggestion of Mr. Adler, to secure for the committee, copies of the building laws of Paris, Berlin, Vienna, Glasgow, New York, Boston, Philadelphia, Toronto and other leading cities.

A VOICE FROM THE SOUTH.

CLARKSVILLE, Tenn., March 28, 1892.
EDITOR REAL ESTATE AND BUILDING JOURNAL.

I thank you most sincerely for your kindly courtesy in sending me your JOURNAL, which I have greatly enjoyed and profited by reading, as I always do most attentively. I especially thank you for the very able article in the last number entitled "Legislation Against Aliens." It is thoroughly admirable: discovering not only great reserch, but also great philosophical acumen and the rare ability to read aright the lessons of history. It is in the right vein—pitched on the right key and above all it is educational in character, and education on this subject is just what is so lamentably needed in this land; and is therefore just in the line of the work of our committee. It is by all odds the best thing I have been able to find bearing on this subject, and I again most sincerely thank you for it.

You evidently have access to very fine libraries—an advantage from which I am entirely cut off here. So I hope you will pursue this subject at your leisure in just the line of thought evinced in this article. I intend to have this article copied and duly credited in the Nashville American and the Memphis Appeal-Avalanche, the two leading papers of the State, besides our own town papers, and perhaps in the Chattanooga Times and Knoxville Tribune, so as to widen as much as possible the circle of education on this subject.

I have been so entirely taken up with closing up some much protracted and very important foreign business, that I have so far been able to give the preparation of our resolutions scarcely a thought, though the subject has been much upon my mind and heart. I would be exceedingly glad to have you block out a set of resolutions such as you think we ought to present, as you evidently have this question at your finger ends, and let us have them under consideration, so that we may exchange views with reference to them, and mature them into such shape as will meet the ends in view; this will serve to further familiarize us with the question and enable us the more confidently, to take part in the discussion likely to arise when our resolutions are presented at Buffalo.

By the way, I wish you would send a copy of this number of the JOURNAL with this article "blue penciled" to the leading man of the Buffalo delegation at Nashville, with the request from me as chairman of this committee, that he get one of the leading dailies of that city to copy it, so that the educational system may be begun there. I am very truly your friend.

A GREAT BUILDING ASSOCIATION.

If any one wishes to see a building association conducted on a grand scale, he should go to 324 Division street on any Monday. This is the home of the Phoenix Building Society, and hither its 3000 members come on Monday of each week to deposit their savings. Formerly the evenings sufficed for this work, but the membership has become so great that from 10 a. m. to 8 p. m. is now required. Although the Phoenix is less than ten years old, it has issued a total of 115,303 shares, its quarterly series running from 3,000 to 6,000 shares each, and one going as high as 10,260 shares. It has paid out over four and a half million dollars, has assets of nearly a million and a quarter, and has never yet foreclosed a mortgage. This is a remarkable record. The Phoenix has introduced several new and original features in building association work. One of the most successful is its paid-up stock. It is issued in sums to suit the purchaser, and earns six per cent interest. This stock can be cashed on any Monday or Tuesday without interest, and when thirty days' notice is given, six per cent interest is paid. Thus the society virtually becomes a savings bank which pays 6 per cent on its deposits, which are secured by first mor gages on Chicago real estate. If the interest and principal are left two years, 7 per cent interest is paid, and if left three years, 8 per cent. A remarkable feature of the Phoenix is the great number of its withdrawals, which amount to 75,628 out of a total of 115,303 shares issued. This fact is due to the system of paid-up shares, which are very much like deposits in a savings bank.—Chicago Evening Post.

IMPORTANT TO SOUTH SIDE REAL ESTATE OWNERS.

The office of Town Assessor is of so great importance to property owners that the JOURNAL ventures to say a word about one of the candidates, Mr. E. E. Ellington, who has just returned from Europe. He has been nominated by the Republicans of the South side for assessor without even asking his consent. His eminent fitness for the position was the only consideration upon which he was nominated, and he accepted the honor simply because he was called out by the people.

He deserves the support of all property owners and he is sure to receive the support of his party because he was unanimously chosen by the convention. The JOURNAL will be in line with all such nominations.

MORE ABOUT BUILDING AND LOAN SOCIETIES.

CHICAGO, March 31, 1892.

By your courtesy some comments of mine appeared in the JOURNAL Feb. 13th last, on National Building and Loan Societies. This, falling under the eye of the "Local Secretary," seemed to have the same effect upon him as flaunting a red rag before a bull, though for what reason I fail to see, and he is as blank upon that point as the reverse side of a tombstone. Likely if he had been able to give a reason for his ravings, he would not have been ashamed to appear under his real name instead of the pseudonym. He paid me a compliment that I am sorry I cannot return. He professes "surprise" that the local associations had not all rushed into print to answer me. His communication calls for no such observation, though it is a little remarkable that some one of the other three hundred local secretaries here in Chicago have not publicly repudiated him. The only thing that I said that was not as applicable to locals as nationals was, that the latter had a much larger field for operations than the former, and that with them the demand for loans far exceeds the supply, while the reverse is not infrequently true with the locals. This the "Local Secretary" admits, but he makes a savage attack upon the law and calls that an answer to my comments. He would cut off one of the most useful features of the law, that of doing business wherever favorable conditions and good security are offered. He would make the building and loan business what General Hancock called the tariff, "a local affair."

Stop the nationals, and a large part of the capital that finds investment in their stock will seek it in the locals. That would have a direct tendency to increase the plethoric condition of treasuries which already cannot find borrowers for their capital. Does the "Local Secretary" think it good for the business to have frequent "Goodall-Flat" enterprises? That I believe was an honest effort to relieve a condition such as above described. A similar loan recently had an airing here in the courts and has gone up to the supreme court. It was a large one made to a West Side brewery where the brewery made the point that a building and loan association had no authority to make a loan to it, and the master in chancery before whom the evidence was taken, sustained the point.

Not a few of your readers, Mr. Editor, will remember where they have made loans from local associations large enough not only to cover the cost of the house, but a large part if not all of the price of the lot on which it stood. No such wild-cat loans are ever made by nationals. In the first place their loans are much smaller. Speaking from personal experience, I would say that they would not exceed on an average, $600 or $700 They are made on country property which fluctuates about as little in value as the price of gold. Loans are made upon 50 per cent of these values, to good parties who have been stockholders three months and who will occupy the property as a homestead. Before loans are made, even to these applicants, they must be approved by a local board of appraisers, a conservative body of men who are more anxious to have good security for their money than to boom their neighbors' property. Loans are never made to speculators or real estate boomers to build homesteads by the block. Another great advantage we have is, that the interest account is balanced monthly, and the end of each month finds the principal lessened by one seventieth the entire loan. After none of the panics of the century has there been such a shrinking in values of this class of property as to leave a deficiency or judgment upon such loans if sold under the hammer, and deficiencies of judgment are almost every-day occurrences in building and loan foreclosures made here in the city.

W. R. CHAMBERLAIN.

THE NATIONAL DEBT.

No nation of the world in any age has reduced a debt so speedily as the United States. In 1870, the national debt was $2,386,000,000. In 1890 it was 988,000,000—a reduction of $1,398,000,000 in twenty years. Before the century closes the debt will he entirely discharged. The per capita debt of the United States is less than that of any other nation—$28. It is $2.8 in France, $100 in the United British Kingdom, $79 in Italy, $63 in Germany, $35 in Russia. In England, with free trade, the rate of taxation between 1870 and 1890 was nearly 25 per cent, while in the United States under protective duties, taxation decreased ten per cent for the same period. The per capita debt in 1865 was $75. The reduction to $28 has been made through the protective system. Until June, last year, an aggregate of $80,000,000 in gold has been exported to Europe. Already the refluent stream is pouring back from Europe at a rate that will exceed $100,000,000. In the United States are peace and plenty; in Europe famine prevails and war is the constant menace. It is prosperity and contentment in the United States; adversity and alarm in Europe.

A DANGER TO BUILDING SOCIETIES.

The issuing of shares by a building society—the buyer making a small payment on the stock subscribed, as is the custom at present with all building societies—may at some time prove a dangerous weapon in the hands of dishonest officers. Nothing would prevent them from issuing shares to their friends previous to an election, and with such additional shares they could re-elect themselves to office, when it was the intention of the stockholders not to have them re-elected.

A remedy for this would be to have each member who wishes to save money in small sums, say 25 cents to $500 a week, subscribe for one share, and as soon as the member had paid in $100, issue one share, and let him continue his installments on a new share as before. The society would issue a share of the capital stock for every $100 paid in. A small rate of interest might be allowed on all stock subscribed, and when full-paid stock was issued, a higher rate could be paid. It will be seen that the amount of stock would be greatly reduced, but its value would be increased almost one hundred times, and would be one hundred times less apt to be manipulated for dishonest purposes.

It makes a vast difference if every 25 cents has a right to vote, or if every $100 has a right to vote.

Twenty-five cents buys one share.
One hundred dollars buys 400 shares.
One thousand dollars buys 4,000 shares.

With 4,000 shares, and with five directors running, three out of five would be elected, or possibly all five.

We do not say this has been done in building societies, but it can be done, and if it is, would leave the society in a most dangerous position. It would be better, where societies issue stock in large parcels with small payments, to do all voting with personal votes, and not by stock representation as it is required by law at present. It would be easier to hold an election, and more equitable to the membership.

LATE LEGAL DECISIONS.

REDEMPTION RIGHTS UNDER FORECLOSURE.

When land is sold under a decree of foreclosure which finds the rights and priorities of the parties, the holder of a second mortgage lien, who is a party to the decree, or his assignee, may, within twelve months thereafter, redeem from such sale by paying to the master in chancery the amount bid at the sale with eight per cent interest, and by so doing he will be subrogated to the rights of the purchaser, and will take the land free from the lien of the senior mortgagee.

In all cases of sales of land under decrees of foreclosure, the statute gives to any defendant, his heirs, administrators or assigns, or any person interested in the premises through or under the defendant, the right to redeem the land sold, at any time within twelve months from the date of the sale, by paying the purchaser or the master, the sum of money for which the land was bid off, and interest thereon at the rate of eight per cent per annum. An assignee of a party holding a junior mortgage, is a party interested and has a right to redeem.

MORTGAGE—LIEN EXTINGUISHED BY SALE ON FORECLOSURE.—A mortgage, or deed of trust in the nature of a mortgage, gives the party secured a lien upon the mortgaged premises which he may enforce by foreclosure and sale; but when such lien is once enforced by the sale of the property, it will, as to such property, have expended its force, and the property sold will be no longer subject to such lien.

When redemption is made from a sale under a decree of foreclosure of a mortgage, by one primarily liable on the mortgage debt, the same property may be resorted to again for the purpose of subjecting it to the payment of an unpaid balance due on the mortgage, but this is not because of any right to enforce the mortgage lien against the same property a second time. But where the redemption is made by a party not liable upon the mortgage debt, the mortgage lien having been exhausted, the property cannot be subjected a second time to the satisfaction of the same lien.

The party redeeming does so for his own benefit, and the holder of the senior mortgage, by having the property sold to pay his decree, becomes a stranger to the property, and is in no position to claim any advantage by the redemption. When the sale is legally made, the presumption as between the senior and junior incumbrances, is conclusive that the property has produced its entire value, and that value having once been applied to the senior mortgage, the lien has accomplished its full purpose, and is thereafter functus officio.

By the redemption from a sale by the junior mortgage, the sale becomes null and void, but upon familiar principles of equity, the junior incumbrances become subrogated to the rights of the purchaser to the extent of having a first lien on the land redeemed, for reimbursement of the redemption money, and the prior lien being out of the way, the junior lien becomes subject only to such lien for the redemption money.

Where the holder of a second mortgage on land, after decree of foreclosure of a prior mortgage in a suit to which he was a party, instead of redeeming from the sale takes from the purchaser an assignment of the certificate of purchase, and by his pleadings claim as purchaser, the court cannot treat his purchase as a redemtion from the sale as against one seeking to redeem from such sale as judgement creditor.

There is a material difference between purchasing and acquiring an assignment of a certificate of sale, and a redemption from such sale. By the former the sale and the title thereby acquired, are reserved and kept in force, while by the latter the sale is vacated and the title of the purchaser extinguished. Therefore, when one entitled to redeem from a sale purchases the certificate of sale and relies on the same by his bill, he cannot be permitted both against the fact and the allegations of his own bill, to claim the benefit of the transaction as that of a redemption.

A junior mortgagee who has been made a party defendant to the bill to foreclose the senior mortgage, and who within twelve months of the sale under the senior mortgage, purchases and obtains an assignment of the certificate of the sale, cannot assert the lien of his junior mortgage as against an execution creditor, who, after the expiration of twelve months and within fifteen months of the sale, levies his execution and makes his redemption as provided by the statute. The fact that the former owner may have sold his equity of redemption, will not change the rule.

It has been held in a number of cases that it is not necessary that the judgment should be a lien on the land to entitle the judgment creditor to redeem, and also that a judgment obtained at any time before the complete expiration of the fifteen months will give a right to redeem.

When a person acquires land for a homestead which is subject to a valid mortgage of his grantor, who had no homestead therein, or which he had released in the mortgage, and the land is sold under a decree foreclosing such mortgage, and he fails to redeem from such sale, he will thereby lose his homestead right which will pass to the purchaser, or one redeeming from him as a judgment creditor.

A judgment creditor, by redeeming from a foreclosure sale of land under a mortgage which releases the homestead, will succeed to all the rights of the purchaser at the foreclosure sale, and he will take the premises discharged of the homestead right.

AGENTS' BUDGET.

Recent sales, however small, not yet recorded, will be reported in this column. All matter must apply to the real estate business and real estate men.

EDGEMOOR.

We are now offering for sale blocks and lots in EDGEMOOR the new suburb on the Chicago Central road, at 79th street. Edgemoor is one half mile square and includes 160 acres of the beautiful ridge property in the southwest part of the city, with an east frontage on Western ave., and a north frontage on 79th st. The Chicago Central, the Northern Pacific's new suburban road, runs directly through the center of the property with a depot at 81st st.

On this road will be inaugurated, within 90 days, the most complete train service as to elaborateness of equipment and quick running time, given on any suburban road in the city. The scheduled time from Edgemoor to the Grand Central depot will be 22 minutes, The south 80 acres of Edgemoor will be improved in a high class manner the coming season, the improvements to include water and sewer, macadam streets, granite cement walks six feet wide, combination curb and gutter also of granite cement and a double row of trees. A special form of warranty deed has been prepared which establishes a 20 foot building line, a $3,000 building restriction, and also prohibits factories of all kinds and the use of buildings for saloon purposes. Contracts for the grading and sidewalk and curb and gutter work have already been let. The work will be begun soon as the ground is in condition in the spring and all of the improvements will be pushed to completion as rapidly as possible. The contract for the side-walk and curb and gutter work on the 80 acres has been let to The Northwestern Asphalt Co. the cost being $50,000. Several houses will be built and occupied by June 15th. We are prepared to offer special inducements to individual investors and syndicates who will take a five acre block interest in the property. LIBERAL COMMISSIONS PAID TO BROKERS AND AGENTS.

CASINO.

Haverly's Mastodon Minstrels are, without question, the most complete organization that has ever appeared in Chicago, and their performances at the Casino (Eden Musee) have been endorsed in most thorough manner by all classes of amusement seekers. Particularly attractive are the entertainments to out-town visitors, who after an inspection of the various objects of interest in the Musee department, attend the minstrel concerts. The program of the past week has been very pleasing, but the coming week will be a gala week, commemorative of Ireland's patron saint, St. Patrick, the great and good, whose birthday is celebrated throughout the entire civilized world. The program will include all the members of the company, and Irish ballads will predominate. The theater will be decorated and draped with the national colors and flags, and our beautiful wax figure of Robert Emmett will be exhibited free. A new singer will be heard in the person of Mr. Albert Yale, well known to all Canadians as a vocalist of much merit. Banks Winter the celebrated tenor, will have a new song. The comedians Rice, Hall, Denton, Rudworth, Bogert, and O'Brien will have new specialties. Ellwood, the wonderful male soprano, will display new feminine toilets. Constantine, the dancer, will execute new solos, and Harry Budworth will repeat his new repertoire. The latter's song, "Come to Baltimore," has "caught the town" and is encored three and four times every performance. Altogether, the week will be one long to be remembered, and all desirous of hearty, wholesome pleasure should not fail to attend. "Excelsior" is Mr. Haverly's motto. Much has been done by this gentleman "but more remains behind."

INDUSTRIAL DEPARTMENT.

The Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul Railway Company's 6,150 miles of road traverses a vast territory, rich in all the resources that insure industrial success.

The Industrial Department is conversant with the Iron, Coal, Lumber and Tanbark, the Water-Power (both river and artesian) for factory and electric power purposes, the markets, the transportation and financial facilities, and other interests on the line pertaining to industrial development, and disseminates information concerning same.

A number of new factories has been induced to locate—largely through the instrumentality of this Company—at enterprising towns on its lines.

As the interest of the Company is to secure the location of industries at places where the surroundings will insure their permanent success, the information furnished a particular industry is pertinent and reliable.

In the Eastern States and in other parts of the world factories are so congested and distant from the actual markets as to result in fierce and destructive competition. That the West is taking a place as one of the great manufacturing territories of the world is forcibly impressing itself upon discerning and enterprising manufacturers. Steps should be taken by such while the field is as yet not fully covered, and while inducements are still being offered, to locate in the West.

Individuals or companies wishing to embark capital in Western industry can find a profitable field.

Finance and Trade.

The financial situation is encouraging. The markets show a firmer tone and increased activity. Money is in fair demand but continues easy. Stocks are on the advance. May wheat seems to have reached its lowest point and is now tending strongly upward. The produce market has been very favorably influenced by the weather. Business generally has received an additional impetus by the opening of navigation on the great lakes. With money easy and the promise of fair weather and good roads, a large volume of spring trade may be expected.

Chicago bank clearings show a steady gain of from 20 to 25 per cent over the same period last year. This indicates that a large amount of mercantile business is being transacted. In New York, the total bank clearings depend largely on the stock exchange transactions, which pass through the bank clearing-house. In Chicago, both the Board of Trade and the Stock Exchange have clearing houses of their own. The establishment of a clearing-house in connection with the New York Stock Exchange will have a marked effect in reducing the volume of New York clearings.

The most important commercial event of the week was the great fire in New Orleans by which $3,000,000 worth of cotton was destroyed and 100 families rendered homeless. This loss may indirectly benefit the cotton planters of the south by raising the price of cotton slightly. It is hoped that the advance will be sufficient to enable present holders of cotton to market their product—a thing they are unable at present to do to any advantage. But this is a very doubtful good to be gained from such a serious disaster as a $3,000,000 conflagation. The fact will remain that the country at large contains just so much less wealth than it did before the fire. From an economic point of view, then, any destruction of property by fire can be regarded only as a general misfortune. In the New Orleans case the calamity was the direct result of carelessness in throwing away a lighted cigarette. But the recently reduced fire department was totally unable to cope with the fire, which furnishes another illustration of a false idea of municipal economy.

The new Chicago is being so substantially built as to fear no serious danger from large fires. Our fire department, too, is most efficient and reliable. But there is room for improvement in the methods adopted for the prevention of fires; and the board of underwriters can do the commercial interests of the city no greater benefit than to provide better safe guards against fire losses. The loss of $50,000 by the destruction of the Market Hall building in Pullman on Thursday morning is a case in point. In this instance, the inadequate supply of water greatly embarassed the fire department. It would seem that water is too cheap a thing to be sparingly used when human life and property are at stake.

The final settlement of the Bering sea contro versy, and the death of the Free Silver measure, have combined to restore the confidence of investors at all the financial centers of the Union. Any intimation of serious disturbance between this nation and a foreign nation of importance will always tend to throw the finances of the country into an unsettled and panicky condition. A like effect is produced by any proposal to revolutionize an established policy of the government like the coinage policy. The mere agitation in favor of free-silver coinage had an appreciable effect on the money markets of the nation. It would be impossible to foretell the results had the measure become a law. The collapse of the movement and the disclosure of its utter and hopeless weakness in portions of the Union where it was thought to have developed great strength, are certain to have a very salutary effect.

An important disturbing element which now begins to make itself felt is the approaching political campaign. It has long been considered almost an axiom that the year of a presidential election is a bad year for business. So certain is this conclusion that it has been seriously proposed to hold elections of president and vice-president every eight years instead of every four years. The party conventions and meetings are attended with such a great expenditure of time and money that they become a serious drawback to commmercial interests. Add to this the uncertainty attending the various issues of a campaign and the effect this uncertainty has upon the minds of active partisans who are engaged in business, and we have a disturbing element of great force. Instances are not uncommon in which business men of more than ordinary intelligence become so interested in the issues of a presidential campaign, that they declare their belief that the business interests of the country will not survive the election of the candidate to whom they are opposed. The evident absurdity of such a position does not relieve it of its damaging influence on business affairs.

Chicagoans are realizing that the World's Fair is destined to be of great importance to their city from a commercial point of view. It is estimated that foreign countries alone will expend more than $5,000,000 in the preparation of exhibits. The present estimate of the cost of the exposition to the stockholders is $22,226,400. It can hardly be expected, however, that the cost will fall below $25,000,000. This amount is now practically provided for. Whether it will be reimbursed by the receipts from all sources is an open question. But the opinion seems to be that the attendance at the Fair will be greater than has ever been anticipated, and that the stockholders will receive a full return of their investments after the great show is over. Viewed in any light, however, the next two years are destined to be years of great prosperity to Chicago in the way of increased trade, and a corresponding advance in the values of real estate.

†Not included in totals.

Twenty-five cities show decreases this week as against seventeen last week and eleven the week previous. In the face of this fact the total percentage of increase this week is 36.7 as against 23.2 last week and 15.7 the previous week. The enormous increase of 58 per cent in New York clearings this week is responsible for the total increase. The tendency to increase is in the larger cities while the decreases reported come almost entirely from the smaller centers of trade.

Chicago still holds her own as second city in the Union by nearly two millions over Boston and seventeen millions over Philadelphia. None of these three cities have yet reached the hundred million point, though Chicago and Boston have frequently entered the ninety millions. At the present rate of increase Chicago and Boston bank clearings may be expected exceed one hundred millions per week before 1893. St. Louis still hovers around twenty millions, while San Francisco, Baltimore, Cincinnati and Pittsburg maintain a very even race at about twelve to thirteen millions a week.

It is interesting to note the rivalry between the cities of Minneapolis, Milwaukee, Omaha and St. Paul of the Northwestern group. The weekly returns from these cities have been fluctuating of late between four and seven millions, and the relative order of the cities nearly every week has been as given above, Minneapolis leading. We note also that the clearings from Duluth are only about one-third those from Minneapolis.

Bradstreets calls attention to the fact that the total bank clearings at 51 cities in the United States for the month of March are the heaviest on record, strange as that may appear in the face of the very general depression of business except in portions of the West and the Northwest. But this is in good part explained by the fact that the greatest portion of the increase as compared with like totals in immediately preceding years is found to have been at New York city, where transactions in securities in Wall street will go far to account for the abnormal expansion of aggregate bank clearings.

The total net increase at 51 cities from March, 1891, to last month, 1892, was about $1,059,000,000, and at New York city fully $13,000,000, or four-fifths of the total net increase.

For three months as well, the total bank clearings at 51 cities exceed like aggregates in similar portions of 1891, 1890 and 1889, and also for like seasons, throughout the country, the increase of total bank clearings, as given, this year over last is about $2,993,000,000, about 23 per cent, but of this the gain at New York city alone was $2,338,000,000, or 30 per cent, while at the 50 remaining cities the increase was only $643,000,000, or 12 per cent. So it has been the unusually heavy transactions in Wall street which have expanded the aggregate bank clearings.

A comparison by groups of states shows the following.

	WEEK ENDING MAR. 31, 1892.	WEEK ENDING APR. 2, 1891.	PERCENTAGE.

Northwestern "	109,278,382	94,343,736	Inc 16.0
Southwestern "	33,800,464	34,658,755	Dec n'm
Totals,.....	$ 1,065,272,549	$ 790,501,863

Three of the above groups show increases, two of them remarkable, while the other four groups show smaller decreases. The returns as compared with those of several weeks immediately preceding are not flattering. The totals this week are generally below those of any week since March 1; but as compared with the returns for the corresponding week of last year the percentage of increase is the largest shown for several months. Viewed in this light, then, the situation is decidedly encouraging. That this increase is due to the extraordinary swelling of New York clearings. as shown above, does not necessarily detract from the value of the comparison.

A NEW CURRENCY MEASURE.

Michael D. Harter, M. C., of Ohio, has introduced a new currency measure in the house, providing it is said for a permanent system of bank circulation.

First, the bill provides that the government shall not guarantee the payment of notes of the National banks.

Second, it provides for the taxation of both State and National bank circulation on exactly the same basis, the rate being one per cent on average circulation not exceeding 90 per cent of the paid-up capital of the bank, two per cent on the average amount in excess of 90 per cent and not exceeding 180 per cent of the capital, and three per cent on the average amount in excess of 180 per cent. As far as State bank circulation is concerned, the bill leaves everything else to the States themselves. The bill further provides for the establishment of a National bank circulation that will be permanent and safe.

Third, under the provisions of the bill, National banks are to be permitted to issue notes not to exceed in amount 90 per cent of the par value of the bonds deposited to secure the notes, and the Comptroller of the currency is authorized to keep on hand at all times notes ready for issue to each bank, equal to 100 per cent of its capital, so that should there be a sudden demand for more currency, any bank could deposit the necessary securities with the United States Treasury, and immediately receive the notes required.

Fourth, the bonds required to be deposited to sesure National bank circulation are, in addition to the United States bonds now required by law, registered bonds of any railroad, corporation or city in the United States, under the following restrictions: (1) The principal and interest of the bonds must be payable in gold coin. (2) The bonds must have been continuously listed for at least five years upon some regular stock exchange located in the United States having a population of not less than 500,000. (3) No bond shall be accepted upon which default has ever been made in the payment of interest, or which at any time in the previous three years has sold publicly upon any stock exchange where it was listed for less than 105 per cent of its par valve. (4) No municipal bond shall be accepted if the total tax levy of the city issuing it exceeds two per cent per annum. (5) The railroad bond must be secured by mortgage upon the road-bed and track. (6) No more than 20 per cent of the bonds deposited by any bank shall consist of bonds of any one railroad or city. (7) Whenever any class of bonds on deposit has been publicly sold below par for a period of thirty days upon an stock exchange, the Comptroller shall require another bond to be substituted. (8) Whenever any railroad which was paying dividends on its stock when its bonds were accepted ceases to pay dividends, the substitution of other bonds shall be required.

The Comptroller, with the consent of the Secretary of the Treasury shall have the right to reject any class of bonds, or require substitution for any already deposited. Any officer of an inter-state railroad who knowingly permits a false statement of the earnings or condition of his road to be issued, is subject to a fine of not more than $100,000, and imprisonment from ten to twenty years.

National banks will not be required to keep any other fund on deposit for the payment of its notes, but the United States is given a first lien upon all the assets of the bank to secure the notes, and a fund of $1,000,000 is to be created and maintained out of the taxes collected on circulation, from which fund any deficiency is to be made good should the bonds deposited and the lien upon the general assets prove insufficient for the redemption of the notes. When a bank is placed in the hands of a receiver, its notes shall cease to be received in payment of any obligation due and payable to the United States.

The above is the substance of the text of the bill, which needs no argument to show that it is radical in its provisions and Utopian in its nature.

A CORRECTION.

CHICAGO, April 2, 1892.

R. C. Smyers, Esq., Pub. REAL ESTATE AND BUILDING JOURNAL:

Dear Sir:—In your article this week under the Real Estate Market heading you say:—"This week the star transaction might be considered the purchase of the Richelieu Hotel. A company composed of W. L. Merriam, Jno. L. Merriam and A. H. Wilder, all of Minneapolis, have contracted for the purchase of this hotel, etc., etc."

These gentlemen are old residents of St. Paul and have never lived in Minneapolis. As a St. Paul man I cannot patiently see our city robbed in such a wholesale manner of so many of her prominent citizens; had this been the first instance of the kind I should have passed it unnoticed, but it is getting to be so common that it appears to me to need attention.

Very truly yours,

A. E. CLARK.

LOCAL STOCK MARKET.

The local elections had a tendency to restrict transactions on the Local Stock Exchange. Deals have been mostly limited to insiders, and the market has acted as if moved by some combination. There was a marked absence of trading in the street cables. Thus, on Saturday and Wednesday, there was not so much as a solitary deal in North and West side cables. On the other hand, some of the industrials showed considerable activity. Calumet and Chicago Canal and Dock, and Packing and Provision attracted much attention, the range in the former covering some three points, though the entire advance was not maintained to the close. Brewing and Malting was also brisk.

The West side system has attracted more attention, the business on Wednesday being quite animated, amounting as it did to upwards of 1,300 shares. Last Saturday, this property was firm at 131½. On Wednesday, heavy offerings of the stock carried the price to 130, with 130⅛ paid at the close. On the following day, the price lifted 131¼, but the amount of trading was extremely light, being limited to 250 shares. The management of West side cables have given the directors of the Chicago Stock Exchange notice of the company's intention to issue a further $1,000,000 of 6 per cent debentures, upon which interest will be paid in June and December of each year. The money thus obtained will be expended in building some forty miles of new road as outlined by Mr. Yerkes last year, and for which the requisite ordinances have already passed the city council.

City railway has sold down from 330½, at which figure it stood last Saturday, to 328½, which was the price paid for 50 shares on Wednesday, at the first call.

Street's Stable car line has not met with much inquiry, business barely averaging more than 100 shares daily. What has been done has, however, been on on the upturn.

Many flattering rumors are abroad concerning Western Stone, to the effect that, since the purchase of the outside quarries the company has largely increased its business, and promises largely increased dividends.

Calumet and Chicago Canal and Dock has been the active and progressive stock of the week. The cause for this was indicated in the preceding issue of the JOURNAL. The property of the Calumet and Chicago Canal and Dock company was practically all in land, and according to law this was the amount of its stock, which could not be disposed of for the purpose of paying dividends without intrenching upon capital. In order to get around this objection, the stockholders at their last meeting, held on Wednesday unanimously decided to call in and cancel all the outstanding common stock, and to substitute certificates of capital stock of equal amount instead. Arrangements will also be made to enable purchasers after this date of the real estate of the company to make payments of not exceeding 50 per cent of the amount of such purchase by the shares of the capital stock of the company at not less than the par value thereof. The shares so received are to be cancelled and retired. It will be seen that this arrangement holds out an inducement to intending purchasers of the company's lands to buy stock not far from the par value, at which price the company agrees to accept it to the extent of 50 per cent of any land purchased of it. Further, the attendant cancellation of all stock so received will naturally tend to enhance the value of the remainder. Last year the company sold $423,655 of land. Its capital stock outstanding is $3,588,000, and its entire property--consisting of 3,594 lots, 2,198 acres, and 5,057 feet of dock frontage—is valued at $4,121,757.

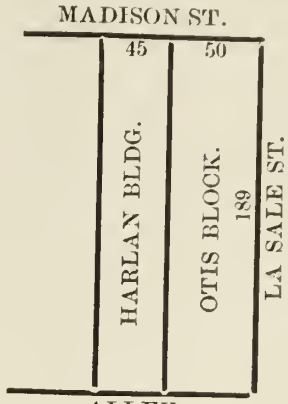
American Strawboard has suffered some relapse, selling down from 79 to 77¾, but closing at 78. Business for the three active days was 300 shares.

Arc Light and Power is entirely neglected. The last bid was 88, with 92 askd.—There is some talk of the Chicago Edison company greatly extending its system and increasing its capital, from its present amount of $1,000,000, to $3,000,000. This is partly due to the forthcoming World's Fair, which promises to be a great advertisement to electrical enterprise where properly and fully carried out.

Packing and Provision is decidedly strong, and insiders are extremely bullish. Common stock closed Thursday at 54⅛. Preferred stock closed similarly at 49, after having touched 49⅝ on the preceding day.

Brewing and Malting was weak with some active trading done. The high for common stock was made on Wednesday, when 30 was paid for regular. On Thursday, common stock dropped just one point, to 29. Saturday last it sold down from 41¼ to 41. On Monday, it dropped from 41¼ to 38⅝, upon very free offerings—600 shares—induced no doubt by the report that the dividend was to be passed on the preferred stock as also on the common stock. The last was expected, but scarcely the former, though some reduction was anticipated in some quarters. Wednesday witnessed a rapid recovery of preferred. The opening was at 40½. the close at 43, with business limited to 110 shares, in four parcels. On Thursday, this property started off at 42⅞ and—upon deals aggregating 350 shares—sold off, and closed at 42. The company, it is said, will vigorously pursue its policy of war rates, being determined to teach its rivals a lesson that shall be lasting.

The Bond market was dull and without much movement. Gas Light & Coke 5's advanced from 88 to 88½, with little passing. Consumers' Gas 5's entirely neglected.



Among the deals of the week the following may be recorded: Chicago Passenger Railway, at 91. National Railway of Illinois, 108¼ ex-div. Harvey Steel Car company's at 55. And Globe National Bank at 110.

$1,250,000 DEMANDED FOR 18,000 SQUARE FEET.

THE OTIS BLOCK AND THE HARLAN PROPERTY.

Real Estate men have for a long time indulged in mental speculation as to the probable future of the Otis Block on the southwest corner of LaSalle and Madison streets, and the eyes of investors have been frequently east on this corner with longing gaze, but it is probable that there will be no ehange in the ownership of the property for some time to eome. A reeent rumor eonneeted the Otis Bloek with the property to the west of it, the idea being that if the bloek and the Harlan Building eould be seeured the site would be an ideal one for an immense offiee building.

It is a well known faet that the Otis Block is very long and narrow, having a frontage of 189 feet on La Salle street and only 50 feet on Madison street. The Harlan Building has the same depth and a frontage of about 45 feet on Madison street. Between the two buildings there is a light eourt about ten feet wide.

The aceompaning diagram gives a general idea of the situation.

It will be seen that the block is so narrow tbat if intended to be improved with a high building the acquisition of the adjoining property on the west is very desirable. Consequently, offers have reeently been made for the Harlan Building and fee on a basis of $150,000, but it is understood that Mrs. Harlan of Austin, Texas, who owns the building, realizing that she virtually holds the key to the situation, would not aeeept less than $250,000 for the property. This will praetieally put a damper on any attempt to further improve this property.

The Otis Block has been the property of Judge Otis and his brother ever sinee 1865, and for many years they have steadfastly refused to sell the corner exeept at an exorbitant figure. Their poliey has been to hold property, not to sell it, and they claim that to this poliey they owe their prosperity. That the site is an ideal one for the erection of a high offiee building, provided the Harlan property eould be secured has been evident for some time, but the obstaeles in the way of this eombination seem for the present, at least, to be insurmountable.

The total area of the Otis and Harlan properties on this eorner is in round numbers about 18,000 square feet. It is understood that the priee demanded for the Otis property is $1,000,000. This with the addition of $250,000 for the Harlan property would make a total of $1,250 000 or about $69 a square foot.

This is eonsidered an exorbitant priee, but is only a little more than was paid for the Major Bloek and is less than the priee of the northwest eorner of Madison and Clark streets. It will be seen that the values quoted above by the sqaure foot show a very mueh larger demand for the Otis than for the Harlan property, as both are nearly equal in area.

THE REAL ESTATE MARKET.

The real estate market continues to present a series of paradoxes. The unexpected is continually happening. Early in the year it was the generally accepted idea that few acre movements of importance would be carried through. It was stated, as a general opinion, that the market would be confined almost exclusively to investment holdings and that there would little, if any, speculation. Nothwithstanding all this, there have any number of acre operations, in which speculative holdings are involved, reported. Three or four large sales in the Calumet region and as many in the Stickney district. In addition to these, contracts have been signed in an extensive Waukegan deal and large tracts in the south part of the county in the towns of Bloom, Thornton and Rich have been purchased or contracted for. At present negotiations are on foot for the purchase of a large tract of land near Frankfort, Will county, on the line of the Elgin, Joliet & Eastern and Joliet Cut-off railroads fifteen miles east of Joliet, and thirty miles southwest of Chicago; for a 5,000 acre tract near Maynard, Indiana, about the same distance east of Chicago; and for a large holding on the Kankakee river in Indiana, about twelve miles east of the state line and thirty-five miles southeast of Chicago. These are merely a few illustrations of the acre movements which have been inaugurated since the wiseacres decided that the acre market was dead and that no more speculation in outside acre tracts would be indulged in.

There was still another class of real estate men who announced the opinion early in the year that there would be but few important down town deals, as prices of down town property had reached too high a figure. In spite of all this, some of the largest transactions in the history of Chicago real estate have been recently carried through and exceptionally high prices have been noted. The most striking illustrations of this could be found in the work done during the last two or three weeks. In that time, negotiations for the sale of nearly every prominent hotel corner on Michigan avenue, were under way and in two instances were carried through successfully. The sale of the Leland Hotel which was made on the basis described by the JOURNAL some weeks ago, was terminated by the transfer of the property at a million dollars, after nearly every real estate man in town had expressed the opinion that it would never be completed. This transfer and the leases of the property on Michigan avenue, at the southwest corner of Congress street having been made a part of the record are evidence that two of the hotel operations are to be carried through. A small force of lawyers and real estate experts are at work drawing up final papers for the sale of the Richelieu. The purchase of the Leland Hotel is divided by the arrangement which gives the fee to a Boston syndicate at $625,000. while a local syndicate, or stock company takes the building and a leasehold of the grounds. This disposition of the property is more satisfactory than that made of the Equitable building at the Southwest corner of Washington and Dearborn streets. This property was transferred just a week ago to Andrew J. Cooper at $475,000. The terms of the sale are something of a puzzle to real estate brokers. The property has a frontage of forty feet on Washington street and ninety feet on Dearborn. It is improved with a fair building four stories high with a high basement and mansard roof. In part payment Mr. Cooper gives the leasehold and building at Nos. 21 to 25 Third avenue at a valuation of $150,000. Mrs. Wineman assumes an incumbrance of $55,000 on the property and Andrew J. Cooper gives a mortgage for $380,000 on the Equitable building running for ninety days. The fact that this mortgage is made for so short a time is taken as evidence that Mr. Cooper represents outside capital in the transaction, or that he has already arranged for the sale of the fee. In any other event, the transaction appears as if Mr. Cooper had simply secured an option on the Washington street corner. The Equitable building is one of the best known down town properties, on account not only of its prominence, but from the fact that it has been the subject of so many negotiations. It has been sold under partial contract over and over again, and no one believed that a final transfer could be arranged, especially on the terms which appear in the present sale.

With an improvement in weather conditions and the stimulus of so many large transactions, the general market has not improved to the extent expected. It is just here that the market presents another paradox. It was fully expected, and all the conditions seemed to warrant, that a good general business in the sale of houses and in property for improvement would follow the opening of spring. Some of the dealers in improved property report satisfactory sale lists, but the market generally inclines to be slow. Just why this condition of affairs is present is hard to explain but it is probable that a change for the better will be reached within a few weeks. The appearance of outside capital in many of the recent transactions, promises to supply a speculative feature which will, in addition to regular growth and advancement, insure a season of activity. Chicago fees and income bearing property attract the attention of capitalists accustomed to the low rates of interest of the East, while speculative holdings attract Western operators.

NEW YORKERS TO BUY THE LAKE STREET "L."

This readiness of outside capital to invest in Chicago property is likely to bear fruit in the purchase of the Lake street "L" road by New York capitalists. Edward Lauterbach, attorney for the Richmond Terminal railway company of New York is in the city examining the road with a view to purchasing it for New York capitalists whom he represents, if everything is found satisfactory. It is understood that, so far, no serious objections to the purchase of the road have been discovered. Some matters of minor importance will have to be arranged, but it is believed the road is practically sold.

CARETTE LINE SOLD.

Another deal, of minor importance, but indicating the desire of outside parties to invest in Chicago enterprises is the reported sale of the Carette Stock to a Minneapolis investor who will attempt to put the enterprise on a paying basis. The particulars of this transaction are not ready for publication, but it is stated that the deal is as good as closed. These transactions, though not strictly pertaining to real estate, indicate a lively interest on the part of outside capital in Chicogo investments and show that there is practically an unlimited amount of capital ready to be invested in any thing of real merit that Chicago brokers can offer.

ANOTHER NEW SUBURB.

A party of Milwaukee capitalists have secured an option on 2,000 acres of land at Roundout at $250 an acre and will establish a new manufacturing town. The property is twenty-eight miles from Chicago on the Chicago, Elgin and Joliet road, commonly called the "Belt" line, and also on the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul road. The company formed to handle the tract will be known as the Chicago-Milwaukee Land and Improvement Company. It is said that eight or ten manufacturing concerns are ready to build works there at once.

A LARGE WORLD'S FAIR HOTEL.

Ground will soon be broken for a 1,000-room hotel at 71st street and Stony Island avenue. It is expected that the structure will be completed by July 1. The company back of the enterprise is known as the Jackson Park Hotel Company of Chicago and was incorporated with a capital stock of $200,000, April 3, by J. L. Jones, M. A. Ives and Frank R. Greene, secretary of the Chicago City railway. A. D. Dana of the Link Belt Machine company is also one of the stockholders. The ground for the site has already been purchased. The company is a solid one and the enterprise may be expected to materialize speedily, unlike other similar schemes which have existed only on paper.

THE ALLEY "L" ROAD

Has secured about 1200 feet of frontage on the west side of Calumet avenue between Sixty-first and Sixty-third street at an average cost of $85 a foot, making the total cost about $100,000. This land was bought to facilitate turning the line into Sixty-third street from the alley between Calumet and Prairie avenues. On the property the company will erect a building for storing its engines and cars when not in use. The building will be so constructed that the tracks will run into it from Sixty-third street, and also from the alley along one side of which the line will run. Of the 1,400 feet of frontage between Thirty-ninth and Sixty-third streets, over 8,000 feet have already been secured by the company at an average cost of $25 a foot, making $200,000. The purchase of the round-house site brings the amount up to $300,000. The ordinance for the Sixty-third street extension has at last passed the Council. It is expected that the entire equipment of the road will be delivered and trains will be running by May 15.

HOTELS AND APARTMENT HOUSES.

The usual activity in hotels and large flat buildings has been noticed this week. Work has been begun on the Potomac flats at the southwest corner of Michigan avenue and Thirtieth street. It is to have ground dimensions of 123x100 feet, to be eight stories in height, and to contain forty flats. The contract was let to F. C. Neagle & Son for $250,000. The building is to be completed Jan 1, 1893.

The Jackson Park European Hotel Company, composed of John H. Earl, Frank B. Wyckoff and Henry P. Lindsay, has been incorporated with a capital stock of $100,000. The company has secured the southeast corner of Sheridan and Sixty-third street, 100x114 feet, and will build a five story hotel, at a cost of $60,000. The hotel will be thoroughly modern, with excellent elevator service.

The Page Confectionary Company has leased the southeast corner of Sixty-third street and Grace avenue for eighteen months from May 1st, at a rental of $400 a month. The lessees intend to use the entire lot, which has a frontage of 118 feet for a hotel, the ground floor of which they will devote to their business. This is the first lease of Sixty-third street frontage that has been made for the Fair season only, and is therefore of interest as furnishing a basis for future operations of a similar nature. The lease establishes a valuation of $80,000 for the ground, which is equivalent to a foot valuation of about $680. Brokers who operate around Jackson Park, say that this valuation is very low, considering the fact that the lease runs for less than two years. On this basis Sixty-third street frontage will pay an interest during the next two years on valuations ranging from $600 to $800 per front foot.

A report was in circulation yesterday to the effect that Louis F. Leland is to be interested in a new hotel to be built at the northwest corner of Grand boulevard and Fifty first street. The leasehold of 298x150 feet at this corner is owned by Andrew J. Cooper, The annual rental for the corner under this lease is $6,000. A company is said to have been formed to acquire this leasehold and improve the corner with a hotel building.

REAL ESTATE EXCHANGES.

THE SCOPE AND USEFULNESS OF LOCAL EXCHANGES NOW FORMING ALL OVER THE COUNTRY.

The very general movement throughout the United States at the present time toward the formation of local real estate exchanges has been accelerated by the National Real Estate Association. After the next meeting of the Association at Buffalo there will be hardly a real estate centre in the United States without its local exchange.

The province of the local exchange is not to serve mere selfish interests of real estate men but in a broader spirit of business policy to guard the rights of persons in their realty possessions by securing the revision of such laws as have become odious in their operation and not in keeping with the advancement of the times; to make such suggestions to the State and municipal governments as may from time to time appear necessary in securing the passage of such laws and ordinances as will the more equitably place the burdens of taxation; to see that present laws are enforced that relate to the streets, alleys, drainage and public improvements; to invite the attention of investors, manufacturers, and capitalists to the advantages of the locality as a point for sure returns for investors; as a location geographically unsurpassed in the United States for the manufacturer, as a city for the home of the capitalist, where his money can be secured in enterprises that are yet in their infancy and capable of enormous development, or in enterprise; yet to be inaugurated with all the essential elements of great growth, and wealth at their maturity.

Another grand subject to be taken up at an early date by the Real Estate Exchange is the adoption by the people of simplified laws of conveyance of land titles, such as the Torrens system now in use in Australia, which admits of the transfer of a piece of real estate as simply and as easily as a bond or share of stock can be transferred, and in a much safer manner than the present complicated and expensive system, which calls for abstracts of title, long searches for mortgages, judgment liens tax liens, conditions of devises, and other annoying and tedious routine every time a piece of property changes hands.

To attract immigration by advertising the city and State and their resources, and thus increase the demand for homes among us, is another worthy object of the Exchange; for just in proportion as there is a demand for real estate for building purposes, just in such a ratio will values advance and the city and State be made richer.

INDIANA AVENUE TO BE OPENED.

At the council meeting March 14, Commissioner Aldrich was directed to inquire into the feasability of opening Indiana avenue from 14th street to 12th street and to report a plan therefor. On March 28 he sent a communication to the council in which he said that the proposed arrangement, which includes not only the opening of the street through private property but the widening of 12th street between Indiana and Michigan avennes is not only feasible but an improvement of great importance.

His communication was referred to the corporation counsel and to the committee on streets and alleys south for the preparation of an ordinance. The plan contemplates negotiations for a strip of the Illinois Central's right of way 1,100 feet in length south of Park row. In return that road asks that certain boundary lines on the east of its tracks at Peck court be established It is desired to make the street sixty-six and two-thirds feet wide, and of this width thirty-three and one-third feet must come off the property of the Illinois Central. It will necessitate the abandonment by the road of two switch tracks used principally for storing cars.

This is apparently all there is to the matter, but the proceeding is really the beginning of another bitter fight to extend Indiana avenue to Van Buren street. A like attempt was defeated a few years ago by the residents of the avenue, who thought the Chicago City railway was behind the movement.

SOME GOOD ADVICE.

If you are a man in moderate circumstances, with a family and have to pay rent, you can acquire a home of your own in a few years by investing your savings in a building and loan association. The building association is a careful guardian of small deposits, and in that respect is equal in importance to the most substantial savings bank. Its advantages are mutual and the capitalist and the day laborers share alike in its benefits. It encourages thrift and economy, and in a hundred ways it redounds to the advantage of all concerned and confers a public benefaction. Where building assoeiations thrive it may be reckoned with certainty that the community is prosperous, and it is equally certain that they exercise an influence that is not only a valuable adjunct of material progress, but serves as a moral agency of great value as well.—Lafayette, Ind., Sunday Times.

A PRACTICAL ILLUSTRATION.

BUILDING SOCIETY METHODS MADE PLAIN—ADVANTAGE OVER ORDINARY SAVINGS.

That these institutions are being appreciated by our people is no longer a question of doubt. The fact is clearly demonstrated by the continual increase in number and the rapid growth in membership. Many of our best citizens have awakened to their own interests as well as that of their fellow men, and are working to increase their resources and help others to advanee with them in a sure and systematic way. There are no public benefactors, outside of the churches and the schools, that are doing a greater or nobler work than are the genuine building and loan associations.

The good resulting from these associations is plainly visible in the thousands of families in their own homes, who perhaps never would have been fortunate enough to own a home had they not followed the sure road to success by investing their earnings and depositing their savings in building and loan associations.

With many, the problem of building and loan associations is difficult to comprehend. The philosophy might be clearly seen in something like the following:

A man may deposit $10 a month in the savings bank. Allowing 4 per cent interest, it will be fully eight years before his savings will enable him to purchase a house and lot worth $1,000. And in the case of a thousand such depositors, it would take the same length of time for each to have a home of his own. On the other hand, suppose these thousand men to form a building and loan association, each taking $1,000 stock, on which he pays $5 per month. At the very first meeting there would be $5,000 to loan out among the members, and five houses might be built at once, and so on each month; the members who borrowed the money paying monthly interest at 8 per cent, or whatever the current rate might be, for about eight years, when the stock would be fully paid up, and each member have received his thousand dollars. The comparison is vastly in favor of the association, for the members not only come clear out of it worth a thousand dollars two years earlier than they could have accumulated the same amount in a savings bank, but in the mean time there has been an enormous saving in rent, increasing every month since the incorporation of the association.

The classes most directly concerned have not yet fully realized the benefits to be derived from building and loan associations. They are ignorant of their aims, scope and working, or such societies would be numbered by the score.

A loan association is distinctly co operative in its aim, and mutual in its advantages, while no organization can excel it in simplicity of working. Its members may be few or many. They fix the stock and value of the shares, and select directors and officers from among their number. Payments usually of fifty cents per share are made monthly; the money so paid in is loaned out on security to the member who is willing to pay most premium for it. No member may borrow more than the full value of his shares. No person would be justified in making an investment either for himself or family, until he is satisfied in his own mind of its solidity and permanency, as well as safety. Saving banks may fail, railroad stocks fade away to nothing by reason of poor business or heavy bonded indebtedness, stocks in factories may depreciate by reason of dull trade, mining stocks usually amount to nothing, but the investment backed by solid real estate—by mother earth—can never come to grief.

ROUTE OF A NEW ELECTRIC RAILWAY.

The Chicago Union Elevated Railway Company, representing a capital of $17,000,000, filed articles of incorporation with the Secretary of State about a month ago. The names of the incorporators are all well known Chicago men. They are John Tyler, Thomas J. O'Malley, William W. Ball, Geo. E. Scott and Geo. M. Eckels. The proposed railway will commence on the west line of Franklin street between Madison and Twelfth street, and run to the western limits of the town of Cicero. From a point between Ashland avenue and Robey street, a branch will run to a point between said line and Milwaukee avenue, thence north and northwest to the western limit of the city. A branch will also start from the main line from Wallace street and Center avenue, and run in a southwesterly direction to city limits. Also another branch from between Fortieth and Fiftieth streets in a south and southeasterly direction to eastern line of State of Illinois. From the above route it will be readily seen that it will be an enormous undertaking, and will necessitate an expenditure of a large amount of money. The benefits that would accrue to property owners will be incalculable, and the road projeetors have the hearty support of all real estate owners on its proposed line.

On interviewing some of the incorporators, the fact was learned that the company is in earnest about the matter, and that the road will be built without doubt if the ordinance is passed by the Council. They will purchase the right of way through private property, and in the route mapped there is no possibility of a failure to make it pay, as it will branch out into the most thickly settled parts of the northwest and southwest portions of the city, and will therefore meet the demands of thousands. It is also the intention of the company to complete the Lake street L road, as that road has so far advanced that some one has to finish it, and if given the right they will do it to every body's advantage, and build the road as proposed.

Although there are only Chicago men in the directory, the capital is not wholly represented here. No other street railway interests enter into the plans of this company. This seheme was on foot before the organization of the Metropolitan company, whieh is figuring on the same territory.

CURRENT COMMENT.

A notable occurence of the week was the great fire at New Orleans, which will take rank as one of the most serious fire disasters that has befallen in many years. It burned over eleven squares of ground, destroyed 63,000 bales of cotton and other property enough to swell the total loss to $3,600,000. On the heels of this disaster another fire followed by which more than 100 families were rendered homeless and an additional loss of half a million dollars was entailed. This catastrophe was the result of throwing a lighted cigarette among the cotton. It is said that $3,000,000 of the total loss is covered by insurance.

The recent memorial of the underwriters to the House asking for an investigation into fire losses and the adoption of some measures for the prevention of fires is emphasized by this terrible disaster at New Orleans. The loss of $3,000,000 to the insurance companies just at this time when the annual reports are showing that the business of last year was conducted at a loss, is a serious blow. But it must be remembered that this loss is not a damage to the insurance companies alone but the entire country as well. The destruction of three million dollars worth of property means the reduction by just so much of the world's wealth. It is estimated that the real and personal property in the United States increases at the rate of less than $10 per capita of population per annum. At this rate the destruction of $3,000,000 worth of property means the loss of a day and a half for every man, woman and child in the United States. It means a damage that would require the net earnings of 300,000 men, women and children working an entire year to repair.

These figures furnish food for serious reflection as to the imperative need for protection against fire. The present very faulty method of building construction is responsible for many of the more disastrous conflagrations. Carelessness in the use of fire and inflamatory materials is also another cause. In the New Orleans case a cigarette was the direct cause of untold suffering and great financial loss. In many other cases incendiarism is at the root of fire losses. That this crime should be more severely punished than it is at present is very evident; and that it is cheaper to provide safeguards against fire than it is to pay fire losses can be readily deduced from the experience of owners and insurance companies in the New Orleans and other notable instances.

The plan of constructing high fire-proof buildings entirely of stone, as proposed by Gen. William Sooy Smith, would seem to have its advantages; but whether it will be wise to try such a radical experiment on such a large scale as contemplated in the great Episcopal cathedral to be built in New York, is a serious question. Gen. Smith advocates the entire abolition of the iron structure in buildings and dependence on stone alone for both foundations and superstructure. His plan contemplates sinking piles to a point where the tops are fifteen feet below datum, so as to render the piling indestructable. This would bring the bottoms of the piles down to the bed rock, and by this means it is intended to secure an actual rock foundation for the entire structure. So far as the plan has been discussed by prominent Chicago architects it has been the subject of serious critieism. The matter is of such importance that it is likely to be thoroughly tested before any experiments on a large scale are attempted.

A cheap house is dear at any price, but cheap house plans are dearer. P. F. Orr, in a paper on good and bad arehitects in the Recorder, very truly says that it does not pay to buy eheap "plans." He eonsiders that as a rule the mueh vaunted "plans" which are advertised so extensively as accurate and trustworthy turn out bitter and expensive delusions, in so far that they are like the Yankee's razors, never made to use, but only to be sold. A gaudy daub in colors, an attractive display in low figures, catch many unwary builders, with the result that the houses which are put up either for personal use or for investment turn out to be financial losses and drain purses. An unscrupulous author who advises as architect the erection of a cheap building of material which is totally unfitted, for instance, for this climate, not only does himself no good, but he injures the outlook for the profession of builders in general. One poorly-constructed house and one faulty piece of work will do more to discourage the erection of new buildings than is generally supposed.

The important work of construction of the drainage canal will be formally begun this morning by advertising for bids on the drainage channel between Willow Springs and Joliet. The Committee on Engineering and Judiciary reports satisfactory progress in securing the necessary right of way. It is estimated that between Willow Springs and Joliet there will be required the excavation of 11,500,000 cubic yards of rock and 5,000,000 cubic yards of earth and the building of 287,241 cubic yards of dry rubble walls and 244,444 square yards of slope paving. The work is divided into seventeen sections, and each contractor must bid separately upon each section. Bids must be accompanied by a certified check for each section of the work bid upon, and the contractor must give an approved bond in the sum of $100,000 for each section. Bids will be received by the clerk up to noon of June 8.

The above is a brief outline of a portion of the work laid out by the drainage board. The magnitude of the enterprise can be imperfectly realized by a glance at the figures. The policy of the commisioners seems to be to do their work thoroughly and on] a scale commensurate with the growth and needs of the district. The expenditure of a few million of dollars more or less in the attainment of so important a result will hardly enter into the calculation. The public will watch with great interest the progress of this enterprise, as affecting the sanitary condition and real value of property in Chicago to a greater degree than any measure of public importance that has ever been set on foot in this city.

DULUTH.

WHEAT RECEIPTS AND YORK STEEL PLANT.

The report of Secretary Wells of the Board of Trade shows that the wheat receipts for March of the Duluth system of elevators reaches the enormous total of 3,844,584 bushels as against 817,855 bushels for the same month in 1890. This is an increase of over 300 per cent. Never before in the history of Duluth has such a record for March been anywhere nearly approached. The receipts now are much larger than at any time in March, except during the last four or five days, and the indications are that the heavy movement will continue for some time to come. The 20,000,000 bushels elevator capacity of Duluth is two-thirds full, there being a greater amount in than at any previous time in the history of our grain trade. Navigation is only about five weeks away, it may not be so long, and the wheat that comes here will be cared for. With the elevators filled, Duluth's record of 50,000,000 bushels for the crop year will have been reached, and it looks now as though the record would easily go to 55,000,000 bushels. Duluth is "in it" as a wheat market.

The Ironton Land Company have located the Ironton Structural Steel Company, with James E York in control at Ironton, one of Duluth's western manufacturing suburbs. This plant will cost about $500,000 and will employ from 1,000 to 1,500 men and will be a larger factor in making a market for our newly found Masaba iron ore. Mr. York believes that the opportunities which are now offered to him and his associates here are superior to those which Carnegie had when he entered the iron and steel business at Pittsburg not many years ago.

The real estate transfers for the week ending April 2, were seventy-nine in number, and total amount of the consideration is $184,184.

Duluth is growing faster than any other city in the country and is a safe place to invest money in.

The following tables will give an idea of the growth of the city and the value of real estate.

SOME LARGE PREDICTIONS.

Good judges say that one of the next localities to achieve distinction by jumping from a substantial town to a thriving metropolis in a few years will be the city of Superior, Wisconsin, and this, too, without the effort and struggle through which interior towns have passed while effecting the same result. Until a year or two ago the average man did not stop to think that Superior as a monopolist of the water and rail termini at one end of the lakes is in the same position as Buffalo at the other end. This position at the extreme western end of Lake Superior is what gives the city of Superior its prestige, and is making it grow faster than Chicago ever did. Besides one hundred and one smaller industrial concerns, Superior has located twenty-eight large manufacturing enterprises in the past eighteen months, including the American Steel Barge Company, the builders of the famous "whaleback" vessel, which is revolutionizing the lake and ocean freight-carrying trade. The twenty-eight institutions above mentioned, include iron and steel plants, flour mills, stove foundries, wagon factories, pump makers, shipbuilders and saw and shingle mills. The most conservative business men in the Northwest believe that Superior will grow faster in the next ten years than any other city in that prosperous section of the country, and many of them claim that Chicago, St. Paul, Minneapolis and Milwaukee have never seen the rapid growth that will come to the head of the great chain of lakes and the city of Superior.

AGRICULTURAL LANDS.

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn., April 5, 1892.

Editor REAL ESTATE AND BUILDING JOURNAL:

We have been very much pleased with your Journal and are interested especially in your editorials on Alien Land Ownership. We deal exclusively in farm lands, and are continually employing means of inducing a good class of foreign emigrants to settle here. It would hurt us to a large extent, if we could not guarantee the ownership to aliens, who form a considerable portion of our customers.

We think that most of the real estate journals make quite a mistake in not devoting more space to agricultural lands.

There are thousands of good farms in this section that can be purchased cheap, as the Southern farmer finds that since the war he cannot plant as large an area as formerly, and consequently some choice farms have been thrown on the market at remarkably low figures.

Now, these facts are not generally known, for in our correspondence we find numbers of northwestern farmers who do not even know what products are grown in this section. The soil here is fertile, but it needs the careful cultivation and attention that the Northern farmer gives to his land.

Hoping that you will give the farm agents some attention in your columns, we remain,

Yours truly, CRABTREE & ANDREWS.

VULITE

Is the name applied to the new fire extinguishing agent of nine times the intensity of the inherent quenching capability of water. The wonderful possibilities of this powerful preparation have been submitted to public experiment, when it was shown that by merely immersing the naked hands in this solution, they become endowed with the salmandrine properties that render them capable of absolutely "handling" fire with impunity, for on these occasions it was demonstrated that the mere touch of the impervious finger subdued the flame instantly, whether it arose from burning clothing, linen, or kerosene oil. Of course in these exhibitions the impression made upon the audience depends somewhat upon the skill and adroitness with which the experiments are conducted, and the infirmities are not disclosed until the trials are pursued by less expert and less interested operators; but still we are disposed to regard this Vulite as possessing most valuable attributes. One important question that occurs to us is, does the chemical infusion remain in solution or is there a precipitation, and if so, does that sediment diminish the quenching power of the admixture, for on such knowledge would rest its efficiency when fire buckets are retained for the extinguishing incipient fires, or in case it be adopted in the reservoirs of the sprinklers.

The following description of an experimental trial exhibited in Manchester, Eng, last month will be found deeply interesting. The experiment took place on the parade ground of the police in Manchester on the 3d ult.

The new agent, a chemical compound, is the invention of Mr. Max Eberhardt, of Lucerne, and is stated to be nine times more effective than ordinary water, and amongst its other qualities possesses the remarkable faculty of rendering individuals virtually fireproof. The impunity with which the exhibitors of this compound approached great masses of flame, and appeared to be almost as if in their native element, was not the least remarkable feature of the display. With the hands dipped in this solution burning materials may be manipulated with perfect safety. The First experiment was supposed to represent the upsetting of a paraffin lamp, the oil flowing in a stream over the table cloth, and immediately blazing up in a furious flame. By simply passing the hands over the burning cloth this flame was speedily extinguished, although the table itself had caught fire, and the exhibitor appeared to be in no little danger. In the next place a mass of pitch in a small pit was ignited and allowed to get thoroughly alight, the smoke and flames rising up in volumes. The application of two buckets of Vulite had an almost magical effect, the flames dying down at once, while not only the fire, but even the heat arising therefrom entirely disappeared, the pitch becoming at once quite cold. The same result followed in the case of a mass of ignited resin, which, blazing up furiously, was instantaneously extinguished by a single bucketful of the Vulite. The final experiment, twice repeated, was the extinction of a fire in a wooded structure consisting of a mass of staves saturated with paraffin oil, which when ignited gave forth an enormous volume of heat and flame. To extinguish this, a small hand engine holding about thirty gallons of Vulite was employed, and as a result of a few strokes of the pump, the flames were wholly subdued. This was the most efficient test, as the fire was open and unconfined in every direction.

The price paid is at the rate of $650 an acre which is considered below the market by conservative brokers. It is purchased by a syndicate that will subdivide the tract at once and place it on the market this spring.

A. O. Bosworth, who handles exclusively Clybourn avenue addition to Lake View says that since that addition was put on the market something more than two years ago, 261 lots have been sold. Out of this number 149 have been built upon and are occupied, and twelve more residences are now in course of construction.

The real purchaser is the syndicate which is trying to secure control of the Columbia Steel Car Works, and which is now endeavoring to acquire more land in that vicinity.

LATE LEGAL DECISIONS.

CONTRACTS OF SALE.

Whatever is sufficient to put a person upon inquiry is notice of all the facts which a pursuit of such inquiry would lead to, and possession of real estate is notice that the possessor has some rights in the same. So in this case although the first agreement to sell was unrecorded, yet the subsequent purchaser, knowing that the premises were in the occupation of a third party, was bound to make inquiry, and failing in this, can not claim to be innocent purchasers without notice.

Although a contract for the sale of land is not made matter of record, yet, if a subsequent purchaser has knowledge of facts sufficient to put him on inquiry as to the state of the title, he is bound to make such inquiry.

MISTAKE IN A DEED.

When the owner of a tier of lots numbered from north to the south, by mistake, supposing the lots to be numbered from south to north, conveyed lot 7 instead of lot 2, and the grantee conveyed the lot by the same number to the complainant, who filed her bill against the original owner for the correction of the description in the deeds: Held, that the intermediate owner of the lot was a necessary party.

And when the owner afterward conveyed to B lot 2 instead of 7 by a like mistake, and afterward procured a conveyance from him of lot 2, it was also held that B was a necessary party to the bill, as well as the holder of a mortgage given upon lot 7 intended for lot 2.

All persons who have any substantial interest in the matter, and whose rights are to be materially affected by the decree must be made parties except when they are very numerous and scattered, so as to settle all their rights and equities, and thus avoid a multiplicity of suits.

IRREGULARITIES IN JUDICIAL SALE.

While mere inadequacy of price is not ordinarily sufficient for setting aside a sale under execution and allowing the debtor to redeem after the statutory period of redemption has expired, the rule is that such inadequacy of price, if gross, will be sufficient when taken in connection with other and sometimes even slight circumstances of irregularity in the mode of conducting the sale.

DAMAGE BY VIADUCT TO A SALOON-KEEPER.

A city will not be liable to a saloon-keeper for the diversion of customers from his saloon by the erection of a viaduct over a street adjoining his place of business. If access to and from his premises is not cut off or injured by a street improvement, he will not be entitled to damages to his property. He has no vested legal right in having the street so kept as to attract the largest amount of travel by his premises, so as to bring the largest number of customers to his saloon.

WHAT MAY DEFEAT A SPECIAL ASSESSMENT.

When an additional sum is sought to be raised in a drainage district for the purpose of extending, continuing, deepening and widening ditches by the levy of a second assessment of benefits, a party objecting to the assessment of his land, will not be allowed to prove that the ditch does not require any additional work or repairing to drain his land.

A party whose land is assessed may show, on application for a judgment of confirmation, that his land is assessed more than its proportionate share of the cost, or that it is assessed more than it is benefited. But he may not confine his evidence to benefits from a second assessment.

A person whose land has been drained by money raised by the first assessment, can not defeat a second assessment which is necessary to drain the lands of his neighbors who are in the same district on the grounds alone, that his land does not need any further drainage.

MORTGAGOR'S INTEREST IN INSURANCE.

When the purchaser of property which was insured for $6,000, mortgaged the same for $5,000 and with the consent of the insurance company assigned the policy to the trustee of the mortgage to whom it was made payable, and the consent of the company attached to the original policy, stated that the insurance only as to the interest of the mortgagee or trustee should not be avoided by the conditions therein contained, it was held that the mortgagor had an interest in the policy to see that in case of a loss his debt was paid, and the balance of the insurance money was paid to him, which he might forfeit for breach of the conditions applicable to him.

A mortgagor may take a policy of insurance on the mortgaged premises for the benefit of himself as well as a security to the mortgagee, and if the policy contains a condition of avoidance, if the property is allowed to become vacant and unoccupied as a dwelling house, it is competent for the insurance company on consenting to transfer of the policy to secure the mortgagee, to provide that such condition shall not apply as to the latter. In that case a breach of the condition will avoid the policy as to the mortgagor will defeat his rights under the same.

BURNT RECORD ACT AGAIN SUSTAINED.

Judge Blodgett sustained the validity of the Burnt Record act as affecting land titles, the records of which were burned in the great fire of 1871. The case was the partition suit of Bruno Durst and other Texas heirs of John Holliday and Lieut. Jamison against John McCaffery and the Western Indiana railroad. The land consists of eighty acres in Sec. 26, south of Chicago Lawn. The heirs claimed that the title had never pased entirely from them. McCaffery set up in defense a decree of the Circuit Court of Cook County giving him title under the Burnt Record act. He had proved twenty years' possession, and before the suit was begun in the Circuit Court had published a notice to all whom it might concern that he was the owner. Judge Blodgett said the Burnt Record act had been upheld by so many courts that there was little for him to do but hold the plea of McCaffery to be good. The United States had no jurisdiction over the subject matter and could not interfere with a decision by the Circuit Court. The decision will not affect other property in Chicago which the Durst heirs claim, the title not having been obtained under the Burnt Record act.

RIGHTS OF A CITY AS TO STREETS.

Attorney James M. Flower is quoted as authority for the following statements as to the rights of a city to its streets.

The city has the absolute control of the streets, subject to the easement of the public. It has been held that it is the agent or representative of the public and has, in that capacity, all the rights of a trustee to protect the title and to maintain an action for trespass. But it must not interfere with the use of stree s as streets.

The fee rests in the city and is entitled to an adequate return for any privileges granted on or under them. The full extent of this ownership was illustrated in a decision of the Supreme Court in the case of the Union Coal Mining company vs. The City of La Salle in 1891. It was held that the city had a right of action for the mining of coal under its streets, although the use of the street for a thoroughfare was in no way affected. Furthermore, it was held that it was entitled to recover, not merely nominal damages, but the full value of the coal mined.

In a somewhat similar case at Des Moines, Ia., where the heirs of the original grantors of the streets had been paid for coal taken from under the streets it was held that the city had a right to recover from the heirs.

In Kentucky it has been held that owners of lots abutting on the streets have no title to the fee in the streets, but have merely an easement permitting ingress and egress. They have no rights above or beneath the streets other than those that may be enjoyed by the general public. All that their abutting property gives them ends at the curb line.

There are decisions of similar import in many other States showing the city's absolute right to the streets, subject only to the right of way of the public over them. Outside of that it has the right to charge for their use what the representatives of any other corporation would after considering the benefit to the corporation and the benefit to the one asking the privileges. In some instances the City of Chicago has required some compensation for the right to the use of its streets, but in most cases these grants, of great value, both present and prospective, have been made wholly without consideration.

RULES FOR THE INSPECTION AND GRADING OF LUMBER.

Inspectors of lumber are not manufacturers and must measure and inspect lumber as they find it, of full length and width (except as to wane, which must be measured out and inspected in a lower grade), making no allowance for the purpose of raising grade.

Inspectors must use their best judgment, based upon these rules for their guidance.

The standard knot shall not exceed 1¼ inches in diameter, and must be of a sound character.

Splits are always more or less damage to a piece of lumber. An allowance must be made, either in determining the quality or quantity, according to the nature of the split. A split extending to exceed one foot will reduce it to one grade lower.

Reaches must be 2x4, or 2½x4½ inches, and the lengths 8, 10, 12 and 16 feet.

Harrow timber must be 2½x2½ inches, and the lengths 5, 10 and 14 feet.

Hickory axles must be clear, and in lengths of 6 or 12 feet, for sizes 3½x4½, 4x5, 4x6, 4½x6 and 7 or 14 feet, for 5x6 and 5x7 on special order, cut from sound, tough, butt logs.

Wagon tongues must be clear and straight, 3x4 at small end and 4x4 at the butt end, or 2½x4½ at small end and 4½x4½ at butt end, 12 feet long, from tough, straight-grained timber.

Bolsters, reaches, harrow timber, hickory axles and wagon tongues not up to grade of clear, will be classed as cull.

Standard thickness shall be 1, 1¼, 1½, 2, 2½, 3 and 4 inches, except poplar, which will allow 5-8 inch,

When lumber is sold on this market to be measured merchantable, the inspector must measure full, except in culls, which are to be measured at one half.

It is important that all lumber should be parallel in width, square edged, and with square ends. Tapering lumber is measured at the small end. Ordinary season checks are not defects,

Squares must be clear, 4x4, 6x6, 7x7 and 8x8 inches.

Stains, specks, hearts, shakes, rot, worm-holes, holes, etc., are considered serious defects, reducing lumber to grades lower than firsts and seconds.

Log-run is the entire cut of the log, mill culls out.

Lumber should be sawed plump thickness, otherwise it is not considered marketable, and must be reduced to the next standard thickness or at least one grade lower, on account of thinness.

A cull below the standard thickness is a mill cull.

A cull which will not work one half of its size free from all defects, is a mill cull and no recognized value and no account is necessary to be made of it.

When lumber or timber does not come up to the grade or contract, it must be placed in the next lower grade named.

Lumber sawed for specific purposes, such as axles, bolsters, tongues, reaches, naves, balusters, squares, etc., must be inspected with a view to the adaptability of the piece for the intended use, as in many cases, it cannot be used for other purposes.

Wagon stock must be clear, cut from good, live, sound, tough, straight-grained timber.

Timbers must be free from unsound knots. Sound hearts not showing on the outside will be allowed.

In the grade of firsts and seconds, the purchaser is entitled to the full average of firsts, which must not be less than 33⅓ per cent.

Standard lengths are always recognized as being 12, 14, and 16 feet. Shorter than 12 and longer than 16 feet does not come within the range of standard. In black walnut and cherry an exception is made, and ten feet is a standard length. Shorter or longer than standard lengths, in all varieties of hardwood lumber, except in counter tops, are reduced one grade lower.

Common and cull lumber must be 8 feet and over long, except cherry and walnut, which must be 6 feet and over long.

Mixed lots, containing boards, planks, flooring, bolsters, reaches, etc., shall be measured and inspected according to the rules governing the measurement and inspection of boards and planks.

Flooring strips should be 4 and 6 inches in width; 1 and 1¼ inches in thickness. Other widths and thicknesses shall be designated as special sizes. It must have one face and two edges clear.

Edgemoor

We are now offering for sale blocks and lots in Edgemoor, the new suburb on the Chicago Central Ry. at 79th street. Edgemoor is one-half mile square and includes 160 acres of the beautiful ridge property in the South-West part of the city with an East frontage on Western Ave. and a North frontage on 79th street. The Chicago Central, the Northern Pacific's new suburban road, runs directly through the center of the property with a depot at 81st street. On this road will be inaugurated by June 1st, the most complete train service as to elaborateness of equipment and quick running time given on any suburban road in the city. The scheduled time from Edgemoor to the Grand Central depot will be 22 minutes. The South 80 acres of Edgemoor is being improved in a high class manner. The contracts for the side-walk and curb and gutter work have been let to The North Western Asphalt Co. The walk is built of granite and cement and is six feet wide. The combined curb and gutter is also built of granite and cement, the gutter being eighteen inches wide. Edgemoor is the only residence district in Chicago, outside of the boulevard frontages, where the curb and gutter combined has been put in. The contract for the macadam work has been let to Eggleston, Mallette & Brownell and calls for a high grade of work. A double row of trees of the Catalpa variety, are being planted, one row on the park-way which is 12 feet wide. A special form of warranty deed is used in conveying the property which provides for a 20-foot building line and a $3,000 building restriction. Contracts for four houses to cost $5,000 each have already been let and they will be completed and occupied by June 15th. Every effort will be made to make Edgemoor a high class residence district. Lots will be for sale for the next 60 days at prices 25 per cent less than the same grade of property can be purchased anywhere else in Chicago. We are prepared to offer special inducements to individual investors and syndicates who will take a five-acre block interest in the property. Liberal commissions made to brokers and agents.

CASINO.

Haverly's Mastodon Minstrels are, without question, the most complete organization that has ever appeared in Chicago, and their performances at the Casino (Eden Musee) have been endorsed in most thorough manner by all classes of amusement seekers. Particularly attractive are the entertainments to out-town visitors, who after an inspection of the various objects of interest in the Musee department, attend the minstrel concerts. The program of the past week has been very pleasing, but the coming week will be a gala week, commemorative of Ireland's patron saint, St. Patrick, the great and good, whose birthday is celebrated throughout the entire civilized world. The program will include all the members of the company, and Irish ballads will predominate. The theater will be decorated and draped with the national colors and flags, and our beautiful wax figure of Robert Emmett will be exhibited free. A new singer will be heard in the person of Mr. Albert Yale, well known to all Canadians as a vocalist of much merit. Banks Winter the celebrated tenor, will have a new song. The comedians Rice, Hall, Denton, Rudworth, Bogert, and O'Brien will have new specialties. Ellwood, the wonderful male soprano, will display new feminine toilets. Constantine, the dancer, will execute new solos, and Harry Budworth will repeat his new repertoire. The latter's song, "Come to Baltimore," has "caught the town" and is encored three and four times every performance. Altogether, the week will be one long to be remembered, and all desirous of hearty, wholesome pleasure should not fail to attend. "Excelsior" is Mr. Haverly's motto. Much has been done by this gentleman "but more remains behind."

INDUSTRIAL DEPARTMENT.

The Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul Railway Company's 6,150 miles of road traverses a vast territory, rich in all the resources that insure industrial success.

The Industrial Department is conversant with the Iron, Coal, Lumber and Tanbark, the Water-Power (both river and artesian) for factory and electric power purposes, the markets, the transportation and financial facilities, and other interests on the line pertaining to industrial development, and disseminates information concerning same.

A number of new factories has been induced to locate—largely through the instrumentality of this Company—at enterprising towns on its lines.

As the interest of the Company is to secure the location of industries at places where the surroundings will insure their permanent success, the information furnished a particular industry is pertinent and reliable.

In the Eastern States and in other parts of the world factories are so congested and distant from the actual markets as to result in fierce and destructive competition. That the West is taking a place as one of the great manufacturing territories of the world is forcibly impressing itself upon discerning and enterprising manufacturers. Steps should be taken by such while the field is as yet not fully covered, and while inducements are still being offered, to locate in the West.

Individuals or companies wishing to embark capital in Western industry can find a profitable field.

Finance and Trade.

Money is easy at the eastern centres and in better demand at Chicago. Boston bankers have been able to pay four per cent on savings deposits for the past six months; but the outlook for the next six months is not so promising, and unless there is some improvement in the demand for money the savings banks of the east will be compelled to reduce their dividends to 3 per cent; the law allows them to pay only such dividends as they have earned. In Chicago the demand has been better, with rates ruling at from 4 to 6 per cent. This is due to the demand for money from the board of trade quarter, especially for use in the line of margins. The recent fluctuations in wheat have put a little additional life into the local money market. The commencement of active operations by lumbermen with the opening of navigation, have also had the effect of stimulating the loan market. But in addition to this it is noticed that the volume of loans is larger than ever and that all classes of business are thoroughly represented; further, the bank clearings continue to show a steady gain over the corresponding returns for last year.

A general bull movement is descernible in the New York stock market. Coalers show the most activity, with Reading in the lead. It is claimed that the shorts in Reading are unable to cover their losses and are thoroughly scared. Northwestern made a handsome gain during the first week in April. Advices from London say that foreign houses expect to see New York prices advanced before the opening of the London exchange on Tuesday. The London stock exchange has shown an improved demand for American railways. With one or two exceptions the quotations have been on a par with or above the New York prices.

The London Statist says clearer proof could not be given that the United States alone cannot restore silver to its old position, than the fact that it has fallen 23½ per cent lower than the highest price touched since the silver act was placed upon the statute books. This fall has had no effect upon the American money market or caused any serious distrust, because the silver coin has not been accepted by the public. What the public has taken are, firstly, the certificates issued while the Bland act was in force, and, secondly, the treasury notes issued under the new act, and both certificates and notes are regarded by the people as depending for their value, not upon silver, but upon the credit of the government. And we may add that the credit of the government is pledged to redeem its obligations in gold.

The conditions throughout the week have been favorabie to a bull movement in wheat. Snow in some parts of the winter wheat country, and a deluge of rain in other parts, and reports of damaging frosts in Europe, have all had their effect to bolster up the price of wheat in spite of the determined bear raid on that cereal. Some large operators like Pardridge, by selling or buying large quantities at a critical time, are able to affect the market many points The excitement caused by the crop reports made in the early part of the week has subsided, and wheat which touched 82 has declined to 80¼.

Mercantile business generally throughout the country is improving. Foreign shipments from eastern ports are reported good, and eastern manufacturing interests are feeling more confident. The west is waking up and expects a fair volume of spring trade. The south is still inactive and has again suffered a set-back in the shape of serious floods, which have damaged railroads and retarded commerce. The misfortunes of the south do not come singly, and that unhappy section is working out its industrial salvation through great tribulation. A change of fortune may reasonably be expected soon.

In local real estate matters activity seems to have fairly commenced. The transactions of record in Cook county, including transfers, mortgages and trust deeds, have been more numerous the past week than for many months previous. Unfortunately the same can be said of the judgements and chattel mortgages. Many of the real estate transfers have been of more than usual importance. Sales reaching into the hundred thousands are no longer a rarity. The fact that many such sales are now made without exciting more than a passing notice where formerly they were discussed at length in the newspapers, is evidence that, in the general average, Chicago real estate transactions are assuming larger proportions.

This week again affords an example of the folly of holidays and the universal stagnation which they bring to commercial interests. A London dispatch dated Wednesday, two days before Good Friday, says: "There are only holiday markets to-day. The house is closed till Tuesday." Many New York operators left town in the middle of the week on account of the Easter holidays. The effect of a holiday on Friday is a suspension of businsss for half a week, as no successful attempt can be made to resume business on Saturday, and a majority of the operators will not be able to return until late on Monday. Since February 1, there has been on an average one holiday for every fortnight, which appears to be a little more than the general financial interests of the country can stand.

The total volume of bank clearings is greater this week than any week for a month previous. The returns by groups of states, also, show an improvement in each group over previous weeks. The fact that the increase is general would indicate that mercantile business is improving, though but slightly. We have in former issues of the JOURNAL pointed out that any increase in New York city bank clearings could not be taken as indicating an improvement in general trade, because the clearing-house totals of that city are largely influenced by transactions on the stock exchange. New York city is at present the only important financial centre in which the stock exchange transactions pass through the bank clearing-house. A proposition is now before the New York stock exchange to establish a clearing house of its own. It is argued that this would be of great advantage in facilitating transactions which are now conducted in a cumbersome manner through the banks. On the other hand, it is contended that a stock clearing-house would render wild-cat speculation easy and would work to the prejudice of established firms in favor of irresponsible brokers. The movement will probably be defeated.

Meanwhile, the bank clearings must be carefully scrutinized, if correct deductions are to be made as to the relative amount of mercantile business indicated by them. Readers of the JOURNAL should not fall into the trap set for them by the so-called financial paper of this city, which attempts to show that the largely increased total of clearings indicates a general improvement in trade. The fact is that in certain sections of the country, notably in the northwest, there has been an appreciable improvement: but that in the east, especially in New York city, the commercial activity apparently indicated by a large volume of bank clearings is in reality an unusual movement in stocks. Inasmuch as a very large proportion of the general percentage of increase in the bank clearings for several weeks has been due to the increase in New York city returns, it is safe to say that general business has not shown any such remarkable improvement as the aforesaid "financial" paper would have its readers believe.

With the opening of navigation and the rapid movement of wheat and other agricultural products to the seaboard, the clearing house totals of Chicago may be expected to increase handsomely. The table this week indicates that the increase in Chicago clearings over the corresponding week last year was 25 per cent, or nearly as much as New York's increase of 26.6 percent. The Northwestern group, of which Chicago is the centre, shows an increase over last year of 22.6 per cent. Each city in the gronp shows a remarkable increase: Minneapolis, 28.4 percent; Milwaukee, 28.6; Omaha, 29.8; St. Paul, 19.3; Peoria, 20.6; Duluth, 23.9; Sioux City, 9.1; Des Moines, 28.5; and Lincoln, 25.1.

The Western gronp consisting of Cincinnati, Columbus, Cleveland, Detroit, Indianapolis, Louisville Grand Rapids and Lexington show a similar increase. These indications are valuable as affording positive evidence of an improved condition in general trade, inasmuch as these returns are not dependent on speculative exchanges but on actual business transactions.

A comparison by groups of states shows the following.

	WEEK ENDING APR. 8, 1892.	WEEK ENDING APR 9, 1891.	PERCENTAGE.

The Middle, Western and Northwestern groups are the only ones that show increases. The Middle group consists of New York, Philadelphia, Pittsburg and Syracuse. The Western and Northwestern have been enumerated above.

The decrease in the Southern group is clearly due to stagnation in cotton trade, which has rendered the South inactive commercially for many months. The Farwestern group continues to show decreases which attract all the more attention because they are of formidable proportions.

LOCAL STOCK MARKET.

The week has witnessed some increase in the volume of trading on the Chicago Stock Exchange, and the general tendency has been toward enhanced prices. Much of the business has the appearance of being for small investors. Transactions in the street cable lines have been few and no big blocks have changed hands. The friends of these properties are talking a good deal about the new gas motor, which it is claimed will take the place of the horses and so reduce operating expenses to a low point, besides furnishing an improved service. It is given out that the select committee appointed to investigate the real estate deals of the West side street system recently the object of so much adverse comment on the part of the press, has found nothing wrong. Up to the present the committee's report has not been made public, which fact has been made a peg whereon to hang further criticisms. Meanwhile, West side cable has advanced two points in the week.

The property closed, Thursday, at 178⅞ for regular. On no day did more than a few hundred shares change hands, mostly in fifties. West side cable attracted somewhat more attention than the sister line. On Saturday last, the disposal of a few small lots caused a break from 131 to 130½, trade being somewhat interfered with by some fear of a labor strike on the system.

City Railway has moved freely in small lots, and has advanced between three and four points. Few days passed without some half a dozen deals, which for this property is quite a novel experience. The trade in the aggregate was not, however, large, most of the deals being for ten shares, or less. The close, Thursday, was at 333½.

Street Stable car line has fallen upon dull times. Range during the past week being from 37½ to 37⅞, the close being at the latter figure.

Diamond Match was steady at 133, with only an occasional deal. Arc Light and Power entirely neglected, with 90 asked and 88½ bid.

Calumet and Chicago Canal and Dock has been in considerable request, though the advantage has been with the sellers. The range for the week has been quite narrow. The market acted as follows: Opened at 82⅜, advanced to 83, sold down to 82, and closed at 82½. The benefit accruing to stock holders from the new arrangement—allowing purchasers of realty from the company to pay 50 percent of the purchase price in stock, at par—has not as yet been, apparently fully realized. If the purchaser could secure $50,000 of stock at ten percent discount, that is to say at 90, he would be ahead $5,000 on the deal. In fine, as stated in last week's JOURNAL, the special arrangement alluded to holds out an inducement to intending purchasers of the company's lands to buy stock not far from the par value. This property has, however, been, in the past, notoriously manipulated in the interest of a clique, and hence, possibly, the hesitation in the way of an advance.

Packing and Provision continues to find favor, and trading has, at times, been quite heavy, common stock, which has attracted the bulk of the trading, has ranged from 54½ to 55, but closed at 54¾. Preferred Stock, unchanged at 49½.

Brewing and Malting has further weakened during the week. Common stock has sold as low at 26½, for the account. Preferred stock has receded from 40¾ to 39.

American Strawboard is not fulfilling the expectations of its friends. During the week it has sold down, from 77½ to 75⅝, upon moderate trading.

The bond market of the Chicago Stock Exchange has experienced quite a lively time, and gas bonds have made substantial advances. Gas Light and Coke 5s., has advanced from 83⅞ to 89⅜, with 89¼ bid at the close, Thursday. During the first four days of the current week, over $230,000 of these bonds changed hands, of which amount far the larger share—or $188,000—were placed on Monday and Tuesday. The advance in Consumer's gas 5s, has been even more substantial, viz:, from 84½ to 86. Business done, over $85,000 in course of the week. West Chicago Street Railway debenture 6s,, $27,000 sold on Wednesday at par. North Chicago City Railway 4½s., $50,000 changed hands, on Tuesday, at 95½. Among miscellaneous bonds: Western Stone Co. 5s., at 95. West Chicago street Railroad Tunnel 5s., at 95.

Among the deals of the week, the following may be enumerated. Central Union Telephone, at 54¼ cash, New York Biscuit, at 68.

Application has been made to the Chicago Stock Exchange to list $300,000 Unity Building 6s.

GROUND RENTS, VALUES, TITLES AND BUILDING ASSOCIATIONS.

BY EDWARD ATKINSON OF BOSTON.

EXTRACT FROM A LETTER ADDRESSED TO HIS EXCELLENCY, JOHN P. BUCHANAN, GOVERNOR OF TENNESSEE, AND READ BEFORE THE NATIONAL REAL ESTATE CONGRESS FEB. 18.

I have already called your attention to the expediency of adopting the Torrens' system of registering land titles in place of the present system of registering deeds, whereby the State may remove the clouds which now rest over the title to many lands in your State.

I venture to suggest an investigation, either on the part of the representatives of the Real Estate Congress, or on the part of the State legislatures, in respect to the methods which have been so completely evolved in Pennsylvania and in somewhat lesser measure in Maryland, to wit: the system of terminable ground rents.

You will find that the city of Philadelphia has become a great and prosperous centre of manufacturing industry and at the same time the city of homes of an immense number of skilled mechanics, largely through its admirable methods by which the wide distribution of land has been promoted. In the first place, the building act of the city of Philadelphia requires a certain adequate amount of open space or yard ratio to each family occupying a dwelling in that part of the city which is devoted to the construction of dwelling houses.

Next, land is sold in small parcels on ground rents, terminable at the option of the lessee after a given period. Land purchased upon these terms is practically vested by title in the lessee so long as he shall pay the ground rent, but this ground rent may be compounded on given terms after a certain period by payment of a lump sum, or by several payments, according to the conditions of the conveyance. This method differs from the ordinary bond and mortgage in the fact that there is no actual note payable at a fixed date, so that the occupant of land cannot be foreclosed, and cannot be called upon for payment of the capitalized value of the rental at a fixed time, when he might not be able to pay so much, although he may be perfectly able to pay the annual ground rent.

The next special feature of the Philadelphia method is the very wide and successful organization of the building associations; to this feature has been added in recent years a system of insuring the title and also the life of the lessee by a title insurance company. It therefore follows by a combination of these methods, an industrious man with but a few dollars in his pocket can become to all intents and purposes the owner of a sufficient parcel of land for a dwelling or home. By joining a building association he readily procures the money to build his house. By insuring his title and his life he assures to his heirs the full paid-up value of the land and dwelling in case of his death before he, himself, has earned the money wherewith to meet his obligations from time to time in installments.

The next subject to which I would call your attention in connection with the distribution of land is the savings bank system of the Eastern states, especially in New England. These banks are organized wholly for the benefit of depositors. They are managed in their executive work by paid officers, but the choice, control and management of the investment of the money is in the hands of unpaid trustees, who consider that this work is a part of their duty to society, and which they conduct consistently with the laws of the state by which their powers and duties are prescribed.

During the period of their existence the total amount of money that has been placed in the savings bank of Massachusetts has been over $2,000,000,000. Of this sum the amount now remaining on deposit representing the original deposit with such accumulations of interest as may have accrued, is over $350,000,000. The owners of these deposits number about 1,000,000 persons, being nearly one in two of the population of the State. There are some duplications, but the total number of depositors represented by this number probably stands for 900,000 separate individuals, at least three quarters of whom are believed to be working people in the strictest sense of the term, i. e: mechanics, laborers, domestic servants, clerks, etc.

Now the benefit of this system is not only in the saving but perhaps even more in the lending. The investment perhaps more sought than any other by the trustees of the savings banks is a mortgage upon real estate; and both in the city, but still more in the suburbs and factory towns, these mortgages are apt to represent sums borrowed by the working people of the same class who make the deposits, who thus secure the land and buildings which constitute their dwelling places. Thus this system works to double advantage; it leads to saving and also provides loans for the working people, with which to become owners of their dwellings.

There are some slight variations from the Philadelphia system which could be incorporated with it that would make it yet more advantageous to people of small means. I think a rental of say $60 a year might be well represented by ten certificates of $6—each numbers I to X, subject to being purchased by the lessee or grantee on a given notice for the sum of $100 each. These he might not discharge of record as he purchased them, becoming to that extent his own landlord. Such certificates being secured by a lien on the land would be available as security for temporary loan at any time to the owner himself or any one else.

The Southern states are to be congratulated on the break in the "boom method of selling corner lots" before the speculation in land had reached such magnitude that it would have worked a great if only a temporary disaster. Nothing can retard the true progress of town city or State so much as to set the prices of land at a high point before the occupation. The men who make a state great and prosperous are those who have their capital in their heads and but little in their pockets. High and speculative prices of land keep them out, while they invite a class to come in who hope to get rich out of other people's work; in which undertaking they are rather apt to fail, but as the fools are not all dead yet, they sometimes attain a temporary success.

Very respectfully and truly yours,

EDWARD ATKINSON.

THE C. M. AND ST. P. CAR SHOPS.

STORIES GOT UP TO SELL LOTS.

About a year and a half ago this JOURNAL announced that the C. M. & St. P. Ry. Co. would build side tracks and car yards on the Council Bluffs' Division between Cragin and Galewood. Since then stories have been in circulation to the effect that the Company would soon remove their shops and works from Milwaukee to Galewood or Cragin and that all of their employes would follow. Recently another story gained credence to the effect that the C. M. & St. P. Ry. shops would be removed and placed at Pennock, a suburb on the Milwaukee Division about one mile north of Pacific Junction, and that the Chicago and North Western Ry. Co. would join with the St. Paul Company in erecting mammoth shops and works at said point. This is the kind of rot that has helped to injure the real estate business, and should be frowned down. As stated before the JOURNAL will announce the location of all important enterprises as soon as decided upon.

THE REAL ESTATE MARKET.

OUTER BELT LINE IMPROVEMENTS.

Unfavorable weather conditions have been responsible to a great degree for the dullness of the week in real estate circles. A week including a semi-holiday and broken up by unseasonable weather could not be expected to develop a spring trade. Enough business has been done, however, to demonstrate the fact that the weather really is to blame for the inactive market. There is a tendency to make a scapegoat of any available feature in excusing an unsatisfactory season. In the present case the blame seems to be justly placed. The few periods of good weather which have been sandwiched in between unseasonable periods, have been immediately reflected in increased sales and reports of renewed inquiry. Brokers continue in the belief that with settled seasonable weather a general business in subdivisions and in property for improvement will spring up. The conditions are such as warrant such a belief. Money for investment was never more plentiful and interest rates have seldom been lower than at present. The movement among manufacturers toward Chicago continues to grow stronger rather than less marked. The speculative element which was supposed to have dropped out of the market entirely has made its appearance in the form of outside capital seeking acre purchases. One of the extensive subdivisions which has been exploited by various firms during the last two years has just been closed out to a West Superior subdivision firm. Butler & McCabe bought the unsold portion of Edison Park through Dunlap Smith & Co. for $100,000. This property was sold for a syndicate headed by Charles E. Simmons. It lies midway between Des Plaines and Norwood Park. The purchasers are successful subdividers who have been operating in West Superior, Wis. The sale is of some interest as indicating a movement on the northwest side, a part of the city which has not been in any great demand by outside subdivision operations.

A syndicate represented in Chicago by Jernberg & Rylander has placed a tract of 1,000 acres at Eola under contract of purchase, at about $100,000. This land is at the junction of the Chicago, Burlington & Quincy and the Elgin Joliet and Eastern railroads, just east of Aurora. The same general plan is outlined by the purchasers as has been followed in the establishment of industrial towns. Manufacturing industries will be induced to locate at the new town. Among those which have made partial arrangements to remove to Eola is a company which manufactures tilting steel windmills.

A similar acre deal is in progress at Rondout at the intersection of the St. Paul and Elgin, Joliet and Eastern railroads. An option has been secured by parties connected with the St. Paul Railroad company, and represented by B. M. Weil of Milwaukee, on between 1,000 and 2,000 acres of land. The price is said to be about $250 an acre.

Both of these operations indicate the movement which is on foot towards the establishment of a chain of industrial towns along the line of the Elgin, Joliet & Eastern railroad. Ever since this road was projected, it was claimed by the promoters that its completion would result in attracting manufacturing interests which require rail shipping facilities. It describes a circle or segment of a circle around the city far enough out to include cheap acre tracts. The combination of cheap land, with shipping facilities equal to, or better than those furnished in the heart of the city, was expected to be a drawing card with large manufacturing companies. Small industries, or industries which supply a strictly city trade, are possibly better accommodated nearer the heart of the city. More extensive plants, however, shipments from which are made entirely by rail, find locations outside of the city where land can be secured cheaply to be fully as desirable as those nearer the centre. The theory of the promoters of the Outer Belt Line that a chain of manufacturing towns would spring up along this line seems to have been well founded. Acre tracts are being secured at the intersection of this road with almost every road radiating from Chicago.

It is not at all probable that manufacturing towns of unusual size will be located at every one of the intersecting points which are formed between Waukegan on the north and the point on the south lake shore where the road terminates. There are too many radiating lines and too many intersecting points which are placed practically on a par as far as shipping facilities are concerned. It is probable, however, that a great many of the acre projects which are on foot will materialize, and it is at least safe to say that a proposed town on the line of this Belt road will have at least a better chance for success than the innumerable points which are being developed with scarcely any railroad facilities to recommend them to eastern manufacturers. At any rate, the completion of the line has caused property all along its route to appreciate in value. It is claimed that the work which is being done at Waukegan on the north, and at Chicago Heights on the south, will be in some degree duplicated at a number of the thirty odd similar intersecting points on the road.

Outside of these operations in acres, there has been little of special interest in the general market. A lease of the property on Washington street, just across the alley from the Merchants' building, From George F. Harding, Jr. to Frank C. Giddings at a rental of $11,400 per annum, was recorded. This property is known as Nos. 155 and 157 Washington street and is 40½x102 feet. The building is to be remodeled. Among the other operations, of which the public received a first intimation from a transcript of the records, were the lease of the property just north of the river on Clark street, and the purchase of a site by the Chicago Edison company. In the first case, the leasehold and building at Nos. 1 and 3 N. Clark street has been transferred by Jacob Johnson to Otto Ernst for $40,000. This property was sold about a year ago, by Jacob Johnson for $50,000. He took back a 198 year lease of the property at a valuation determined by the sale. The property has dockage on the Chicago river, the rear being used by the Anchor Line of steamships. The purchaser of the lease is a well-known brewer, who will remodel the building and add two stories to it. In the Chicago Edison purchase, the transfer is made of 110x280 feet at the northeast corner of Charles and Harrison streets, from Franklin S. Hanson for $100,000, and of an adjoining place on Charles street, 120x280 feet, from the Chicago Dry Dock company for $90,000. The entire site has a frontage of 280 feet on Harrison street and 231 feet on the river and Charles street. The consideration is equivalent to $822 a front foot. The property will be improved by the erection of a large electric plant and supply station.

SOUTH SIDE SALES.

Two South side avenue sales have been reported by H. O. Stone & Co. In each case, the purchaser is Daniel McCallay. A frontage of sixty feet at Nos. 1322 and 1324 Michigan avenue was sold to J. Irving Pearce for $100,000. The property has an east frontage and is 171 feet deep. A lot of the same size, at Nos. 1311 and 1313 Wabash avenue was sold for William R. Wilson for $70,000. Neither property is improved with good buildings and the Michigan avenue lot is to be improved with a fine apartment house. Speculation as to the disposal of the Honore Block will be checked for a time at least. Arrangements have been practically completed for a lease of the building for a year and six months to a local syndicate. The property will be operated in its present condition as an office building for one year or until May 1893. It will at that time be fitted up temporarily as a hotel and operated as such during the World's Fair. It is not at all unlikely that this temporary arrangement will result in the final improvement of the site of the Honore block with a fine hotel.

ACTIVITY AT WIRETON PARK.

B. F. Jacobs & Co., report continued building activity at Wireton Park. The Farquar Heating works, employing between 100 and 200 men are now in operation. The main building is 210x210 feet. The Steel Barb Wire company which employs 100 men will build soon. The Chicago Wire and Spring company with the largest wire mill building in the world, 720 x150 feet and employing 300 men, will be in operation in a few days. Wireton Park is a fair sample of a large number of manufacturing towns now being built in Chicago's suburbs. Statistics show that the manufacturing capital of Chicago increased between 1880 and 1890, from $81,725,000 to $190,000,000. At the present rate of increase the next ten years will show an enormous advance over the last decade.

FEATURES OF THE RENTAL SEASON.

Brokers who have anything to rent find no difficulty in securing tenants at prices much in advance of previous years. Slight relief has been found from the fact that a large number of two and three year leases were made last year, but still the demand for tenantable property is undiminished, and it is safe to say there will be hardly an unrented flat or house in the entire city on the second day of May. In nearly every case rents have been increased ten to twenty-five per cent and that frequently without any repairs or improvements. Where two-year leases have been written the rule has been almost invariably to refuse repairs. Also in such cases an increased rental has been charged, but there have been instances in which two-year leases have been made without an increase of rent. These cases are clearly in favor of the tenant, as an enormous increase may reasonably be expected next season.

REAL ESTATE SALES UNDER DECRETAL ORDERS.

In the recently adopted rules of the Circuit and Superior Courts the following section appears:

10½. All decrees and orders of this Court directing the public sale of any real estate, or an interest therein, shall provide that such sale shall be made at the rooms of the Chicago Real Estate Board in the City of Chicago, unless the Court—for cause shown—shall otherwise order.

A glance at the decretal sales printed in another column of this paper will reveal the fact that a large number of sales have been advertised to be held at the Real Estate Board, and that from henceforth several sales each day may be expected from the Board rooms. The first decretal sale in the new quarters was held yesterday. Notwithstanding the fact that the rules of both courts concur in designating the Board rooms as the proper place for holding these sales, a number of sales have been set for the court house and two for the Real Estate Exchange. It would be interesting to know whether the validity of a sale could be attacked on the ground that it was held in a place other than the place designated by the rules of court. The Real Estate Board has expended a good deal of money in fitting up the rooms in an attractive manner for these sales. Regular auction sales of other property will not be attempted at present, but it is hoped that they will be the natural outcome of the decretal sales.

The Board is preparing for its annual dinner, which will be held at the Union League Club on Thursday evening April 28. The subject to be discussed will be, "Real Estate After the World's Fair." The discussion is looked forward to with great interest.

A NOVEL ENTERPRISE

Is that of the Summer Club, a North Side literary and political organization. This club proposes to become owners of some profitable real estate. It has secured the improved corner of North Clark street, Ogden front and Wells street at a valuation of $55,000. Shares of stock to cover this amount will be issued at $100 each, payable at $40 down and $1 a month thereafter. The present improvements pay an annual rental of $3,700, but it is proposed when the property is fully paid for, to erect a seven-story structure on the site, which shall contain stores and apartments and ample accommodations for the club.

GOOD NEWS FOR NORTH SHORE RESIDENTS.

FOUR NEW TRAINS BOTH WAYS ON THE C. M. ST. P. RY.

Mr. F. A. Miller, Asst. Genl. Pass. Agt. of the Chicago Milwaukee & St. Paul Railway notifies the public that the above road will add four more trains in each direction on the Evanston Division, commencing Sunday April 24. This will materially improve the present service by relieving overcrowded cars. The service on this line is already good, but it will now be excellent. North Shore property owners and real estate men operating in that direction can be congratulated in receiving this benefit at the very opening of the business season which already promises so much. This is just what the good people of Evanston, Rogers Park, Edgewater, Wilmette and a half dozen other fine suburban towns have long desired. It places them all in the front rank as delightful and convenient residence places. This Company will also add a Sunday train on the Council Bluffs Division that will leave the Canal street depot at 1:30 p. m., stopping at Cragin, Dunning and other immediate points between Manheim and the Junction and returning from Manheim at 5:25 p. m. This train will be well patronized by young people who enjoy an outing on Sunday afternoon, and will be of service to real estate auctions when held on Sunday.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS.

CORRESPONDENTS SEEK INFORMATION AS TO THE PROSPECTS OF IMPORTANT ENTERPRISES.

The following communications relative to several large Chicago enterprises are given as samples of letters received almost daily at the JOURNAL office. They indicate the widespread interest which is felt in Chicago property and show the extent to which the JOURNAL is regarded as representative of the real estate interests throughout the entire country.

OAKLAND, ILL., April 7, 1892.

MR. R. C. SMYERS,

Dear Sir:—Enclosed pleased find deposit to pay subscription to the REAL ESTATE AND BUILDING JOURNAL as per enclosed statement. Will you please tell me what you think of Chicago Heights' future as a manufacturing center? Which would you consider has the most promising prospect as an industrial center Chicago Heights or Waukegan? Please acknowledge receipt of this and oblige.

Yours respectfully, J. H. BUSBEY.

While not desiring to decry the merits of Waukegan, the JOURNAL is of the opinion that Chicago Heights has some very strong points in its favor. As a railroad centre it possesses many advantages and it is also near to Chicago, which is strongly in its favor. It is in the general direction of the march of improvement and extension which for some time has been southward; and the enterprise is the hands of a strong syndicate of wealthy capitalists who are amply able to make any undertaking a financial success. Already large manufacturing interests have located at Chicago Heights and yet only a beginning has been made. The prospects are bright for a great manufacturing centre at this point within a surprisingly short time.

We are informed that the new opera house at Chicago Heights will be open to the public Monday April 18th, 1892. It has a seating capacity of 700 and is a magnificent structure in every respect. Much credit is due to Mr. J. Howard McEldowney, the real estate editor of the Chicago Tribune, for it was through his efforts and financiering that Chicago Heights has today an opera house that would do credit to a city of 100,000 population.

Chicago Heights is destined to be a large manufacturing city and has already commenced to assume metropolitan airs. Seventeen miles of macadamized streets and stone sidewalks will be constructed this season. The work of macadamizing is progressing very rapidly under the supervision of Dolese & Shepard, who have a large number of men and teams at work.

THE COLUMBIA STEEL CAR WORKS.

The following letter, which explains itself, relates to a subject of interest to many owners of property in the northwestern suburbs.

ANAMOSA, IA., April 12, 1892.

Editor REAL ESTATE AND BUILDING JOURNAL.
Chicago, Ill.

Dear Sir:—If not asking too much would you do me a great kindness by answering the following questions:

First. Is the Columbia Steel Car company a thing of the past or is it still alive? If alive, what is it doing?

Second. Are there at present other manufacturing institutions, or improvements of any kind being made on the Columbia Steel Car company's grounds?

Third. Do you think an electric railway will be built this year from Chicago to Desplaines?

Fourth. Do you think a depot will be built this year on the Northwestern railway between Park Ridge and Desplaines?

By answering the above questions you will confer a great favor. I have an eye on that territory and am anxious for reliable information.

Yours very truly, CLARENCE WOOD.

Mr. Benjamin F. Holmes representative of the Columbia Steel Car Works Company, was seen by a reporter for the JOURNAL and said that the company was still alive and getting ready for business. He thought that other manufacturing establishments would soon be located on the company's grounds near Desplaines. As to the electric road, it seemed impossible for that project to be completed this year owing to inability to secure an entire right of way. The construction of the depot between Park Ridge and Desplaines was in the hands of property-owners near the proposed depot site. If they contributed liberally to the building fund the depot would be built, but the Northwestern railroad company had refused to provide for any portion of the expense.

Mr. Holmes further said that the rumors about English capitalists acquiring the property of the Columbia Steel Car Company were entirely unfounded and that whatever was done would be with American capital.

CURRENT COMMENT.

The recent Pearce street building disaster has aroused a spirit of inquiry into building methods which cannot fail to be productive of good results. The investigation does not show that the Pearce street structure was more faulty in construction than many another building, but this very fact is what renders the situation serious. If the structure which fell with such a terrible loss of life is typical of any considerable class of Chicago buildings, it is time some measures were taken to prevent future occurrences of this kind. No class of our citizens can afford to have even a probability of such accidents, and least of all can builders afford to run such grave risks. The bricklayers at least are alive to this fact. At a recent meeting of the Bricklayers' Union resolutions were adopted and submitted to the common council, deploring the present system of appointing building inspectors and urging that competent bricklayers or masons should be the inspectors of masonry. The union also tendered its assistance in the framing of ordinances to guard against building accidents. It is to be hoped that the new committee on building ordinances will be able to adopt such measures as will prevent the recurrence of an accident like the Pearce street horror.

The corporation counsel has been called upon for an opinion as to whether the council may by ordinance prohibit the collection of more than three cents from passengers on street cars who are not provided with or tendered seats. This is a move in the right direction. It is a compromise with the "no seat, no fare" agitation and, if legal, should be incorporated into an ordinance at once. The shameful manner in which the needs of the public are ignored by the street-car companies of this city has become well nigh unbearable; and to remedy the evil the council would be justified in adopting heroic measures.

The comparative values of real estate in various parts of the city are determined by the relative facilities of transportation. The reason that South side property has long been at the front and still attracts the chief attention of investors, is because South side transportation facilities are superior. What the South side has gained by reason of its good railway accommodations the North and West sides have lost by their notoriously inadequate accommodations. Furthermore, this transportation problem is of direct interest to every real estate dealer in the city. On its solution depends the value of property; and an advance in values in any one section of the city has a tendency to tone up prices in every other section. By all means let us have vigorous legislation on the part of the common council on the street-car question, so that it will no longer be necessary for citizens to ride like cattle, in cold cars, huddled together and trampled on.

A citizen of the West side puts the matter of relative values in a strong light when he says that the glare which has been cast over the South side by the World's Fair has so dazzled the eyes of many investors as to hide from sight other valuable places for capital, notably Madison street, which he thinks is the greatest business thoroughfare in Chicago. At any equally distant point from their common centre Madison street has a higher value than State street. For instance, the Dearborn street corner sold for the highest price, and the northwest corner of Clark and Madison streets was leased at the best figure ever obtained in Chicago. The corner of Halsted street has been recently rented at figures which prove it to be nearly as good a business centre as the corner of State and Madison streets. The lease of the corner of Ashland avenue on a basis of $1,500 a foot was remarkable. Madison street is paved from the lake to the Des Plaines river; and it has the longest line of cable and electric cars in the city. From Crawford avenue west, for four miles through the handsome residence district of Austin and Oak Park, Madison street is 120 feet wide.

The rule that no water mains shall be laid unless the property-owners advance the entire assessment is likely to work disaster to street improvements in the outlying districts unless some relief can be had. It has been found that the enforcement of this rule has resulted in a practical cessation of all improvements in some locations, inasmuch as the property-owners refuse to advance the money and the streets can not be paved until the water pipes are laid. The water fund is exhausted, and the work is now about at a stand still. To meet the emergency it is proposed that the council authorize the comptroller to issue two-year certificates against the future earnings of the water fund for that period, the money so raised to be used in making water-main extensions. Corporation Counsel Miller is of the opinion that the incoming council will have the right to pledge the income of the water during its own existence—two years. The Aldermen from the outlying wards will strongly support the measure and it is thought they can secure its passage.

The citizens of Chicago may congratulate themselves that so solid and conservative a body as the Union League club has given its sanction to the Drainage law and the efforts of the Drainage Board to carry out the provisions of the measure. This is one of the most important public enterprises that has ever been undertaken, and on its success depends the future welfare of this city physically and commercially to a very large degree. Its final accomplishment will incur an expenditure of from $20,000,000 to $40,000,000, but this cost will be as nothing compared with the benefits to be secured. Not only will Chicago secure on inexhaustible supply of pure water for all time to come, but if the proposal to make the rock channel eighteen feet deep shall be adopted, provision will have been made for a commercial waterway direct from South America to the great lakes

The enterprise is of such magnitude and the amount of money to be expended is so great that the ever-jealous public has been constantly on guard against possible corruption in the Board, and the plans and movements of the commissioners have been the subject of much political and personal contention. But, fortunately, the inauguration of actual work on the drainage channel is attended with more than the usual good will and confidence in such undertakings, and the indications point to a peacable and successful prosecution of this grand work.

The subject of good roads is still at the front. A recent article in the century for April has given an added impetus to the agitation. The facts and figures given, illustrated by drawings taken from photographs of bad roads, put the entire matter in a vivid and impressive light. Probably no better example of a system of good roads can be given than that of the roads of France. France has 87 departments, answering somewhat to our counties. The general government constructs national roads, which cross several departments, connecting important cities and towns: and also departmental roads, which connect the chief cities and towns within the department. No part of the road system escapes attention, and every road is subdivided into sections and placed in charge of a man who is responsible for its condition. France has spent about $600,000,000 in the construction of her common roads, and now annually spends about $18,000,000, or three per cent of the cost, in keeping them in repair. Mr. Francis B. Loomis, commercial agent at St. Etienne, considers the road system of France of more value than the railways, in raising the value of lands and facilitating communication.

A recent effort has been made to provide good roads for Illinois by the introduction of a bill in the State legislature by Representative Paddock of Kankakee. Mr. Paddock says that during the last twenty years the State has expended nearly thirty millions of dollars for roads exclusive of bridges and he asks what has been the result of all this expenditure. What is needed is a different method of road making; instead of dirt roads we should have stone roads. The bill introduced by Mr. Paddock was not acted upon at the last session, but the agitation in favor of good roads has gone so far that doubtless some such measure will be considered in the near future.

BUILDING AND LOAN CONGRESS.

WILL ECLIPSE THE NATIONAL REAL ESTATE ASSOCIATION.

Something new is already looming up in the real estate world. Right on the heels of the National Real Estate Congress comes the announcement that a "Building and Loan Congress," representing fifteen states and several territories has been organized at the Grand Pacific hotel in Chicago. The initial meeting was held Thursday to prepare for the World's Fair.

Representatives of building and loan associations, were called together to form a United States league of building and loan associations. There were about seventy-five representative building association secretaries and presidents in attendance. Judge Seymour Dexter, president of the New York state league presided, and Henry S. Rosenthal of Cincinnati was elected secretary. The object of the national association is to bring the state leagues into more closer union and to strengthen the local associations.

C. C. Bonney of the World's Fair Congress auxiliary addressed the meeting in the afternoon, dwelling at some length on the importance of building and loan associations upon the basis that upon the home depends the future prosperity of the nation. Mr. Bonney outlined the work upon which he is engaged, and said that a congress of the associations represented at the meeting could fittingly find a place in either the department of building or of finance. He urged that one of the subjects for discussion by the congress should be the non-taxable nature of a home.

GRAVE DANGERS POINTED OUT.

THE IMPERATIVE NEED OF STATE SUPERVISION FOR BUILDING SOCIETIES.

A correspondent of the Building Association Record calls attention to the present chaotic condition of affairs among building associations and the need of State supervision. He says: We all know that the foundation and basis of financial institutions is confidence, and nowhere is this more displayed than in our building associations. This is why all possible safeguards should be thrown around the latter and their management. No better protection can be given to the stockholders than State supervision, under some thoroughly competent and honest official, who will do his duty without fear or favor; treat friend and foe alike and have but one thought and idea—to faithfully perform his duty.

An examination of some of the statements published by some of the secretaries of our building associations last January, will satisfy the most incredulous of the necessity of having official control through the State of these financial institutions, which have now grown to such vast proportions all over the continent.

Not only should the honesty of the management and the officers be supervised, but it would also be well for some one to have something to say as to the proper expenditure and husbanding of the funds of these associations. Why is it, for instance, that successful and prosperous associations can and are run at an average expense of say $80 a month, while others not more, if as successful and prosperous require $125 and even $150 to be taken out of their treasuries every month for expenses? Then again, look at the stationery and advertising accounts of some associations. Why such extravagance? and a showing of earnings of from 8 per cent to 11 per cent per annum only, when associations without dabbling too heavily in printers' goods, ink and self-praise earn and make as high as 15 per cent per annum? Are not these so-called "Executive Committees" after all too exclusive and powerful? Stockholders having such committees provided for in their by-laws, might profit by the old saying "a word to the wise etc." Then again cast your eye over some "Charter and Fixtures" accounts and ask yourself if the secretaries are not fixing up a bank or palace for and office. So far as the charter fee is concerned, the fees to the State are the same for the same amount of capital stock. What becomes of the fixtures at the wind-up of the association?

We understand that some associations pay what is called a "safe rent" at about $5 a month, or in 100 months (the supposed and alleged life of these institutions) $500. This sum is a good price for the purchase outright of the usual run of safes, which will at the end of the association belong to the secretary. It is an unwarranted loss. If you are a director who has charge of the money of the poor laborer and saving man and woman, we ask the questions: have you ever given this matter a second thought, and do you really think you are doing right in permitting this in addition to paying office rent and large salaries, and allowing your secretary to advertise his business at the cost and expense of your hard working stockholders? Could not a law be framed that would allow the Inspector to stop and prevent such abuses?

HONDURAS.

SOME FACTS ABOUT THIS COUNTRY IN PARTICULAR AND COLONIZATION SCHEMES ELSEWHERE IN GENERAL.

The old truth that "distance lends enchantment" is doubtless the best explanation of the seeming success of many schemes for colonization of countries so remote that only occasional news is heard from them. A few years ago a colonization office was opened in this city for the development of lands on Puget Sound. The project was denominated "co-operative." It was calculated to catch the small investor, especially the workingman. Thousands flocked to the office and hundreds bought shares and lots. There are heart-sore people in this city to-day who have been wondering for a long time why they were so foolish as to invest in this "scheme."

Another remarkable instance of financiering was the Topolobambo Bay colony. This also was co-operative. A civil engineer employed to survey a railroad across the mountains to Topolobambo Bay in northern Mexico, spent his spare time in writing a pamphlet illustrated with maps and describing the beauties of the country and the glories of an imaginary colony and his equally imaginary railroad. A New York publishing house printed the pamphlet and sold it at a remunerative price to people who were dissatisfied with their lot. The sale of this book was positively the only agitation required. Hundreds of "colonists" flocked to the bay. When they arrived there they found themselves several hundred miles distant from railway communications, on an uninhabited coast, without water or timber, forced to live in tents during the entire year and with nothing to eat after their scanty supply of food was exhausted except a small amount of ground corn. The railroad was never built. Many of the colonists were stricken with fever and died. Others survived and are still living isolated from all the world on the lonely Pacific coast, the victims of the unscrupulous greed of men who are to-day walking the streets of New York dressed in broadcloth and wearing diamonds.

A short time ago a party of explorers and colonists made a trip to Honduras. The country had been pictured to them in glowing terms, and they went ill-prepared for the experiences that followed. The story of their hardships and exposures has been fully told in the daily press. Yet their example will not deter other fortune-seekers from encountering a similar experience.

Honduras has been the subject of more generous praise and liberal advertising on the part of various boomers in the United States during the past few years than any other foreign country. The little Central American republic lies between 13 and 16 degrees north of the Equator, with the Carribean Sea on one side and the Pacific Ocean on the other. It is the largest of all the Central American states except Mexico, but is thinly populated, having only about 350,000 inhabitants. The northern coast line of Honduras stretches in a general direction east and west and lies about 900 miles due south of New Orleans.

Honduras is a mountainous country and its climate is very varied. In the low plains near the sea the air is hot. In the mountainous regions it is comparatively cool. All varieties of agricultural products, from oranges and bananas to apples and pears, grow in Honduras. In the warmer portions of the country the magnificence of the foliage is truly tropical. Throughout the greater part of the republic cool sea breezes are said to temper the tropical heat even in mid-summer.

The boomers of Honduras acres—who are compelled by a cruel fate to remain in Chicago and New York—claim that Honduras is an altogether delightful place to live in. They descant at length on the salubrity of the climate and the fertility of the soil, and endeavor to convey the impression that it is comparatively easy to get rich in Honduras by planting bananas, pine-apples, etc. For this purpose, seductive figures are given showing the cost of cultivating per acre and the profits to be expected. These are very generously stated as from $18 to $58 per acre of bananas for the first year and from $98 to $218 per acre for each subsequent year. Cocoanuts are expected to yield a clear profit of as high as $250 per acre, and sugar-cane from $40 to $120 per acre. So much for the profitableness of the crops—on paper. Very little is said about the facilities for marketing these crops. The less said on this subject the better. One writer, however, very flippantly says: "All fruits and products which the colonists may wish to raise can be sold at the ship's side for cash and at good prices, as competition is open for all buyers."

"The facts about Honduras" of an opposite nature to those detailed above would make a volume of interesting reading especially to those who have been induced to invest spare cash in the country. In the first place, the territory which is open to settlement is practically inaccessible for commercial purposes. With the possible exception of Puerto Cortez and Truxillo, there are no harbors whatever along the northern coast of Honduras. Even at the points named there are no wharves and all cargoes must be loaded and unloaded from lighters. The prevailing winds are from the north, and consequently it is so dangerous for large vessels to attempt to effect a landing or to lie near the shore that all large steamers engaged in the fruit trade studiously avoid the eastern coast of Honduras and make for the more sheltered lagoons and harbors of Nicaragua. So that practically there are few if any vessels engaged in the fruit trade in that portion of Honduras. The result is that crops of bananas are allowed to rot on the ground because they cannot be marketed at any price.

The lack of harbors, also, accounts for the fact that passengers to Honduras find it almost impossible to induce ship captains to put them ashore at any point east of Truxillo. Once on shore, however, there is little or no chance of getting aboard a homeward bound vessel unless by a trip overland to Truxillo, a distance of from sixty to 150 miles. The situation might not be serious if it were not for the fact that provisions and supplies of all kinds must be transported in this way over the a country totally without roads and which is for the most part merely a wilderness.

The proper development of Honduras would require the construction of at least one good harbor, with docks and breakwaters, at an enormous expense. It would further entail the building of wagon roads in an entirely new country and the establishment of a base of supplies for provisions which would be ample and permanent. Attempts of this kind have been made in a very feeble manner, but until something on a grander scale than anything we have yet seen shall be accomplished it is preposterous to attempt to sell lands there at prices higher than lands can be bought in States adjoining Illinois.

"THE LAW'S DELAY."

ANOTHER VIEW OF THE SAME SUBJECT.

There is no doubt much reason exists for complaint by litigants as to "the law's delay" and as little doubt that you gave the wrong reason for such complaint in your issue of April 2d. The fault is not with the system of doing business in our courts but the amount of business the courts have to do. There is too much business for the Judges. That the machinery of the law in this State does not "handicap and delay justice" is evidenced by the fact that outside of Cook county the court dockets are regularly cleaned up every term of court, which is from two to four times a year. Here the courts are open continuously for nine months in the year, and yet the dockets are from one two years behind. The reason why they are behind will be apparent from the following:

During the year closing with the date of your last issue there were begun in our Circuit and Superior courts alone 18,683 suits. In those two courts there are eighteen judges. Of these three are constantly at the Criminal court. Three others are assigned to the Appellate court. During that time four Judges resigned their positions on the bench to resume them at the bar as being more conducive to ease and comfort both physical and financial. The wear and tear of judicial life brought several others to long and wearisome beds of sickness and one to his death. Making a conservative allowance for the time consumed in electing successors to those who resigned and died, the time taken up by sickness and other causes with those above mentioned, the number of judges actively engaged in clearing the Circuit and Superior court dockets of those 18,683 cases would not exceed on an average nine judges per day for the year. This would give each judge something over 2,000 cases to hear and determine, or one about every thirty minutes of the time they are on the bench during the year. It is true many of these cases are confessions of judgment which only take the attention of the judge a few minutes, but, then cases are not infrequently drawn out to a week or month long.

The merits and demerits of the code and common law systems of pleading and practice is a large subject upon which I will not enter. It is a significant fact however, that the greatest lawyer Wisconsin ever produced, Matt Carpenter, much preferred our system to that of his own State. And with no disparagement to the New York bar, to whose prestige no commendation of mine could add, it is but simple truth to say that in all the elements that go to make up great lawyers, the bar of Chicago is it's peer.

AGENTS' BUDGET.

Recent sales, however small, not yet recorded, will be reported in this column. All matter must apply to the real estate business and real estate men.

J. H. Van Vlissingen & Bro. report sales this week at Roseland as follows: Lot 204 Roseland addition to Chicago, $425. Lots 223 and 224, Roseland addition, $900. Lot 5 and the north ½ lot 6 in block 2, Homestead addition to Pullman, $900. Lots 12 and 13 block 1, Vander, Syde & Bartlett's addition to Pullman, $1,500.

The regular meeting of the Real Estate Exchange was held yesterday afternoon. It is expected that auction sales will be held in the Exchange rooms beginning about May 1. The delay has been due to some technicality in the incorporation of the Exchange, which has been remedied by applying for a new certificate of incorporation.

J. Mathews, steel boiler manufacturer, formerly of South Bend Indiana, and the Chicago Rock-Faced Stone Company, have been located at Harvey by the Harvey Land Association.

The West Pullman Land Association will erect a three-story hotel building, to have a frontage of 75 feet, at the southwest corner of 120th and Halsted streets. W. R. Kerr reports the total sale of lots for the last ten days as amounting to $50,000.

Captain Jacob Johnson has sold the land and building known as 1 and 3 North Clark street. Wendelin Ernst, the brewer, is the purchaser, and he will remodel the building, add two stories to it, and put in a system of elevators. The basement will be used for cold storage purposes, the first floor by Henry and Tony Brueggesradt's cafe, and the three upper floors by printing offices. The Anchor Line of vessels has its office at the rear of the building, to reach which it uses a sidewalk belonging to the property. For this it pays a monthly rental of $75.

The southeast corner of Main & Hickory streets, 404x296 feet, has been purchased by Goodwillie & Goodwillie, for $48,500. The site is to be occupied by a big box factory.

The sale of 300 acres near Maynard, Ind., which was closed recently by Mr. E. A. Linn, manager of the real estate department of E. S. Dreyer & Co., is one of the largest acre transactions ever known in Chicago. The tract extends southeast from Maynard toward Crown Point. Several eastern capitalists are said to be connected with the deal, and another manufacturing center is to be established on this tract.

A. E. Kent has leased to F. B. Caldwell for 99 years, 128 feet on Congress street, south front, between Halsted and Desplaines streets at a rental of $1,850 a year for the first five years, $2,160 a year for the next five years, and $2,300 a year for the balance of the term. The lessee agrees to erect a building on the ground to cost not less than $20,000. The present valuation established by this lease on a 6 per cent basis is $235 per front foot.

H. B. Fargo, of E. A. Cummings & Co. has located two new factories at Geneva. The Midland Desk company and the Barnhart Wright Manufacturing company, both of this city, have secured sites. The former will erect a building with 160 and the latter one of 150 feet frontage. Both concerns will give employment to about 250 men.

Mrs. A. E. Kent has bought the corner of Kimbark avenue and Fifty-fifth street, fronting 177 feet on Fifty-first street and 143 feet on Kimbark avenue for $40,000. The ground is improved with a substantial two-story frame residence.

F. W. Green & Bros. report the lease of the southwest corner of Sixty-third street and Grace avenue, having a Sixty-third street frontage of 118 feet, for Peter Fox to Samuel Page at a rental of $400 a month. The lease runs for eighteen months from May 1, with the privilege of renewal at the end of that time for twenty years more, at a valuation to be determined by appraisement after the World's Fair is closed. Mr. Page has already sublet part of this ground for more than the entire lease cost him. The same firm also reports the sale of 50 feet on Ellis avenue, near Sixty-fifth street, to J. H. Craig at $70 per foot; 6416 Sheridan avenue, 50 feet, improved with a frame dwelling for J. R. Neil to T. W. Parchal, for $6,500, and 6510 Wharton avenue, 50 feet, improved with a two-story residence for Henry J. Wagner to Mrs. A. N. H. Sprague for $6,000. The firm reports an increased inquiry for Woodlawn property.

The West Chicago Street Railway Company has taken out a permit for the erection of a two-story car barn and stables at Ogden avenue and Fortieth street to cost $50,000. This undoubtedly means that the Ogden avenue car line is to be extended to this point, which is about half a mile west of its present terminus, Millard avenue. Work on the six-story power house at the corner of Blue Island avenue and Twelfth street is progressing rapidly, and it is expected that the building will be finished by next November.

The southwest corner of Fifty fifth street and Washington avenue, 150x175 feet, has been leased for ninety-nine years on the basis of $65,000 to a syndicate. S. R. Reed bought the property for $45,000. The buyers will erect a four-story store and flat building to cost $75,000. It will contain seven stores and twenty-one flats.

Godfrey Schmid has sold the southeast corner of Barry and Evanston avenues, 100x100 feet, to M. Schwarz for $15,000. The purchaser intends to erect a store and apartment building to cost about $40,000.

The Unity Company reports that over two hundred offices have already been leased in the Unity Building. Nearly all of the offices have been rented and negotiations are under headway for the lease of part of the banking floor. One of the stores has been leased at a rental of $5,000 a year. Inquiry for offices in nearly all of the modern structures seems to be very brisk. Agents for nearly all of the buildings report that they are signing leases rapidly, and it seems that the fear that tall buildings would not pay was not well founded.

Franklin S. and Maria G. Hanson have sold to the Chicago Edison company the northeast corner of Charles and Harrison streets, 110x280½, for $10[illegible],000.

The property on Charles street, 110 feet north of Harrison, 120x28½ feet, has been sold by the Chicago Dry-Dock company to the Chicago Edison company for $90,000.

J. W. Ware & Co., in connection with Cooper & Barhane, have sold the residence at 3167 Groveland avenue for $9,000. The lot has twenty five feet frontage and is improved with a two story brick dwelling.

A tract of 1,000 acres at the junction of the Burlington and Quincy and the Joliet and Eastern railroads, near Aurora, has been purchased by a syndicate at an average price of $100 an acre. The purchase is to be used as a site for a manufacturing town.

Robert C. Berlin is letting contracts for a three-story and basement apartment building for S. Miller, to be built on the corner of Webster avenue and Burling street at a cost of $14,000.

It was announced some months ago that the Chicago Edison company contemplated the erection of a large structure to accommodate important extensions in its plant. A site has just been purchased on Franklin street, between Harrison street and Charles place, having 230 feet frontage and running 280 feet to the river, including the dry-dock formerly owned by the Chicago Dredging company. The price paid for the ground was $1,000,000, and it is contemplated to expend about $1,000,000 in the improvement of it. The magnitude of the enterprise now in hand may be to some extent measured by the fact that a special meeting of the stockholders has been called for May 4 to vote on the question of increasing the capital stock from $1,000,000 to $3,000,000. The increase called for is to be used chiefly in the erection of a new plant.

LATE LEGAL DECISIONS.

DELINQUENCY IN PAYMENT OF PREMIUM OF INSURANCE.

The Appellate Court of Indiana held, in the recent case of the Continental Insurance Company v. Miller, that where a clause in a fire-insurance policy provided that the company would not be liable for loss occurring while a premium note remained due and unpaid, and that such notes should be paid at their main office or through an authorized person having the note in his posession, the company was estopped from insisting on a forfeiture where the delinquency of the premium note was caused by the fault of their local agent, who had the note in his possession, and to whom payment of the premium notes had therefore been made.

NOTICE OF MECHANIC'S LIEN.

The Supreme Court of Indiana held, in the case of Adame v. Buhler et al, that the notice filed with the recorder of intention to hold a mechanic's lien, is not required to state that the owner was notified that the material man or subcontractor intended to secure a lien, and that the notice of such intention to hold a lien cannot be proved by the entry of such notice in the "Mechanic's Lien Record," unless the foundation for such evidence is laid in the proof of loss of the notice, such record not being primary evidence.

SUIT AGAINST FOREIGN CORPORATIONS.

The United States District Court for the First District of Oregon, has decided that a foreign insurance company engaged in business in the district in which it is sued, is an "inhabitant," as the term is used in the judiciary act. Also that a foreign corporation engaged in business in any state in the Union, who, in pursuance of the laws thereof, appoints an attorney with power to receive service of process in any suit against it, thereby consents in advance to be sued therein.

EXECUTION SALE OF HOMESTEAD.

The sale of a homestead under execution without taking the proper steps prescribed by the exemption law before selling, is an irregularity highly prejudicial to the right of the judgment debtor, and calculated to sacrifice the property at less than its value, and tending to prevent competition in the bidding. This irregularity and the failure of the officer to first make demand of payment, coupled with gross inadequacy of the price realized are sufficient to authorize the setting aside of the sale.

WHEN TAX JUDGEMENT IS VOID.

A judgment against land for taxes which includes any illegal tax however small it may be, or illegal costs as fees for services unearned at the date of the judgement, is void, and may be attacked collaterally if there has been no personal appearance of the owner objecting to the rendition of judgment. In such case the sale of the land and the tax deed will also be void.

When a judgment for taxes includes either illegal taxes or illegal costs, and the owner does not appear and contest the entry of judgment, these objections may be raised by way of a collateral attack upon the title to lands claimed through a sale under such judgment. The judgment in such case is no estoppel.

LIMITATION AS TO FORECLOSURE.

When a mortgage of a lot given to secure the payment of a sum of money, provides against any personal liability of the mortgagor or his assigns for the debt, making the lot the only security or property out of which to make the debt, an action to foreclose such mortgage will be barred in ten years after the right of action accrues. In such case the absence from the state, or non-residence of some of the remote grantees of the mortgagor, will not arrest the running of the statute. Such grantees are not the persons against whom the cause of action has accrued.

RIGHT OF A BROKER TO COMMISSIONS.

When a broker employed to sell real estate performs his part of the contract by finding and introducing a purchaser therefor, which purchaser negotiates with the principal and comes to an agreement with him respecting the price and terms of sale, and which purchaser is ready, able and willing to carry out such agreement with the principal, the principal cannot evade payment of the commissions agreed on by refusing without a good reason to make a conveyance to such purchaser. This is so even though the principal's title is defective, and even though he have no title, or though the broker had agreed to take his commission out of the purchase money, or had agreed to charge no commissions unless a sale was actually made.

OWNER OF INTERE T IN LAND CANNOT BUY AT TAX SALE.

A part owner of land or an interest therein cannot, by neglecting to pay the taxes, allow it to be sold and become the purchaser, either directly or indirectly, and thus acquire a valid title to the land, for the reason it was his duty to pay the taxes. A purchase by one whose duty it was to pay the taxes will operate as a payment of the taxes only. The same principle applies when the agent of the owner of land suffers it to be sold, and has it bid in for his own use.

MECHANIC'S LIEN—FILING ACCOUNT.

Although the mechanic's lien is given on "the building," it is not necessary, under an entire contract, to furnish materials for seven houses situated on contignous lots, to file a separate account of the material furnished each house, but the whole seven may be charged with the lien by filing a single account of all the materials furnished.

A sub-contractor who furnishes materials for the construction of two houses erected under a single contract on lots on opposite sides of the street has a joint lien on both houses and lots for the entire amount of materials furnished for both houses.

While material was being supplied from time to time, as needed, for the construction of a building pursuant to a contract not specifying the price, certain material was supplied for the same purpose upon an agreement then made between the same parties specifying the price. So far as concerns the right of lien, the furnishing of all the material may be treated as an entire transaction, and the filing of the lien account within the prescribed time after the last delivery is sufficient.

DANGER SIGNALS WHILE CONSTRUCTING BUILDING.

Where a building is in process of construction and it becomes necessary for the contractor to so obstruct the sidewalk as to render it dangerous, if the contractor protects the public by such proper guards and signal lights as will render it possible for persons in the exercise of ordinary care to avoid the danger, the contractor is exempted from liability and the city has as much right to plead the protection afforded by such signals in defense of an action against it to recover damages for personal injuries, as it would have had, had it placed such guards and signals there itself.

ACTION FOR PRICE OF BUILDING MATERIALS.

Building materials, for the price of which action was brought, were delivered from plaintiff's dock at defendant's house, within sight of the dock, by teamsters, who took receipts for the contents of each load sent. One of the plaintiffs helped unload part of the material and saw other portions of it carried to the house, and there was testimony that the brick delivered there equaled the quantity alleged. Defendant, when informed of the amount of plaintiff's bill, after an interview with his contractor, promised to pay it. This was evidence for the jury of the delivery of the whole bill.

NEW PLANS BY CHICAGO ARCHITECTS.

Architects Swalm & Co., have under way drawings for handsome office and business block to be erected in the centre of Chicago, for a local capitalist, 100x85 feet, twelve stories and basement. On the first floor will be located four spacious stores. This lofty structure will be of steel and iron frame work, and will be strictly fire-proof. The façade will be an arrangement of selected pressed brick enriched with terra cotta panels and ornamental courses with bold cornice supported on fancy brackets and composition roof. The entrance to the offices will be in the center of the main façade. The vestibule and coridors will be laid with mosaics, with Mexican marble wainscoting. Four quick service elevators will give access to all the floors. The interior will be handsomely finished in hardwood, electric lighting and steam heat. The plumbing arrangements will be of the latest, with cast iron-soil pipes. Estimated cost $300,000. Same architects are taking figures for flat building at South Chicago for Mr. Williams, 25x56 feet, two stories. The foundation will be of rock-faced stone, the superstructure of framed work with shingle roof and furnace heat; cost $4,000. Also fine residence on Seventy fifth street, near Halsted, 35x50 feet, two stories, attic and basement. The basement will be of rock-faced buff Bedford stone, the superstructure of framed work with shingle roof. The façade will be improved with bays with imposing tower projection. The interior will be finely finished in birch and oak specially designed. Wood mantels, tile fire-places and all the latest improvements. Plate, beveled and art glass and hot water heat; cost $10,500. Also suburban residence at La Grange, 35x50 feet, two story basement and attic. The foundation will be of stone, the superstructure framed with shingle roof; cost $3,500.

Architect Francis M. Whitehouse has plans for fine residence on Grand boulevard, near Thirty-seventh street, for Mr. Boyce, 30x75 feet, three stories with basement. The front will be of selected pressed brick with cut Bedford stone trimmings and slate roof. The interior will be finely finished in choice woods and arranged with modern appliances. Plate and art glass; cost $25,000. Also block of four houses on Prairie avenue near Twenty-second street, for Mr. Taylor, 75x50 feet, four stories with basement. The principal front will be of pressed brick with cut Bedford stone trimmings and furnace heat; cost $28,000. Also fine residence on North State street for some party, 50x120 feet, three stories, basement and attic. RULES FOR THE INSPECTION AND GRADING OF LUMBER.

Inspectors of lumber are not manufactnrers and must measure and inspect lumber as they find it, of full length and width (except as to wane, which must be measured out and inspected in a lower grade), making no allowance for the purpose of raising grade.

Inspectors must use their best judgment, based upon these rules for their guidance.

The standard knot shall not exceed 1¼ inches in diameter, and must be of a round character.

Spilts are always more or less damage to a piece of lumber. An allowance must be made, either in determining the quality or quantity, according to the nature of the split. A spht extending to exceed one foot will rednce it to one grade lower.

Reaches must be 2x4, or 2½x4½ inches, and the lengths 8, 10, 12 and 16 feet.

Harrow timber must be 2½x2½ inches, and the lengths 5, 10 and 14 feet.

Hickory axles must be clear, and in leugths of 6 or 12 feet, for sizes 3½x4½, 4x5, 4x6, 4½x6 and 7 or 14 feet, for 5x6 and 5x7 on special order, cut from sound, tongh, butt logs.

Wagon tongues must be clear and straight, 3x4 at small end and 4x4 at the bntt end, or 2½x4½ at small end and 4½x4½ at butt end, 12 feet long, from tongh, straight-grained timber.

Bolstere, reaches, harrow timber, hickory axles and wagon tongues not up to grade of clear, will be classed as cull.

Standard thickness shall be 1, 1¼, 1½, 2, 2½, 3 and 4 inches, except poplar, which will allow 5-8 inch.

When lumber is sold on this market to be measured merchantable, the inspector must measure full, except in culls, which are to be measnred at one half.

It is important that all lumber should be parallel in width, square edged, and with sqnare ends. Tapering lnmber is measured at the small end. Ordinary season checks are not defects, Sqnares mnst be clear, 4x4, 6x6, 7x7 and 8x8 inches.

Stains, specks, hearts, shakes, rot, worm-holes, holes, etc. are considered serions defects, redncing lnmber to grades lower than firsts and secouds.

Log-rnn is the entire cnt of the log, mill culls out.

Lumber should be sawed plump thickness, otherwise it is not considered marketable, and mnst be reduced to the next standard thickness or at least one grade lower, on account of thinness.

A cull below the standard thickness is a mill cull,

A cull which will not work one half of its size free from all defects, is a mill cull and no recognized value and no account is necessary to be made of it.

When lumber or timber does not come up to the grade or contract, it must be placed in the next lower grade named.

Lumber sawed for specific purposes, such as axles, bolsters, tongues, reaches, newels, balusters, squares, etc., must be inspected with a view to the adaptability of the piece for the intended use, as in many cases, it cannot be used for other purposes.

Common flooring strips shall be of the same size and general character as clear, but may have two small sonnd knots not exceeding three-fourths of one inch in diameter, or a small amount of wane on one edge which will not injure it for working to its full size.

Hickory should never be cut while the sap is rising, as it is then liable to powder-post, and indications of deteriora tion of this character should be carefully scrutinized.

Newels from all kinds of timber must be clear and free from heart, to square 5, 6, 7, 8, 9 and 10 inches plump. The length must be 4 feet full or multiples thereof.

Balusters and table legs shall be clear and square, 2x2, 2½x2½, 3x3 and 4x4, 32 inches long.

Newels, balusters and table legs not coming up to the grade of clear, shall be classed as cull.

Counter tops shall be 12 feet and over long, 1, 1¼ and 1½ inches thick, and must be strictly clear, not less than 20 inches wide.

Firsts are always classed as clear.

Clear lnmber must be 6 inches and over wide, excepting cypress and poplar, which must be 8 inches and over wide, free from all defects of every kind and nature.

Bolsters must be 4 feet, 4 feet 6 inches or multiples th, ½x534x length, and the size must be 3x4, 3½x4½, 5ni ereof 40 inches.

Wagon stock must be clear, cut from good, live, sound, tough, straight-grained timber.

Timbers must be free from unsound knots. Sound hearts not showing on the onlside will be allowed.

In the grade of firsts and seconds, the purchaser is entitled to the full average of firsts, which must not be less than 33⅓ per cent.

Standard lengths are always recognized as being 12, 14, and 16 feet. Shorter than 12 and longer than 16 feet does not come within the range of standard. In black walnut and cherry an exception is made, and ten feet is a standard length. Shorter or longer than standard lengths, in all varieties of hardwood lumber, except in counter tops, are redneed one grade lower.

Common and cull lnmber must be 8 feet and over long, except cherry and walnnt, which must be 6 feet and over long.

Mixed lots, containing boards, planks, flooring, bolsters, reaches, etc., shall be measnred and inspected according to the rnles governing the measurement and inspection of boards and planks.

Flooring strips shonld be 4 and 6 inches in width; 1 and 1¼ inches in thickness. Other widths and thicknesses shall be designated as special sizes. It mnst have one face and two edges clear.

Edgemoor

We are now offering for sale blocks and lots in Edgemoor, the new suburb on the Chicago Central Ry. at 79th street. Edgemoor is one-half mile square and includes 160 acres of the beautiful ridge property in the South-West part of the city with an East frontage on Western Ave. and a North frontage on 79th street. The Chicago Central, the Northern Pacific's new suburban road, runs directly through the center of the property with a depot at 81st street. On this road will be inaugurated by June 1st, the most complete train service as to elaborateness of equipment and quick running time given on any suburban road in the city. The scheduled time from Edgemoor to the Grand Central depot will be 22 minutes. The South 80 acres of Edgemoor is being improved in a high class manner. The contracts for the side-walk and curb and gutter work have been let to The North Western Asphalt Co. The walk is built of granite and cement and is six feet wide. The combined curb and gutter is also built of granite and cement, the gutter being eighteen inches wide. Edgemoor is the only residence district in Chicago, outside of the boulevard frontages, where the curb and gutter combined has been put in. The contract for the macadam work has been let to Eggleston, Mallette & Brownell and calls for a high grade of work. A double row of trees of the Catanlpa variety, are being planted, one row on the park-way which is 12 feet wide. A special form of warranty deed is used in conveying the property which provides for a 20-foot building line and a $3,000 building restriction. Contracts for four houses to cost $5,000 each have already been let and they will be completed and occupied by June 15th. Every effort will be made to make Edgemoor a high class residence district. Lots will be for sale for the next 60 days at prices 25 per cent less than the same grade of property can be purchased anywhere else in Chicago. We are prepared to offer special inducements to individual investors and syndicates who will take a five-acre block interest in the property. Liberal commissions made to brokers and agents.

CASINO.

Haverly's Mastodon Minstrels are, without question, the most complete organization that has ever appeared in Chicago, and their performances at the Casino (Eden Musee) have been endorsed in most thorough manner by all classes of amusement seekers. Particularly attractive are the entertainments to out-town visitors, who after an inspection of the various objects of interest in the Musee department, attend the minstrel concerts. The program of the past week has been very pleasing, but the coming week will be a gala week, commemorative of Ireland's patron saint, St. Patrick, the great and good, whose birthday is celebrated throughout the entire civilized world. The program will include all the members of the company, and Irish ballads will predominate. The theater will be decorated and draped with the national colors and flags, and our beautiful wax figure of Robert Emmett will be exhibited free. A new singer will be heard in the person of Mr. Albert Yale, well known to all Canadians as a vocalist of much merit. Banks Winter the celebrated tenor, will have a new song. The comedians Rice, Hall, Denton, Rudworth, Bogert, and O'Brien will have new specialties. Ellwood, the wonderful male soprano, will display new feminine toilets. Constantine, the dancer, will execute new solos, and Harry Budworth will repeat his new repertoire. The latter's song, "Come to Baltimore," has "caught the town" and is encored three and four times every performance. Altogether, the week will be one long to be remembered, and all desirous of hearty, wholesome pleasure should not fail to attend. "Excelsior" is Mr. Haverly's motto. Much has been done by this gentleman "but more remains behind."

INDUSTRIAL DEPARTMENT.

The Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul Railway Company's 6,150 miles of road traverses a vast territory, rich in all the resources that insure industrial success.

The Industrial Department is conversant with the Iron, Coal, Lumber and Tanbark, the Water-Power (both river and artesian) for factory and electric power purposes, the markets, the transportation and financial facilities, and other interests on the line pertaining to industrial development, and disseminates information concerning same.

A number of new factories has been induced to locate—largely through the instrumentality of this Company—at enterprising towns on its lines.

As the interest of the Company is to secure the location of industries at places where the surroundings will insure their permanent success, the information furnished a particular industry is pertinent and reliable.

In the Eastern States and in other parts of the world factories are so congested and distant from the actual markets as to result in fierce and destructive competition. That the West is taking a place as one of the great manufacturing territories of the world is forcibly impressing itself upon discerning and enterprising manufacturers. Steps should be taken by such while the field is as yet not fully covered, and while inducements are still being offered, to locate in the West.

Individuals or companies wishing to embark capital in Western industry can find a profitable field.

Finance and Trade.

Some improvement is noticeable this week over last. No strong points have been developed but the markets are fairly active and the tendency on the whole is toward a healthful advance. The general conditions continue to be more favorable and the trade outlook is more hopeful. Though the activity is not as great as could be desired, yet there is a feeling of confidence among conservative business men that bodes well for future prosperity. Prices are neither unduly inflated nor unusally depressed.

An active demand for Reading stocks has been the feature of the week on the New York Exchange. A strong bear attempt to depress this stock by rumors of a strike published in a New York newspaper, had only a temporary effect in slightly lowering the price. Other stocks have been comparatively featureless.

The case of the money market is exceptionally favorable to investments in securities. From every quarter come reports that the banks are full of money seeking investment. At the same time there is a large quantity of securities on the market. The investing public has become wary of shaky securities and are not eager to take them at any price. On the contrary, the eagerness with which first-class bonds are sought is in marked contrast with the apathy of investors when second-class securities are offered them.

May wheat still hovers between 80½ and 81½ with a tendency to decline. All the conditions have been favorable to lower prices. Prospects for a large crop in the northwest are good, and reports of large stocks of wheat in Russia are not conducive to high prices here. Frequent indications of the probable passage of the Hatch anti-option bill are not reassuring to the bull element. The bears have decidedly the best of the present situation.

As compared with a year ago the entire financial and commercial situation is vastly improved. An extraordinary movement in gold was then under way. Last week no gold at all was shipped from the United States. During the corresponding week last year we shipped $4,500,000 of gold. During the month of April last year over $15,000,000 in gold was exported to Europe. We were then exporting gold at the rate of about $500,000 per day, and later on the exports were still larger. Now there is no export movement of gold, although at this season of the year some gold usually goes abroad. Yet the banks are in much better condition to face such an export movement than they were last year. The banks at this time hold $28,800,000 more specie, $11,800,000 more legal tenders and $40,700,000 larger reserves than at this time last year. Their surplus is nearly $11,500,000 greater than it was a year ago. The deposits are nearly $117,000,000 larger than a year ago, and the excess of deposits over loans is $35,600,000 greater than in April 1891. The relative strength of the banks then and now can thus be seen at a glance. That the situation is far from being such as to excite pessimistic fears is self evident. If the banks a year ago could stand a drain of over $70,000,000 of gold without being seriously inconvenienced, they certainly are much more strongly intrenched this year with no such danger menacing them. The fact that money is easy and deposits large has led croakers to predict speedy disaster, but the facts do not bear out any such conclusion. Notwithstanding the great increase of deposits, it is found that loans have increased nearly in the same proportion, so that, on the whole, the situation is normal and healthy. The character of the securities offered has improved rather than deteriorated and thus careful investors are afforded safe fields for capital.

Chicago banks report a gradual improvement over the general dullness that has prevailed. Both deposits and loans are steadily increasing and the prospects for the future are more than usually bright. Time money is steady at 5 to 6 per cent. Commercial paper is in request at 4½ to 5 percent. Surplus funds will be put out on call at 3½ percent, if necessary, to prevent idleness.

Of the four leading cities of the Union, Boston alone shows an increase in volume of clearings over last week. New York, Chicago and Philadelphia have fallen off sharply. Boston gains about four and a half millions. Chicago loses two and a half millions; Philadelphia loses over six millions; and New York loses twenty-five millions, as compared with last week's returns. St. Louis gains over four millions. San Francisco, Pittsburg and Kansas City also make noticeable gains.

The percentages of increase over the corresponding week last year are very much smaller than usual. New York, which has recently shown increases of over fifty percent, this week shows only 8.6 percent; Chicago 9.1; Philadelphia 9.4. The largest percentage of increase shown by any city is that of Omaha, 32.2. St. Joseph increases 30.6; New Haven, 29.9; New Bedford, 29.2; St. Paul 27.6; Washington, 26.2; Minneapolis, 25.6; Columbus and Duluth, each 24.5; Indianapolis, 19.9; St. Louis, 19.

Two methods of comparison may be adopted in studying the table. One is to compare the current report with that of the corresponding week last year. The other is to compare it with that of the week immediately preceding. This week, unfortunately, no comfort can be extracted from either of these comparisons. The total as compared with last year's returns shows a gain of only 7.1 percent; compared with the returns of last week, it shows a loss. True, the falling off has been very largely in New York clearings. But there has been a perceptible decrease in the west, northwest and south also.

The causes of the general dullness may be briefly summarized. In New York city a holiday week caused light trading in stocks, which in that centre always influence the clearings very largely. Notwithstanding the fact that a bullish sentiment prevailed and that there was a steady disposition on the part of foreign investors to buy American securities, yet the volume of business was greatly reduced by the interruption of the holiday. In the north and northwest business has been retarded by unseasonable weather. Rain and blizzards have interrupted farming operations and have hindered transportation and traffic. The states of Mississippi, Louisiana and Tennessee have suffered from disastrous floods. Altogether, the explanation of unusual dullness in the localities named is ample.

An analysis of the bank clearings for a single week or even for a fortnight can not be relied upon to give a clear indication of the state of trade. Influences like those detailed above will cause fluctuations which are outside of the normal conditions, and which are likely to be offset by other and favorable conditions later on. A review of the month gives a clearer idea of the real state of affairs. The reports of the present year have indicated an advance not only over the same period for the year preceding, but also a steady growth from month to month.

The Canadian returns indicate a healthy condition, as will be seen by a glance at the table. Montreal advances 36.2 percent; and Halifax, which for a long time was apparently hopelessly behind, is now showing increasing percentages almost every week. The activity in Canadian business can only be regarded as in line with the general development of the northwest, in which the agricultural and mercantile interests keep in step.

A comparison by groups of states shows the following.

	WEEK ENDING APR. 16, 1892.	WEEK ENDING APR. 17, 1891.	PERCENTAGE.
New Engl'd States.	$112,947,636	$123,157,249
Middle "	828,181,616	769,614.224	Inc 7.3
Southern "	33,336,266	40,877,927	Dec 18.3
Western "	43,080,084	39,029,427	Inc 10.2
Northwestern "	117,619,693	104,958,968	" 12.1
Southwestern "	39,487,780	37,587,560	" 5.4
Totals,	$ 1,197,470,051	$1,133,667,314

The Southern and Farwestern groups show large decreases. All the other groups show smaller increases. Yet the total reveals an increase of over sixty-three millions, which is not at all dishcartening when the general conditions are taken into the account. The grouping of the states affords a valuable index to the relative activity of the various sections of the country. In this instance, as in so many previously noticed, it indicates continued stagnation in the Southern and Farwestern groups.

LOCAL STOCK MARKET.

There has been an improved feeling on the Chicago Stock Exchange during the past week, especially in the earlier days. This has been, in part, brought about by favorable reports as to earnings of some of the less active stocks on the list. There is an increased disposition to trade in street cables, and the tendency is decidedly upward. Holders of stocks are apparently content with their property, and their faith in Mr. Yerkes continues unshaken. No big blocks are upon the market and, in the absence of any such pressure, it looks as if these properties were bound to advance. City Railway is, in particular, very stiffly held, and has, upon moderate business, scored an advance of over three points for the week. Brewing and Malting continues weak, though there has been some slight improvement in the preferred shares. It certainly looks as if this property should now be near about bottom. The war in prices has at least had the effect of frightening away some threatening competitors, several projected concerns having fallen through for lack of adequate support and confidence. The field thus reserved, the year of the World's Fair might witness a great transformation in the shape of prospective dividends.

The bond market has, so far as the Chicago Stock Exchange is concerned, fallen once more into a rut, though the over-counter trade is reported as remarkably brisk. Gas Light and Coke 5s., steady at 89¼, though a closing deal, on Thursday, of $25,000 lifted it, at a bound, to 89½. Consumer's gas 5s. neglected. Among miscellaneous bonds, the following prices were established: City Railway 4½s., at 98½. North Chicago City Railway 4½s., at 95½ to 95⅝: ditto 1st mortgage 6s., at 110. West Chicago Street railroad Debenture 6s., at 100½. West Division Railway coup. 5s., at 101. Board of Trade 5s., at 102½ to 102. Opera House 6s., at 100.

The following transactions may be enumerated: American Exchange Bank, at 145. Continental National Bank, at 159½ to 159. Globe National Bank, at 110, also, National Railway of Illinois, at 110: and New York Biscuit, at 68 to 69, close 68½.

There were quite a number of small deals in National Railway of Illinois during one of the days of the week just concluded, and as this property might possibly attract some further attention the following facts may be interesting. The National Railway of Illinois operates the street railways of St. Louis and distributes 7 per cent in dividends. It owns fifty-eight miles of street railways, about half of which are cabled, and its franchises have just been extended thirty seven years. It has also recently become possessed of rights to operate electric railways in some of the outlying districts. Capital stock $2,500,000.

Thursday was described as the dullest day of the year on the local stock market. It is said that the morning session did not yield over $25 in commissions to the forty or more brokers on the floor. With call money at 3½ per cent it seems unaccountable that good dividend-paying stocks are not more active.

The governing committee of the Chicago Stock Exchange has decided to establish a department for unlisted securities. The listing committee will prepare a list giving bids and offers, which will be printed weekly. The actual sales will be printed on a separate sheet daily. Any stocks or bonds will be listed, provided they meet the approval of the listing committee. Companies will not be required to make application to have their securities placed in the unlisted list nor to furnish information in regard to the same. The governing committee will have the right to eliminate any security from the list if, after investigation, it thinks proper. Commissions will be double regular rates.

The comparatively weak market of the present week is in contrast to the strength displayed during the preceding fortnight, which was caused evidently by large buying on the part of brokers representing a certain successful Board of Trade plunger who was desirous of putting his surplus winnings into stocks. It is said that Mr. Pardridge invested about $500,000 in Chicago securities, principally West and North Chicago Street Railways and Street's Stable Car Line, and the present dullness is attributed to the withdrawal of Mr. Pardridge from the market.

THE REAL ESTATE MARKET.

SPECULATIVE FEATURES IN THE SITUATION DEVELOP RAPIDLY.—THOUSANDS OF ACRES PURCHASED IN INDIANA.

The week's operations ought to be satisfactory at least to the class of pessimistic brokers who have been complaining that there is no speculation in the market. From the number of outside real estate operations, involving large acre tracts, and of speculative movements in down town property it would seem that there is nothing but speculation in the market. The great mass of small sales and investment purchases which goes to swell the total as represented by the transfer list is lost sight of among projects for establishing manufacturing towns and for buying up large tracts of cheap acres. These schemes for locating industrial towns have lost much of their originality and interest on account of their great number. Acre tracts in all directions from the city, are being placed under contract and a purchaser can be secured for nearly every tract of sufficient size which makes any pretentions to railroad facilities. While these operations may not attract quite so much attention as they did two years ago when the manufacturing town idea was new. they nevertheless indicate that Chicago is proving an attraction to capitalists all over the country. Acre buyers would not be so plentiful if the real estate market is demoralized.

TWO INDIANA ACRE PURCHASES.

The preliminary contract providing for one of these acre purchases, which is remarkable on account of the amount of land involved. has just been made; 7600 acres in La Porte County, Indiana, just southeast of Valparaiso, has been sold under contract by Patrick and Richard Huncheon. The price paid for the land is $30 an acre. The purchaser is a well known firm of promoters which is acting in the interest of a large manufacturing concern presumably the Walter A. Wood Manufacturing company. This 7600-acre tract, however, is but a fair nucleus of the purchase proposed. Something like 12,000 acres are being negotiated for. The most important holding is a 1900 acre tract owned by John A. Lomax, which extends south of the Huncheon tract to the Kankakee river. The entire holding will cover nearly the whole of Dewey Township. Its greatest length from east to west is six miles, while its greatest width is four and one-half miles. The land is about sixty miles from Chicago. Its attraction for manufacturers is in its superior railroad facilities and in the fact that the Standard Oil Pipe Line extends along side of the property. There are two railroad junction points on the land, One of these is the intersecting point of five different roads and is known as La Crosse. About two miles south of this is the junction of four rail roads known as Wilders. Among the different roads which cross the track are the Chicago and Erie, the Indiana Coal, the Illinois, Indiana and Iowa the Chicago & West Michigan, Louisville, New Albany & Chicago railroads and two lines of the Pennsylvania railway. The Standard Oil Pipe Line is parallel to the Chicago & Erie railroad and the pumping works are just south of the property now being purchased. A rate of fifty cents a barrel for oil has been secured, which is four cents less than is paid at South Chicago. The Indiana Coal road will deliver block coal at $1.50 a ton.

A tract of land not far from the above purchase in La Porte County is being purchased by Nelson Morris to be used as pasture lands. For about a year, his agents have been at work in securing a contract on 8000 acres of land along the Kankakee river. It has been intimated that Mr. Morris' connection with the land means the establishment of an Indiana distillery. Mr. Morris' name has been connected with several enterprises involving the establishment of distilleries, but without his authority or the general credence of parties supposed to know of his movements.

SUBURBAN ACRES IN DEMAND.

An acre deal of a somewhat different nature is involved in the purchase of the lands at Downer's Grove by Marshall Field from Gen. A. C. Ducat. In all, about 700 acres has been purchased for $225,000. In case of the outside acre purchases, the development of the property as a manufacturing town is involved in almost every case. In the case of the Marshall Field purchase, the property has a future as a residence section. It lies on both sides of the Chicago, Burlington & Quincy railway, just west of Downers Grove. It has about a mile of frontage on the railway. The entire Ducat holding, with the exception of the homestead and forty acres will be transferred.

DOWN TOWN DEVELOPMENTS PROMISED.

It is seldom that anything new in a real estate project is evolved. The same changes are rung in the establishment of industrial towns and in building projects, time after time. During this week, however, a scheme has come to light which is daring in its originality. It is nothing less than a plan to buy up from fifteen to thirty-five acres in one of the cheap sections of the heart of the city and entirely change the class of improvements. A syndicate composed of wealthy capitalists and represented by John M. Moen of Sioux City, has the work in charge and the field of its operation is the territory bounded by Canal street on the east, Halsted on the west, Harrison on the north, and Taylor on the south. Much of this property is built up with structures which prove a detriment, rather than an improvement to the property. In other words, the land without any buildings whatever would be worth far more than it is at present, in case it could be secured in large holdings. This is just the result which the syndicate hopes to effect. It will buy up the property in a body and tear down. move away or give away the buildings. After the shanties and houses are taken down, the streets will be improved to some extent and the property will be then ready for an entirely different class of occupants. Agents have been at work for months getting up the lists of ownership and twenty-five contracts have already been made for property worth from $125,000 to $150,000. Mr. Moen states that about 100 more holdings are to be purchased. The operations contemplated at present will provide for a land purchase of about one-half to three-fourths of a million dollars. At first, it was thought that about forty acres could be secured, but it was difficult to secure the necessary amount of capital. A number of capitalists have realized the possibilities in this section which is now occupied by Bohemians, Italians and Poles and have made heavy purchases and begun extensive improvements. Real estate men generally believe the scheme can be made a success with sufficient capital to back it. They are rather skeptical, however, regarding the possibility of securing as much land as the syndicate desires.

A down town purchase is being negotiated which provides for the combination of the two holdings at Nos. 132 and 134 Lake street. The property at these two numbers is 40x80 feet. That at the first number is owned by the Jennings' heirs, while the other is owned by Mr. Oppenheimer of New York. The property is to be purchased for $95,000. Another down town operation of rather more importance is to be completed within a short time. The Chicago Club property on Monroe street, consisting of a five-story brick building covering a lot 49 8-10x105¼ feet will be transferred to the Columbus Club for $220,000; $200,000 is to be paid for the land and $20,000 for the building. The square foot land valuation is about $37.50, which is about $3 a foot more than the valuation established by the Chicago Real Estate Board. The property is owned at present by two organizations. The Chicago Club owns the leasehold and building while the Dearborn Club owns the fee. The property has an alley on three sides which gives it excellent light and makes it a most desirable location for a club house. The main alley running north and south separates it from the Clifton House it on the northwest corner of Wabash avenue and Monroe street.

ACRE TRANSACTIONS—ACTIVITY ALONG THE C., B. & Q. R. R.

Marshall Field has been quietly purchasing properties in the vicinity of Downer's Grove, on the Chicago, Burlington and Quincy road, until he has secured upward of 700 acres, for which he paid about $225,000. The property is located on either side of the Burlington Railroad, having nearly a mile of frontage on the road. It extends west from a point about three blocks west of Downer's Grove Station. The property comprises all of the holdings of General A. C. Ducat, excepting the homested and about forty acres surrounding it.

The delay in closing the purchase arose from the fact that the land was held by General Ducat under many different deeds, for each of which a seperate abstract and examination was necessary.

The land is rolling, well wooded, and in other ways desirable. Much success has attended the opening of subdivisions in Downer's Grove, and when Mr. Field's purchase comes on the market there can be no doubt but that it will meet with ready demand. As the purchase is made as an investment no provision has yet been made for disposing of it.

Mr. Field's success in property on the line of the Burlington has always been great. His profitable operations at La Vergne and Western Springs will be remembered.

Dibblee & Manierre, who have acted in the various transactions, report that the purchases finally consummated, have been under way for several years. Mr. Field now has good title in upwards of 700 acres of splendidly located property near Downer's Grove.

Henry G. Phipps, who owns about 700 acres near Hinsdale, will subdivide and sell out a portion of the tract through Bogue & Co. The subdivision will contain 160 acres located at the junction of Forty-seventh street and the Burlington Railroad.

TWO NEW TEMPLES TO BE ERECTED.

Plans for the construction of the new church of St. Paul the Apostle at Austin, have been approved and work will begin at once. The cost of the new structure is estimated at $25,000, and it will occupy the present location, which property is worth $12,500. About $5,000 has been raised by the congregation and it is proposed to place a $10,000 mortgage on the entire church property. The building will be in the perpendicular gothic style of architecture, and the tower will rise seventy-five feet from the ground. When completed the church will be an honor to the town.

A meeting of the First Presbyterian society of Austin was held last Wednesday evening for the purpose of receiving subscriptions toward the erection of a new church on Waller avenue. The present house is entirely inadequate, and plans were discussed for a new building. A handsome collection was taken up and several large pledges made for the movement in contemplation.

NO SHOPS FOR PENNOCK.

As noted last week in the JOURNAL the recent report that the Chicago & Northwestern and the Milwaukee & St. Paul Railways would combine to locate car shops at Pennock is entirely without foundation. It is now authoritatively announced that the Chicago and Northwestern railroad company will build large repair shops near Lake Shore Junction, six miles north of Milwaukee which will also be used by the Milwaukee, Lake Shore and Western company, now a part of the Northwestern's system. The Northwestern and Lake Shore have long felt the necessity of having shops located in Milwaukee. The rolling stock of the Northwestern is now taken to its Chicago shops for repairs, and that of the Lake Shore to its shops at Kaukauna. This is an inconvenience as well as a loss of time and money, while both the Chicago and Kaukauna shops are overcrowded with work.

LAKE STREET "L" ROAD TO BE EXTENDED.

Col. H. M. Alberger, president of the Lake street "L" road says that work on the road will be resumed next Monday.

"There is a mile and an eighth of road already built west to Ada street. The trouble and delay thus far have been due not so much to lack of funds as to the need of having some questions that were in dispute settled. It was a part of the original plan to extend the system to Blue Island avenue, Halsted street, and Milwaukee avenue. We intend to cover the territory. The Halsted street line will extend as far as Washington Heights and north to the lake. It is the intention to have all trains on the branch lines run from the point of junction over the main line down town.

"The eastern terminus will be on the South side. At present there is little probability that the terminus will be east of Market street, It will be in the neighborhood of Van Buren and Market streets probably. The 'Alley L' road terminates at Congress street and is already attracting business southward. The corporation is not for sale, and it has not been except in the newspapers. What individual stockholders may have desired to do does not affect the truth of this statement. We are going ahead with the work and are not asking money from anybody."

SUBURBAN SERVICE FOR THE MADISON & NORTHERN.

Property along the line of the Chicago, Madison & Northern branch of the Illinois Central Railroad will experience a direct benefit from the action of the road in inaugurating a suburban service along that line. For nearly two years property owners, whose subdivisions adjoin the line of the Madison & Northern, have been besieging the officers of the company to equip that branch with a suburban train service. At last the company consented, and trains will be put on beginning May 1st. The trains will run to Addison, making the distance of 24¼ miles in one hour and a quarter. The schedule time will be as follows:

Leave Chicago	9:30 a. m.,	arrive	Addison	10:45 a. m.
" "	2:00 p. m.,	"	"	3:15 p. m.
" "	6:00 p m.,	"	"	7:15 p. m.
Leave Addison	7:00 a. m.,	Arrive	Chicago	8:15 a. m.
" "	12:15 p. m.,	"	"	1:30 p. m.
" "	4:00 p. m.,	"	"	5:15 p. m.

A Sunday train will be put on, making two trips each way during the day. This is but a beginning and will be followed by more trains if demand justifies it. The development of the road will open up a large field of subdivision property in the town of Proviso which is now without railroad facilities.

THE FEATURE OF THE YEAR.

ACRE SALES OF THE WEEK IN COOK COUNTY AND ADJOINING.

The latest reported big purchase of acres is that by E. A. Cummings, H. G. Foreman, and James Darlow, who as trustees of the Proviso Land Association, have completed the purchase of 261 acres adjoining Maywood. The tract is bounded by Madison street on the south, the Chicago & Northwestern Road, with Melrose Station, on the north, while the village of Maywood is on the east. The electric road will be extended from its present terminus at th Desplaines River to and beyond this property. Additional transportation facilities are furnished by the Chicago, St. Paul and Kansas City road. Repair shops and a round-house for this road are to be located just west of the property described. While the use to which the land is to be put has not been absolutely defined, it is said that manufacturing enterprises will be inaugurated. Color is lent to this statement by the fact that the Calumet Terminal will be extended across the Chicago, St. Paul & Kansas City Railroad's tracks to a junction with the Northwestern road. This would furnish the land with the conveniences due to position on a belt line. Title to the property passed first from the Union Land Association to Jacob M. Cohen, and from him to the trustees named.

AN 8,000 ACRE DEAL ABOUT TO BE CLOSED.

It is said that the purchase of lands along the Kankakee river by Nelson Morris, which was announceed a number of months ago, is about to be completed. Something like 8,000 acres of land in Lake County, Ind., has been purchased through the agency of a Crown Point banker. It is claimed by Mr. Morris that the land is to be used for pasture for cattle. At first it was thought that the land would be used in addition as a site for a distillery, but this rumor is not given much credence by people who are acquainted with the condition of the land. Mr. Morris was indirectly connected some time ago with a project for the location of an independent distillery on the tract of land still farther east and not far from Valparaiso. The scheme was dropped, however, and the options on the land which were in force were allowed to lapse.

ANOTHER INDUSTRIAL CENTRE IN INDIANA.

It is reported that negotiations have been entered upon for the purchase of over 10,000 acres, at about $30 per acre, in Laporte County, Indiana. Of this tract 7,600 acres are held under option at $220,000 by a Chicago firm that expects to establish an industrial center on this and additional property.

A SUBDIVISION OF CENTRAL PROPERTY.

A daring scheme is that attributed to a syndicate represented by John H. Moen, of Sioux City, which is said to have under way a scheme to purchase a tract west of the river and south of Harrison street which involves the outlay of between $500,000 and $1,000,000. The syndicate is said to include capitalists in Sioux City, New York, Philadelphia and Chicago; it has already secured contracts for twenty-five holdings on Mather, Ewing, Forquer, DeKoven and Bunker streets, involving an outlay of about $150,000. The original intention was to purchase the whole tract between Canal, Halsted, Harrison and Taylor streets, remove the cheap improvements thereon and place the property again on the market. As sufficient capital could not be secured for this deal, the scheme was trimmed down. Mr. Moen refuses to divulge his further plans and some brokers are of the opinion that the scheme is a move on the part of the Chicago, Burlington and Quincy Railroad company to acquire property for the establishment of a terminal station. According to the report the railroad is attempting to buy all of the property between Desplaines and Halsted streets from Harrison street south, and it is a noteworthy fact that all of the property that has changed hands in this section recently has been between these two streets. Many holdings have recently been placed under contract, the exact number being variously estimated at from twenty-five to sixty. None of the deeds have been placed on record, nor have any of the deals been closed, all of the property having been simply placed under contract. The fact that this property can be bought for the most part at $125 to $200 per front foot renders the cost of a right of way through this section comparatively cheap.

DULUTH CORRESPONDENCE.

SOME FACTS AND FIGURES OF INTEREST ABOUT THAT GROWING CITY.

DULUTH, MINN., April 21, 1892.

Editor REAL ESTATE AND BUILDING JOURNAL:

The railway question is now uppermost in Duluth. No less than five roads besides a local terminal, are known to be knocking for admission to the city. They are the Canadian Pacific and the Duluth South Shore & Atlantic in one group, the Duluth, Mesaba & Northern, and Duluth & Winnipeg in a second, the Duluth Red Lake Falls & Northern, and the Duluth Transfer. The first group will make request for some right of way in return for building lines open to all, and a tunnel under the ship canal for roads, street cars and wagons. They will establish very extensive terminals on Minnesota Point. A line will be built from Duluth to the Canadian Pacific at Winnipeg and the through traffic of the Canadian Pacific will be done via Duluth and the south shore of lake Superior, instead of around the north shore of the lake. There are many manifest advantages in this plan and it has been talked over for years. The third and fourth roads above mentioned have been granted rights across certain streets, and will be given more later. They will now apply for a vote on $500,000 of county bonds to aid them in securing terminals. St Louis county has a valuation of $45,000,000. The voting of these bonds will fix both roads. The Duluth, Red Lake Falls and Northern is as yet in embryo, but will probably be given the little it asks. The Transfer Company is simply a terminal road and has part of its line already built.

Building operations bid fair to largely exceed any previous season. A large number of fine office and store structures are planned, and work is already begun on several. Residence construction is now active. Architects are all busy.

Real estate is quiet, though inquiry is brisk especially for building sites, and for property to improve, while the suburbs show quite an advance. Dock and water front property is quiet, though several large pieces have been picked up for improvement. Speculation has not begun, though the universal expectation of dealers is that it will during the summer.

The Mesaba mining situation is also quiet, so far as stock speculation is concerned, but active where actual development is meant. The stock exchange has stopped all wild-cat activity, and with it some that was perfectly legitimate. But every week adds to the surety and extent of the ore deposits of the Mesaba.

Duluthians who have returned from pilgrimages in the east and south, come back more full of confidence than those who have staid at home. Never, they say, has the city been so thoroughly advertised to all the world as now, and never have capitalists been so ready to come here themselves or to put their money here. This money is coming along now and the banks are full.

D. E WOODBRIDGE.

A REVISED BUILDING ORDINANCE.

SOME POINTS ON THE SUBJECT GLEANED FROM OPINIONS OF EXPERTS

The difficult problem of framing a fair and efficient building ordinance for the city of Chicago, is now uppermost in the minds of some of our most prominent citizens. For this purpose a committee has been appointed, consisting of one member each from the Common Council, the Real Estate Board, the Architects' Association, the Building Trades Council, and the Builders Exchange. The committee is expected to frame a new building ordinance, and has ordered copies of the building regulations of Paris, Berlin, Vienna, Glasgow, New York, Boston, Philadelphia, Toronto and other leading cities. From these documents they expect to compile a suitable building ordinance for Chicago. It has been found that the entire system of building regulations is faulty, and there is a great demand for better building inspection in all departments. The question of high buildings is only incidental. The matter of alterations and repairs is regarded by experts as of the highest importance. In no particular should building inspection be more stringent and severe than in the matter of alterations and additions to old buildings, and if the details of the buildings to be raised or altered do not exist, and unless it can be clearly shown that the possibility of such alterations and additions was provided for in the original construction, careful examination and, if necessary, tests should be made before the proposed improvements should be sanctioned, and in no case should the factor of safety be diminished.

As to the officials of the building bureau, large cities should be districted, and an inspector appointed for each, who should be a thoroughly trained and experienced architect. All the accessories of building, both for sanitation and safety, should be under one bureau, and though the details of interior drainage might be left to special inspectors, still these should be subordinates of the building inspector and under his control. The latter should be an official in the city engineer's department. All matters relating to building, such as the giving of lines, levels, permits, etc, should be attended to at the one office, so that information or plans once given by intending builders should serve for all these purposes.

Let it be borne in mind that no matter how competent an officer may be, to a certain extent his usefulness is marred unless the law which he is called on to administer be clear, explicit, and clothes him with sufficient authority. It is evident that to meet the requirements of our modern cities, classification of buildings must be resorted to, and for different classes certain matters of detail must be more carefully attended to than for others. For instance: For an ordinary self-contained dwelling or small tenement it might be sufficient that after the matter of site, light and air had been satisfactorily attended to a general description of the building, with details of manner and materials of construction, drainage, and plumber's fixtures should be deposited with the building inspector, and that the owner should be held to notify that officer at stated periods of the work, say at its commencement, when the building should be ready for plastering, and again on completion, so that officer might see that everything was in compliance with the law. More important buildings should be graded according to their future uses, their altitude, and so forth, and for these the complete plans should be deposited in the building bureau, and any details as to calculations, etc, required by the inspector should be furnished. These should be verified, and if satisfactory a permit should be issued in which should be mentioned the various stages at which the department would have to be notified, so that the work would be properly inspected. No deviation should be allowed from the plans without the sanction of the building bureau, and further, a very important point, no building should be used for any purpose which would require a higher classification than that for which it was built; but in justice to designers and builders and in deference to public safety a building should not be overloaded after a few years by the erection of additional stories, or if designed for an ordinary store or for light manufacturing purposes should not be exposed to the danger of caving in, or of being converted into a warehouse of the first class, or collapsing from the vibrations of heavy machinery.

CURRENT COMMENT.

It is now probable that an international monetary conference will be held in Chicago during the World's Fair. Mr. Springer, chairman of the Ways and Means Committee, has introduced a bill in the House of Representatives, which provides for the holding of an international monetary conference at Chicago in August, 1893, the United States to be represented by twenty-one delegates to be appointed by the President, the Vice President and the speaker of the House. The Secretary of State and the Director of the Mint are named as additional delegates. The bill authorizes the President to invite foreign governments to send representatives. Each government represented is to be entitled to only one vote. The congress is to formulate and submit for the approval of the governments represented, uniform systems and nomenclatures of coinage and of weights and measures, and also, if possible, an international agreement as to the relation which should be maintained between gold and silver, also the adoption of coins that would be current at the same value in all countries of the world.

The annual report of the State Assessors of New York for 1892 says, that the laws for the assessment of personal property have failed to do their work, and that the failure becomes more complete and more unjust with each succeeding year. They propose to raise all taxation for state purposes from personal property alone, and to this end they advocate the enactment of laws relieving real estate from taxation for state purposes, and also other stringent measures that would reach all forms of local personal property for local taxation, and that would compel all property to pay its just share of local expenses. They advise the abolition of the right to deduct just debts from the value of personal property, as a remedy for a great part of the errors of our tax system. The fact is, any movement on the part of legislators to make the personal property taxes more stringent, would be met by the people with violent opposition. The taxation of personal property has never been a success, because it is a kind of property easily concealed. The tendency of modern thought on this subject is in the opposite direction to the policy advocated by the New York assessors.

A legislative enactment similar to that advocated by the New York assessors, was the mortgage tax law recently passed by the legislature of Michigan. This law provides that mortgagors shall pay taxes only on the value of their property in excess of incumbrances, and that the tax on that portion represented by mortgages shall be paid by the mortgagee. The attempt evidedtly is to relieve real estate by taxing the securities. That the scheme has failed can be readily seen. The Supreme Court of the State, by a vote of three out of five judges, upheld the validity of the law. But the majority of the judges also agree that it will be perfectly lawful in future loans for the mortgagor and the money-lender to agree who shall pay the tax on the mortgage interest in the property, even though the amount of the tax the borrower agrees to pay and the interest on the money exceeds 8 per cent. In other words, no Michigan property-owner will be able to borrow money on his land, unless he agrees to pay the interest and all the taxes. He must either agree to pay all the taxes personally, in which case he would be doing just what he used to do, or he will have to put into the hands of the lender a sufficient amount of money in advance to pay them with. In the latter case it would be more expensive for him than it used to be. So the judges have taken all the life out of the law so far as future loans are concerned, but borrowing will be more difficult and more costly.

The friends of good roads in this country are urging forward a movement in favor of a comprehensive road exhibit at the World's Fair. It is proposed to erect a building in which shall be exhibited in cross section some of the best road systems in use, both in this country and in Europe. Stone crushers, steam rollers, street sweepers, watering carts, etc., will be included in this exhibit. Printed matter, illustrative of the art of road making is to be provided for distribution to all who want it. The object is most commendable and deserves the largest success. The importance of having good roads cannot be too highly appreciated. This agitation is yet in its infancy, but we venture to predict that it will yet rank with the most important financial and political questions of the age. The roads of this country are the worst of any country on the globe, and any movement in behalf of good roads is calculated to be of direct benefit to the interests of the entire country, and should meet with the hearty co-operation of everyone who has occasion either to walk or to ride on the public highway.

It is gratifying to know that the farmers of the west are again on the up grade as prosperity goes, and with a continuance of good crops for a few years, may be expected to emerge from the slough of despond into which they have fallen in some localities. The Topeka Capital has recently made an investigation into the mortgage indebtedness in forty-two out of the one hundred and six counties of the state of Kansas. The estimated net reduction of mortgages for the past month throughout the state is placed at $998,000. Reports from 299 banks in ninety-one counties, show that of a total stock of these banks, of $11,284,435, 15 per cent is held by farmers, and that farmers own $9,002,731 of the deposits in these banks, the total of which is $18,409,625. All the banks reporting state that the deposits of farmers during the year have increased to a gratifying extent, and many report that they have doubled.

The committee appointed by the directors of the World's Fair to visit Washington and secure an appropriation from Congress are now in that city. The results of their efforts will be watched with eagernesss by every friend of the Fair. The amount yet needed to properly equip the great exposition is $8,000,000. Of this sum Congress is asked to appropriate $5,000,000, on the same basis as the stockholders and the city of Chicago. There is no question that the demand is a reasonable one; but it is extremely doubtful if the members of Congress can be brought to unite on any measure involving the expenditure of such a large sum of money for World's Fair purposes. The local and political prejudices of the various sections of the country are almost sure to prevent any action in the matter favorable to Chicago. If, as is anticipated, the request of the directors is ignored by Congress, the United States through its representatives will put itself in the unenviable position of inaugurating a World's Exposition on a national scale, appointing a national commission which has largely increased the cost of the undertaking, and then stepping from under and letting the financial burden of the enterprise fall on a single city of the Union.

The arrest in this city of two white women and a negro charged with organized incendiarism is likely to prodnce a sensation especially in insurance circles. According to fire inspector Conway the insurance companies of this city have been swindled out of $10,000 in the last four years by this gang, and probably double as much in Cincinnati, Indianapolis and New York. The specific charge against the women arrested was the burning of the second flat at 148 22d street about 2 o'clock in the morning of Feb. 28th of this year. One of the women held an insurance policy of $2,000 on a lot of furniture not worth a tithe of that sum. There were several other families in the building and two children narrowly escaped being burned to death.

Aside from the terrible criminal aspects of this affair there is an economic feature that deserves attention. The number of incendiary fires which the insurance companies have to contend with and which go to swell the fire losses to their present frightful proportions, seems to be increasing rather than diminishing. If an organized band of incendiaries can for four years carry on a systematic game of arson and defraud insurance companies out of thousands of dollars, it is time some measures were taken to prevent such occurrences most effectually.

THE BELMONT AVENUE SEWER..

TEXT OF THE RECENT DECISION IN FAVOR OF PROPERTY OWNERS.

The following is the complete abstract of the opinion of the Illinois Supreme Court in the Belmont avenue sewer case previously reported in the JOURNAL:

Where an ordinance for the construction of a main sewer in Belmont avenue from its intersection with Milwaukee avenue east to its outfall into the river, provides only for a sewer intended to serve the usual and ordinary purposes of such an improvement for city property, and there is nothing in its description to indicate an intention that the owners of farm lands might use it for the purpose of surface drainage and the lands in question had, theretofore, by means of open ditches afforded ample facilities for carrying off surface water, a special assessment upon such lands, for special benefits, on the theory that the contemplated sewer will afford facilities to the lands for surface drainage, is unauthorized. Lands benefited only by surface drainage can not be specially assessed for the building of a sewer as a local improvement, under Sec. 1, Art. 9, Chap. 24, R. S., where specific provision is made in the ordinance for such drainage.

Where the lands assessed for special benefits by reason of the contemplated improvement, although in the city limits, are used exclusively for agricultural purposes and are situated in a rural district and border on the portion of Belmont avenue, a mere country road, west of the western terminus of the sewer and wholly disconnected therewith, so that the owners, even if the ordinance had provided that the sewer was intended also for surface drainage of lands, could not avail themselves of it as a means of drainage of their lands, the assessment will not be sustained.

It being conceded that the proposed improvement will not afford facilities for discharging sewage from these lands unless the work shall be extended westward by future action of the city, held, that no assessment could be made in this proceeding for benefits to accrue hereafter by an extension of the sewer. Hutt et al v City of Chicago 132 Ill., 352 cited, and approved.

And in such a proceeding all the lands within a given district can not be assessed for the improvement, merely because the commissioners have found they will be benefited by such improvement as a means of drainage, unless the same was constructed with a view to such drainage, and the ordinance reasonably provided the means whereby the owners of such lands could avail themselves of it for drainage purposes.

MORTGAGE TAX LAW.

Immediately after the enactment of the Mortgage Tax law of the State of Michigan, the banks of Detroit united for the purpose of putting the matter to a test. The case was argued before the Supreme court, and the opinion rendered in regard to assessments on mortgages held by savings banks was as follows:

"To assess to savings banks as real estate the value of any real estate mortgages owned by such bank and to deduct the value of real estate mortgages owned by any savings bank from the value of the capital stock of such bank as determined for assessment purposes."

On the face of it that looked simple enough, but when the assessors in that city attempted to put this construction into practice it was found that in a great many instance the banks held mortgages largely in excess of the amount of their capital stock. Therefore to deduct the amount of real estate mortgage from the capital stock would entirely wipe out that item. It was further discovered that nearly all the mortgages held by the banks contained a clause whereby the mortgagor bound himself to pay the taxes on the property so mortgaged. The assessors thus saw that the banks would not only escape taxation on their capital stock, but that they would not in reality pay any taxes on their mortgages, and consequently would go entirely free from taxation. This state of things was very unpleasant to them, and they sought the advice of the city attorney, and as a result they have passed the following resolutions, upon which they will act:

Resolved, By the Board of Assessors of the city of Detroit that all mortgages having the tax clause inserted (known as the long form) which are held by banks and insurance companies, and all other persons presenting the same, be stricken from the rolls, the property upon which said mortgages are security remaining at the present assessed valuation; and further

Resolved, That the real estate owned in fee by banks and insurance companies, together with all short form mortgages or mortgages not having said tax clause inserted, whether in the city or outside, be deducted from the capital stock, surplus and undivided profits of the savings banks, and the assets above liabilities of insurance companies, as determined by the last report of the Commissioner of Insurance, in conformity with the opinion of City Counselor Speed, given to the board on March 25, and the subsequent amended opinion of April 6, 1892, advising the board to act in accordance thereto, and further

Resolved, That all banks and insurance companies not reporting the short form of mortgages previous to the 12th inst., the remaining mortgages will be assumed to be long form or tax clause mortgages and no notice of the same will be taken, and the full amount of the personal property will remain as assessed.

DECORATIVE NOTES.

Ornament is to be regarded as the application of certain observed effects of forms and colors in nature that please. Up to a certain point the repetition of some simple and elegant form is gratifying to the eye and mind. Color spaces are said to be divided harmonically when they have certain ratios to each other. Certain curves are found to give more pleasure than others, and so with the combinations of curves and other tangential lines. It is for the painter and decorator to anaylze the causes of beautiful effects in nature, in fact the sources of pleasure in colors and forms, and to apply these in varied and suggestive forms.

Valuable ideas in decoration for the house painter's purposes are often to be obtained from the patterns of upholstery stuffs, both as regards forms and colors. The Marie Antoinette and Irish point laces, which are now in fashion for curtain hangings, present highly suggestive hints; in the graceful intertwining of the broad opaque bands of the former, constituting the border of a plain central field of meshes, which in painting may be represented by some simple diaper work; and the Irish point in the delicate and widely spaced tendrils, and shoots. and buds, and flowers that extend over the central panel, their lightsome aspect and skillful disposition contrasting with the rich and elaborately worked borders. The one reacts on the other, and although the border is the chief object of decoration, it is safe to affirm that the happy disposition of the simple figures of the main field most charms the attention of the beholder. It is true that some difficulty offers itself in rendering attractive the vertical portion of a border, the horizontal border being far more easily managed. In the Marie Antoinette border, with its boldly pronounced features, the eye easily traces the bands in their upward course, there being no multiplicity of curvatures, and these appearing as vigorous shoots unlike the other lace throwing off no slender tendrils.

That which is most perfect, in ornament executed by house painters, comes from those possessed of high artistic fibre and who are all but faultless in their execution, who, sensitive to nature's appeals, can assimilate in their designs some of the matchless grace they see in a flower, in the turn of a leaf, in the curves that mark the growth of a creeper, in the wing of a bird or spirals of ascending vapors, and who can so arrange these forms within the containing lines as to perfectly satisfy the cultivated eye and so color them as to awaken pleasing sensations. Cream grounds with pale blue ornament on them always look well; they are safe and simple; or pale blue grounds with stone-colored ornament. These combinations, by the way are judged highly fashionable for upholstery hangings for boudoirs and bed-rooms.

Positive colors are not suitable to an apartment, for to have a good effect, however skillfully combined and balanced, they should be seen at a greater distance than it allows. In lofty iron buildings, such as railway depots, pure blue, red and yellow may be used with advantage and even exclusively, showing, as they will, every line in roof ties and spandrels, and increasing the apparent height and length of the structure. This was exemplified in the Crystal Palace in Hyde Park, London, The above colors neutralize each other, for which reason they find such wide adoption in oriental designs.

In a drawing room pervaded by a perfect tone of rich, yet quiet color, the prevailing tints are blue, verging on the hue of sapphire, olive, terra cotta and gold. In a morning room the walls are adorned with panels of light blue, the corners with ivory color and deep blue ornament. The borders of the panel are of spiral form in crimson and brown, a conventionalized flower being formed in each concave space.

Work on a staircase, wall or ceiling is best painted in a single color, the color gaining a soft broken effect by the raising of shadow on the projecting ornament. The ceiling and soffits of a staircase treated in a somewhat novel manner have been painted in white and formed into panels by lines, band and ornament in various shades of green, red, yellow and gold; the cornices being in tones of low yellow and drabs. The separate story divisions of the walls of the staircase are marked off by differently colored ornamental bands filled in with varied patterns, the colors of the wall division thus marked out ranging from yellow drab in the upper story to deep salmon on the ground story.

LATE LEGAL DECISIONS.

THE LAW OF SPECIAL ASSESSMENTS.

Under an ordinance for a system of sewerage to be paid by a special assessment upon the property benefited and by general taxation, the commissioners certified that they estimated what proportion of the total cost would be of benefit to the public and what proportion would be of benefit to contiguous property, and apportioned the same between the city and such property, so that each should bear its equitable proportion; that the amount assessed by them as special benefits to each lot, etc., was shown upon the assessment roll; that they apportioned and assessed the amount found to be of benefit upon the several lots etc., in the proportion in which they will severally be benefited by the improvement, and that no lot, etc., was assessed a greater amount than it would be actually benefited. Held, that such an assessment was in conformity with the statute.

While a special assessment made on the basis of frontage merely and without regard to special benefits would be invalid, there is no rule precluding the commissioners from taking into consideration the number of feet frontage of the several lots upon the street, or improvement as an element in their ascertainment of benefits.

RIGHTS OF LANDLORD WHEN TENANT HOLDS OVER.

When a tenant holds over after the expiration of his term without any new contract in respect thereto, the landlord will have the option to treat him as trespasser or waive the wrong of holding over, and treat him as a tenant, and the acceptance of the rent reserved by the landlord will amount to an election on his part to continue the tenancy and the tenancy will be continued on the same terms as before.

When a landlord, at the request of the tenant agrees to reduce the rent reserved in the contract of leasing, and there is no evidence tending to show the tenant had surrendered the premises, or that he offered to do so, and refused to execute the terms of the lease, or that there was any reason why he could then have surrendered the premises and refused to execute the terms of the lease, such parol agreement to reduce the rent will be void for want of consideration and the landlord may collect the rent provided for in the written lease.

When the tenant is not shown to have changed his position in consequence of the agreement to reduce the rent, and there is nothing to show any injury or loss to the tenant, or gain or benefit to the landlord in consequence of such agreement the latter will not be estopped from demanding and collecting the rent originally agreed to be paid, and such agreement to accept a reduced rent will not have the effect of an executed gift as to the difference in the original rent, and that afterward agreed to be taken, when no receipt or release is given for the rent.

CONSTRUCTION OF CONFLICTING CLAUSES IN WILLS.

The rule of construction is that when an estate is given by one clause or part of a will, it can not be cut down or taken away by a subsequent clause, except by clear and unambiguous terms, and it is sometimes said that in order to give the latter clause that effect, its language must be as clear as that of the clause giving the estate.

Courts will always, if possible, so construe wills as to give effect to each and every part of the same. The words used are to be taken in their ordinary and grammatical sense unless a clear intention to use them in another case be collected, and that other case be ascertained; and they are in all cases to receive a construction that will give to every expression some effect rather than one that will render any expression inoperative.

Plans for what will doubtless be the finest appointed system of Turkish baths on the continent have just been completed by Mayo & Curry for the Leland Hotel, and the work of construction will soon begin. The east half of the basement of the Leland will be devoted entirely to the baths, and while one more costly system has been put in in this country—in the Hotel Ponce de Leon, St. Augustine, Fla.—the sanitary improvements made since that time, which will be used in the Leland, insures the most perfect baths, perhaps, in the world. The cost will be $50,000.

Senator Vedder, of New York, who is in the city at present, has decided to erect about fifteen houses on his property at Auburn Park, to cost about $60,000. He has extensive frontages on Seventy-third and Seventy-fourth streets, and will make great improvements there. The senator is also looking around for acre tracts on the South Side available for immediate subdivision and improvement. In company with several other gentlemen from New York, he represents a syndicate of eastern capitalists that proposes to invest at least $500,000, and probably more, in vacant property. The syndicate intends to buy several acre tracts and lay out subdivisions similar to Eggleston and Auburn Park. Senator Vedder is already interested in these two towns and expresses great confidence in property in this section. The fact that New York capital is coming to Chicago for investment is certainly a hopeful sign and cannot fail to give a healthy tone to the markets.

John Vogelsgang and Ed Sugg have placed in Architect Henry Sierk's hands the work of designing one of the most complete cafes and restaurants in the West. The location will be 75-77 Randolph street, now occupied by the Central restaurant. The building will be completely remodeled, and one of the handsomest fronts in the city put in. Chief Justice Fuller proposes to follow Owen F. Aldis' example and will lease his building on Dearborn street for hotel purposes during the fair season. The leases of all the tenants in the building expire this year and the project of leasing the entire building to one tenant offers inducements to many owners that they are glad to avail themselves of. It would not be surprising if many of the present office buildings were converted into temporary hotels next year, and this fact plays an important part in fixing office rents at present.

RULES FOR THE INSPECTION AND GRADING OF LUMBER.

Inspectors of lumber are not manufacturers and must measure and inspect lumber as they find it, of full length and width (except as to wane, which must be measured out and inspected in a lower grade), making no allowance for the purpose of raising grade.

Inspectors must use their best judgment, based upon these rules for their guidance.

The standard knot shall not exceed 1¼ inches in diameter, and must be of a sound character.

Splits are always more or less damage to a piece of lumber. An allowance must be made, either in determining the quality or quantity, according to the nature of the split. A split extending to exceed one foot will reduce it to one grade lower.

Reaches must be 2x4, or 2½x4½ inches, and the lengths 8, 10, 12 and 16 feet.

Harrow timber must be 2½x2½ inches, and the lengths 5, 10 and 14 feet.

Hickory axles must be clear, and in lengths of 6 or 12 feet, for sizes 3½x4½, 4x5, 4x6, 4½x6 and 7 or 14 feet, for 5x6 and 5x7 on special order, cut from sound, tough, butt logs.

Wagon tongues must be clear and straight, 3x4 at small end and 4x4 at the butt end, or 2½x4½ at small end and 4½x4½ at butt end, 12 feet long, from tough, straight-grained timber.

Bolsters, reaches, harrow timber, hickory axles and wagon tongues not up to grade of clear, will be classed as cull.

Standard thickness shall be 1, 1¼, 1½, 2, 2½, 3 and 4 inches, except poplar, which will allow 5-8 inch,

When lumber is sold on this market to be measured merchantable, the inspector must measure full, except in culls, which are to be measured at one half.

It is important that all lumber should be parallel in width, square edged, and with square ends. Tapering lumber is measured at the small end. Ordinary season checks are not defects,

Squares must be clear, 4x4, 6x6, 7x7 and 8x8 inches.

Stains, specks, hearts, shakes, rot, worm-holes, holes, etc. are considered serious defects, reducing lumber to grades lower than firsts and seconds.

Log-run is the entire cut of the log, mill culls out.

Lumber should be sawed plump thickness, otherwise it is not considered marketable, and must be reduced to the next standard thickness or at least one grade lower, on account of thinness.

A cull below the standard thickness is a mill cull,

A cull which will not work one half of its size free from all defects, is a mill cull and no recognized value and no account is neccessary to be made of it.

When lumber or timber does not come up to the grade or contract, it must be placed in the next lower grade named.

Lumber sawed for specific purposes, such as axles, bolsters, tongues, reaches, newels, balusters, squares, etc., must be inspected with a view to the adaptability of the piece for the intended use, as in many cases, it cannot be used for other purposes.

Wagon stock must be clear, cut from good, live, sound, tough, straight-grained timber.

Timbers must be free from unsound knots. Sound hearts not showing on the outside will be allowed.

In the grade of firsts and seconds, the purchaser is entitled to the full average of firsts, which must not be less than 33⅓ per cent.

Standard lengths are always recognized as being 12, 14, and 16 feet. Shorter than 12 and longer than 16 feet does not come within the range of standard. In black walnut and cherry an exception is made, and ten feet is a standard length. Shorter or longer than standard lengths, in all varieties of hardwood lumber, except in counter tops, are reduced one grade lower.

Common and cull lumber must be 8 feet and over long, except cherry and walnut, which must be 6 feet and over long.

Mixed lots, containing boards, planks, flooring, bolsters, reaches, etc., shall be measured and inspected according to the rules governing the measurement and inspection of boards and planks.

Flooring strips should be 4 and 6 inches in width; 1 and 1¼ inches in thickness. Other widths and thicknesses shall be designated as special sizes. It must have one face and two edges clear.

Common flooring strips shall be of the same size and general character as clear, but may have two small sound knots not exceeding three-fourths of one inch in diameter, or a small amount of wane on one edge which will not injure it for working to its full size.

Hickory should never be cut while the sap is rising, as it is then liable to powder-post, and indications of deterioration of this character should be carefully scrutinized.

Newels from all kinds of timber must be clear and free from heart, to square 5, 6, 7, 8, 9 and 10 inches plump. The length must be 4 feet full or multiples thereof.

Balusters and table legs shall be clear and square, 2x2, 2½x2½, 3x3 and 4x4, 32 inches long.

Newels, balusters and table legs not coming up to the grade of clear, shall be classed as cull.

Counter tops shall be 12 feet and over long, 1, 1¼ and 1½ inches thick, and must be strictly clear, not less than 20 inches wide.

Firsts are always classed as clear.

Clear lumber must be 6 inches and over wide, excepting cypress and poplar, which must be 8 inches and over wide, free from all defects of every kind and nature.

Bolsters must be 4 feet, 4 feet 6 inches or multiples th, ½x534x length, and the size must be 3x4, 3½x4½, 5ni ereof 10 inches.

Edgemoor

We are now offering for sale blocks and lots in Edgemoor, the new suburb on the Chicago Central Ry. at 79th street. Edgemoor is one-half mile square and includes 160 acres of the beautiful ridge property in the South-West part of the city with an East frontage on Western Ave. and a North frontage on 79th street. The Chicago Central, the Northern Pacific's new suburban road, runs directly through the center of the property with a depot at 81st street. On this road will be inaugurated by June 1st, the most complete train service as to elaborateness of equipment and quick running time given on any suburban road in the city. The scheduled time from Edgemoor to the Grand Central depot will be 22 minutes. The South 80 acres of Edgemoor is being improved in a high class manner. The contracts for the side-walk and curb and gutter work have been let to The North Western Asphalt Co. The walk is built of granite and cement and is six feet wide. The combined curb and gutter is also built of granite and cement, the gutter being eighteen inches wide. Edgemoor is the only residence district in Chicago, outside of the boulevard frontages, where the curb and gutter combined has been put in. The contract for the macadam work has been let to Eggleston, Mallette & Brownell and calls for a high grade of work. A double row of trees of the Catalpa variety, are being planted, one row on the park-way which is 12 feet wide. A special form of warranty deed is used in conveying the property which provides for a 20-foot building line and a $3,000 building restriction. Contracts for four houses to cost $5,000 each have already been let and they will be completed and occupied by June 15th. Every effort will be made to make Edgemoor a high class residence district. Lots will be for sale for the next 60 days at prices 25 per cent less than the same grade of property can be purchased anywhere else in Chicago. We are prepared to offer special inducements to individual investors and syndicates who will take a five-acre block interest in the property. Liberal commissions made to brokers and agents.

CASINO.

Haverly's Mastodon Minstrels are, without question, the most complete organization that has ever appeared in Chicago, and their performances at the Casino (Eden Musee) have been endorsed in most thorough manner by all classes of amusement seekers. Particularly attractive are the entertainments to out-town visitors, who after an inspection of the various objects of interest in the Musee department, attend the minstrel concerts. The program of the past week has been very pleasing, but the coming week will be a gala week, commemorative of Ireland's patron saint, St. Patrick, the great and good, whose birthday is celebrated throughout the entire civilized world. The program will include all the members of the company, and Irish ballads will predominate. The theater will be decorated and draped with the national colors and flags, and our beautiful wax figure of Robert Emmett will be exhibited free. A new singer will be heard in the person of Mr. Albert Yale, well known to all Canadians as a vocalist of much merit. Banks Winter the celebrated tenor, will have a new song. The comedians Rice, Hall, Denton, Rudworth, Bogert, and O'Brien will have new specialties. Ellwood, the wonderful male soprano, will display new feminine toilets. Constantine, the dancer, will execute new solos, and Harry Budworth will repeat his new repertoire. The latter's song, "Come to Baltimore," has "caught the town" and is encored three and four times every performance. Altogether, the week will be one long to be remembered, and all desirous of hearty, wholesome pleasure should not fail to attend. "Excelsior" is Mr. Haverly's motto. Much has been done by this gentleman "but more remains behind."

INDUSTRIAL DEPARTMENT.

The Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul Railway Company's 6,150 miles of road traverses a vast territory, rich in all the resources that insure industrial success.

The Industrial Department is conversant with the Iron, Coal, Lumber and Tanbark, the Water-Power (both river and artesian) for factory and electric power purposes, the markets, the transportation and financial facilities, and other interests on the line pertaining to industrial development, and disseminates information concerning same.

A number of new factories has been induced to locate--largely through the instrumentality of this Company—at enterprising towns on its lines.

As the interest of the Company is to secure the location of industries at places where the surroundings will insure their permanent success, the information furnished a particular industry is pertinent and reliable.

In the Eastern States and in other parts of the world factories are so congested and distant from the actual markets as to result in fierce and destructive competition. That the West is taking a place as one of the great manufacturing territories of the world is forcibly impressing itself upon discerning and enterprising manufacturers. Steps should be taken by such while the field is as yet not fully covered, and while inducements are still being offered, to locate in the West.

Individuals or companies wishing to embark capital in Western industry can find a profitable field.

Finance and Trade.

The explanation of much of the complaints among business men is to be found in the action of the well-known enconomic law which tends to reduce profits to a minimum. The reduction is not so much in the volume of trade as in profits. This, though scarcely satisfactory to the producers, is on the other hand, not without some counteracting advantages. The consumers can purchase more cheaply and, as a result also more largely.

Competition between the iron interests of the North and of the South is becoming once more quite keen, with the result of keeping down the level of prices. The North has the advantage of being first in the race and possessing more economic methods of production, also in the facilities it possesses for turning out steel at remarkably low rates. In the matter of steel production, Birmingham cannot compete with Pittsburg and Cleveland. On the other hand, there are grades of iron, notably those suited to casting purposes, in which the South can, and does, hold its own. All talk about lower prices must be taken with some qualifications as a large part of these reductions does not imply an undue shrinkage in the ratio of profits to the cost of production, being distinctly traceable to the more economic methods now practiced at the furnace and foundry. Meanwhile, the United States continues to be the iron and steel consuming country of the world.

In any case the South presents some features of trade that are highly gratifying. For example, the total exports during the past eight months from Southern ports has been over $280,000,000, as against $257,000,000 for the corresponding period of the preceding year, an increase of $33,000,000, or nearly 13 per cent. The gains at Baltimore and New Orleans have been specially notable, rising in the former case from $43,655,000 to $66,301,000, and in the latter from $80,033,000 to $97,253,000. The fact is, the falling off due to the low values of cotton has been more than made up by the large outward movements of grain from the Southern ports.

With the opening of lake navigation, there is some talk of reducing the east-bound rates on grains to 20 cents per 100 pounds. This arrangement will probably be effected, though the trunk lines are understood not to regard it with favor, seeing that their share of the traffic is always pretty well assured, whether the grain moves wholly by rail or by canal and rail. Here again, we are confronted with the fact that the loss in freight to the carriers redounds to the benefit of the farmers, who, in not a few instances, are enabled to increase the price of their products to the extent of the difference. This compensatory action must never be overlooked in forming an estimate of the situation as a whole.

The most notable financial development of the week is the combination of the Edison, Thomson-Houston and Fort Wayne companies. This combination will practically control the electric business of the country. The combination will have its main office at Philadelphia, and proposes to start with a capital stock of $50,000,000, It will devote its attention chiefly to extending and perfecting the existing systems of electric street railways and electric lighting.

Money continues to be everywhere plentiful and cheap. At London, depositors, of money upon call can only obtain ¾ percent, and one percent with notice. With such conditions ruling, no wonder we hear of London as once more loaning even to the Argentines. In the nature of things, our "Americans" must soon be in demand.

The bill to reduce the legal rate of interest in the State of New York from 6 to 5 percent has been defeated, as it deserved to be. Such legislation only serves to drive money away from the States foolish enough to adopt it, to others more liberally minded. The fact cannot be too much taken to heart that the less interferences with the natural flow of trade the better.

Some apprehension has been felt of late in financial circles owing to reported shipments of gold to Europe. The latest report is that $4,000,000 has been engaged to go by today's steamer from New York. It is hoped that this amount will prove to be exaggerated. It has been noticed that gold shipments are frequently accompanied by depressed markets for securities. The demand for gold causes a desire on the part of holders of securities to realize on their holdings and correspondingly depresses their prices. The present condition of the stock market is somewhat favorable to this theory. Authorities who have expressed any opinion on the subject are inclined to predict lower prices for securities in the near future. There has been a noticeable decline in the demand for investments, and it is thought that an advance can not be expected at the present time.

For the first time in many months the returns from New York City show a considerable decrease. This is remarkable, inasmuch as in previous analyses New York has shown very large percentages of increase. Of late these percentages have been growing smaller, and now the decreasing side is represented with a percentage of 17.3. Boston, also, shows a decrease, while Chicago and Philadelphia hold their own, the latter by a handsome percentage. It is worthy of notice that nearly every prominent seaport city shows a decrease this week, while the inland cities almost without exception show increases. Examples of the former class are, New York, Boston, San Francisco, New Orleans, Providence, Memphis, New Haven, Portland and Wilmington. These all show decreases as compared with last year. Some of the interior cities showing increases are, Chicago, St. Louis, Cincinnati, Pittsburg, Buffalo, Minneapolis, Detroit, Milwaukee, Omaha, Denver, Cleveland, St. Paul and Indianapolis. The explanation of this fact is to be found in the relative condition of import and export trade in the east and the improved demand for staples in the interior. At New York, for instance, the exports for April have shown only a slight gain over those of the month last year, while the imports for the month exceed by 10 per cent those of April, 1891, which were the largest ever known. In the west, on the other hand, prospects are bright and business is much better than last year. This is the more encouraging because it is in the face of bad weather and impassible roads. Farmers have been delayed in planting and the general conditions are not such as would indicate prosperity, but in spite of this fact the movement of merchandise has been active and the clearing house returns are eminently satisfactory.

The influence of New York City is again forcibly illustrated this week. The total returns from the entire country with those from that metropolis added show a decrease of 7.2 per cent. The same returns without those of New York city show an increase of 7.6 per cent. The total of New York's clearings is so large that a decrease of 17.3 per cent is sufficient to change an increase of 7.6 per cent in the total clearings of outside cities, to a decrease of 7.2 per cent in the grand total of all the clearings. A glance at the table reveals the fact that this week the New York bank clearings exceed by over $77,000,000 the total clearings from all the other cities reported. These figures seem enormous when taken as indicating the relative importance of New York as the financial centre of the continent.

The clearings this week as a whole, are satisfactory. The conditions have been anything but favorable to large transactions, yet in spite of this fact we find business improving and a better feeling pervading sections of the country which have been heretofore in a state of comparative inactivity.

A comparison by groups of states shows the following.

	WEEK ENDING APR. 23, 1892.	WEEK ENDING APR. 25, 1891.	PERCENTAGE.
New Engl'd States.	$106,191,243	$109,537,736	Dec 2.7

Southwestern "	37,527,591	36,537,096	Inc Nom

Totals,	$ 1,022,230,260	$1,122,358,343

Only two of the groups, the Western and Northwestern, show noticeable increases. This is in line with what has previously been noted as to the relative activity of the various sections of the country.

The Southern group, though not showing an increase, is somewhat improved. This is owing to a slight advance in the price of cotton. The greater part of the crop has now been marketed and the price continues to show a firmer tone, so that general business in the South may be expected to be benefited by the movement of this great staple.

LOCAL STOCK MARKET.

Under the stimulus of moderate purchases the prices of local securities move rapidly upward.

The week has developed an improved feeling in street cables, and business was quite active, lots of hundreds following each other in quick succession. North Side cable sold last Saturday for the account at 179½. As the week advanced, there was a marked improvement in the inquiry for this property, which culminated on Thursday, when upward of 2,000 shares changed hands. The result was an advance of over three full points for the week, the close being at 183. The action in the West Side cable was very similar to that of the sister line. This property which was to be had at 133, last Saturday, was hoisted to 137, on Thursday. City railway has recorded a further marked advance, some small lots going at from 350 to to 349, the slight concession being made toward the close. Some operators argue that earnings will be affected when the Alley L is opened to traffic, but considering the identity of interests, that now appears to be assured, it is difficult to follow this reasoning. At the same time, remembering where this property was selling a few weeks ago, the existing price is tempting to holders, who cannot, however, be said to be particularly eager in availing themselves of the opportunity of realizing profits on the upturn.

Street's stable car line continues steady around 36, yet it can scarcely be urged that this is owing to an absence of trading, seeing that on one day this week upward of 1,500 shares were disposed of in a single session, including one five-hundred block.

Calumet and Chicago Canal and Dock sold around 82½ with light trading and American Strawboard advanced from 78 to 79. Diamond Match has, while a trifle more in request, sold down from 138 to 137⅜, only a fractional decline. What little there has been done in Arc Light and Power has been at 89. Western Stone entirely neglected.

Brewing and Malting has rebounded somewhat. It requires but slight acquaintance with this property to know that its common stock was cheap at 26 or 27. This fact, the conservative men who always keep a sharp look out for bargains were not slow to grasp. The result is that the common stock has moved steadily up, the last quotation being 30½. The preferred stock, after moving from 40 to 40 7-8, closed at 40½.

Packing and Provision has been exceedingly strong, upon assurance that the customary dividend is secured, though the fact was practically discounted before. On Tuesday, over 700 shares of the common stock were traded, a volume quite unusual in this security. The results of this activity was an advance to 54¾. The gain had not been wholly maintained, and the close was at 54¾. Preferred stock put forward, from 50 to 50½.

Bond market continues dull. What little that was done in Gas Light and Coke 5s., was at 89½. Consumers' gas 5s., improved from 85 to 85½. Among miscellaneous bonds, the following deals went through: City of Chicago 4s. 1901., at 99½. City Railway 4½s., at 98½. North Chicago Street railway first mortgage 5s., at 100. West Chicago Street railway Debenture 6s., at 100¾. Ditto first mortgage 5s., at 101½. West Division Railway coup. 5s., at 101½ to 100¾. Chicago Board of Trade 5s., at 102¼, and Western Store 5s., at 95½.

The following transactions of the week may be enumerated: American Trust and Savings Bank, at 136. Union National Bank, at 160. National Railway of Illinois, at 110. New York Biscuit, at 69 to 68½. Central Union Telephone, at 55, and Chicago Telephone, at 220.

THE CITY ACQUIRES MORE LAND.

It is understood that the Corporation Counsel and J. P. Wilson as special attorney, will recommend to the Council and the School Board the settlement of the suit involving the ownership of eighty acres of land near Grand Crossing and a tract of sixty acres near Morgan Park. In the former case the city is likely to get undisputed possession of fifty acres. In the latter case the city's claims are not so good. Gen. Leake, a former attorney of the School Board, and Mr. William G. Beale, a former president of that body, recommended a settlement.

THE REAL ESTATE MARKET.

A RIVAL HOTEL PROJECT ABSORBED BY THE AUDITORIUM COMPANY—THE NEW BUILDING TO BE COMMENCED AT ONCE.

The market conditions continue to be unsatisfactory from a broker's standpoint. There is the same abundance of capital seeking investment, which has been a feature throughout the season. Projects of more than ordinary scope are carried through without any apparent effort when the proper conditions are reached. One transaction of the week is a pat illustration of this condition. The Peck estate representing the Auditorium Building Company has secured the leasehold of the corner of Congress street and Michigan avenue, just south of the Auditorium. To secure one of the most eligible hotel sites in the city and to provide against the location of a rival of the Auditorium hotel, the Pecks have assumed leases on property worth something like three quarters of a million dollars and will at once begin the erection of a ten-story building which will represent an even greater outlay. About three weeks ago, negotiations were completed by which William Fitzgerald secured control of 114 feet of frontage on Michigan avenue and 171 feet on Congress street. This was in six holdings. The corner lot or holding, 62x120 feet was improved with five buildings, three on the Michigan front and two in the rear fronting on Congress street. West of this lot are three holdings, having a total frontage of fifty-one feet on Congress street running back 100 feet to a private alley opening off the main alley running north and south. Two other holdings on Michigan avenue were secured, each with a frontage of twenty-six feet and both running back to a continuation of this private alley. The leases of these properties have been turned over to the Pecks and a further extension of the corner is yet to be made. A twenty-six foot frontage on Michigan avenue, extending through from Michigan avenue 171 feet to the main north and south alley is to be leased from an out of town party. This will give a combined area of 140x171 feet. The irregular private alley which extends through this holding can be vacated and a site for a fine hotel building provided. A portion of the south lot will be left vacant, so that the new building will have light from all sides. Plans for the new building have been prepared.

CAPITALISTS BECOMING MORE CONFIDENT.

While a fair number of such transactions as the above go far toward establishing the confidence of the public in Chicago real estate, they do not materially affect the commission accounts of the hundreds of real estate agents in the city. These agents would rather see a fair degree of strength and activity distributed over the general market, than the marked signs of strength indicated by a few large and important special transactions. Owners, investors and brokers uniformly express the opinion that there will soon be a change for the better. Capitalists are beginning to understand that nothing is impossible in the line of building enterprises in Chicago. Some prominent business corner is leased or sold at a valuation which is considered extraordinary. The prediction is at once made by the ultra conservative, that the negotiations will never be consummated and that the proposed buildings will never be erected. In many cases, nothing more is heard until the workmen actually begin on the new buildings, or advertisements appear offering the old structures for sale. One of the best known of Chicago's heavy investors refused six months ago to consider the purchase of a South Side fee, because the building improvement in the shape of a ten-story hotel, had not been erected. The fee was offered to him on a six per cent basis, all possible precautions being allowed to secure him against any loss by failure of the builders. The fee was to be purchased and the money paid in installments on the architect's certificates as the work on the hotel building progressed. The party to whom the fee was offered, refused after examination, to consider it, and stated as his reason the opinion that it never would be improved as proposed and that he would have difficulty with the builders. The improvement in finer shape than was originally projected, is now about ready for occupancy and the same investors who refused to buy the fee on a six per cent basis have now opened negotiations for purchase on 5 per cent basis.

Negotiations are under way in a number of rather important down town transactions. A lot on Madison street between Market street and the river, which was recently acquired by the Jennings' estate, under foreclosure proceedings, is to be leased on a valuation of $100,000. It has a frontage of forty-two feet and is 99 feet in depth. The consideration at which it was acquired by the Jennings' estate was $85,000. The property on Clark street, between Van Buren and Harrison streets owned by the Lake Shore and Michigan Southern railway company is being sold and also leased for a long term. It has a frontage of fifty feet on the west side of the street and is known as the "old mill property." The fee of the lot is being sold for $135,000 and a ninety-nine year lease is being made to a local variety theater manager for improvement as a theater. Another theater project is said to be well under way. The Dramatic Times is authority for the statement that Marshall Field is about to purchase a frontage on State street near Adams street to be improved as a theater for the New York managers Abbey & Grau. Real estate men do not give the rumor much credence, as most of the property on State street in the vicinity named, which would be suitable for improvement with a first-class theater has been disposed of under leases of more or less extended terms. The Chenequa Building Co. announces its intention of building a fine apartment house at Nos. 1632 and 1634 Wabash avenue at an outlay of about $100,000. The lot to be improved has a frontage of fifty feet. The building will be seven stories high and will contain fifty-two suites of apartments and two stores.

The small strip of land at the northwest corner of Dearborn and Van Buren streets has been practically purchased by the Brooks' estate. This lot which is all of the block bounded by Van Buren and Jackson streets, Dearborn and Custom House Place, not under control of the Brooks' estate, has been offered to this estate during the last five years at prices ranging all the way from $75,000 up to $200,000, which is said to be the price at which the lot is now to be transferred from Charles Gray to the Brooks' estate. It is not generally believed, however, that the Brooks' estate would begin excavations for the new Katahdin office building without making provisions for the purchase of the 16x100 foot strip which is the key to the south end of the block. The proprietor of the market on the strip states that his lease which extends over a term of two years has been provided for, and that he expects to be called on to vacate the premises at once. If this small lot is transferred at $200,000, a greater amount will be paid for it than was paid for the "L" extending along the west and north sides of it with a frontage of twenty-five feet on Dearborn street and of fifty feet on Van Buren street. J. H. Van Vlissingen has sold for Maria Gail of Berlin, Germany to Lorenzo Pratt, a seventy-foot lot on the west side of Michigan avenue, 350 feet north of Sixteenth street for $66,500. This sale establishes a front foot valuation of $850.

ACTIVITY IN THE NORTHWEST.

Some new developments of a very important nature may be expected soon in the property owned by the Columbia Steel Car Company near Des Plaines. Benj. F. Holmes, who has been the chief promoter of the enterprise, has succeeded in interesting two other syndicates in property in the vicinity of the Columbia Steel Car Company's purchase, and the entire holding is now nearly 1300 acres. The Car Company's original purchase was 105 acres. This is now supplemented by a holding of 847 acres by the Brock Land Association, and 327 acres by the Holmes Park Land Association. The intention is to combine the three parcels into a large manufacturing suburb.

The Brock Land Association is backed by Horace Brock, president of the First National bank of Lebanon, Pa., A. L. Norrie, an extensive mine owner and capitalist from Michigan, Isaac E. Adams of the law firm of Adams & Hamilton, B. F. Holmes and others. The Holmes Park Land Association is composed of Dr. P. Whipple of Saginaw, Mich., B. F. Holmes, John F. Dittman, Carl Hulsman, and Hamilton H. Ingham of this city, and Reuben Wright and several other capitalists in the east.

The factory of the Western Coated-Card Paper Company has been in operation on the site since November. A prominent Welsh manufacturer will soon establish a plant for the manufacture of tinplate and will employ several hundred workmen. A number of other manufacturing interests are negotiating for sites in this locality. The land lies between the main line of the Northwestern road on the northeast and the Wisconsin Central on the west, with the Desplaines river flowing through the center. A switch track will be built to connect the two railroads.

AUCTION SALES AT THE REAL ESTATE EXCHANGE.

The first auction sales of real estate at the rooms of the Real Estate Exchange will be held next Monday. They are two decretal sales. This is expected to be the opening of the auction business and other sales will follow. It is said that of the 150 members of the Exchange, nearly every one has property he wishes to sell at auction, and a few members have as many as 100 pieces listed. If property can be disposed of readily at auction, there will be no lack of offerings on the Exchange.

CHICAGO HEIGHTS.

Two hundred and thirty-seven lots were sold at Chicago Heights during the past week, and contracts were awarded for the construction of 83 houses. The Chicago Heights Land Association, which is a wealthy and powerful organization, is making wonderful improvements and progress, and is rapidly building up a new city. In addition to the contract awarded to Dolese & Shepard, amounting to $175,000 for macadamizing streets. They have advertised for 500 men and 50 teams to commence work on a new subdivision, adjoining the Michigan Central Railway and the Chicago & Eastern Illinois Railroad.

Miss Stanchfield, of 591 La Salle avenue, Chicago, has purchased sixteen lots at Chicago Heights and has awarded a contract for the construction of sixteen houses which she will sell or rent to the employes of the various factories now located and building at Chicago Heights.

SOME REMARKS ON SPECIAL ASSESSMENTS.

THEY DISCOURAGE LOT BUYERS.

The making of improvements by special assessment has but one advantage over a general tax levy and that is that the expense can be made to fall directly on the property benefited. But abuses are continually growing out of the system in vogue. It is frequently a matter of opinion as to just what particular property is benefited by a certain improvement. The commissioners frequently go beyond the lots and property adjoining the improvement and levy an assessment far beyond the terminus of a sewer and upon both sides for a distance of several blocks. Differences arising from the system now in vogue in Cook county and Chicago have been adjusted in court, but as fast as one assessment is settled in this way others arise involving still other points of difference. Looking around for excuses for a dull real estate market a JOURNAL reporter has discovered that would-be lot buyers have been scared off by special assessments. One poor man who bought two lots at high prices in 1890 has just learned that his lots will be assessed about $383 for a sewer and other improvements, the lots having cost him $1,000 each. He is trying to find a man who will pay the assessments on the two lots for a deed of one of them. Another young man of family purchased two good sized lots outside the city at about the same figure and finds that he must pay $200 for improvements besides the the general taxes. Both of these parties have paid for their lots and now feel unable to pay the outrageous assessments. There are thousands of lot owners after a fashion, who bought their lots on monthly payments and now find that in addition to these installments they must pay almost as much as their lots are worth in the way of special assessments.

This very thing, say several dealers, is helping to knock out the lot trade.

It is also well known that a suburban town can not long exist without sewers, sidewalks and streets, especially the first.

Some subdividers put in all the improvements including sewer connections, before they sell the lots and thus avoid all of these difficulties.

NEEDS OF SIMPLER TITLES ILLUSTRATED.

The advocates of the Torrens system of land transfer claim that the present system is too cumbersome and slow, and that the transfer of property is delayed and hindered by the red tape accompanying the examination of titles, and the constant efforts to clear up clouded transfers. Some instances in point have occurred recently, but the most striking example is the case of Marshall Field's purchase of 700 acres of land at Downer's Grove from General A. C. Ducat, the final papers for which have just been signed and delivered. The purchase was made two years ago, and the figure paid—$300 an acre and over—was the price then made, and by no means represents the market value at the present time. For years General Ducat labored to secure the tract of land, and the number of transfers made to him from small holders numbered sixty-five. When Marshall Field purchased the tract, an examination of the title to each of these separate pieces was entered upon and the flaws discovered were more numerous than the pieces of property transferred. It has taken two years of pretty steady work to get them all cleared, and the property has at last been accepted by Mr. Field. This is only one example out of many that might be cited, which go to show that some practical scheme for simplifying transfers ought to be adopted.

THE ELEVATED TERMINAL SYSTEM.

ONE MILE A MONTH TO BE ERECTED BEGINNING JUNE 1.

Work on the Chicago elevated terminal system will begin June 1. Gen. Torrence says that the details are nearly perfected, so that after the work is started, one mile a month may be erected. The question of freight houses for the roads using the terminal is now being considered. They are to be provided with apparatus for lowering freight cars to the surface after they have entered the freight yards.

James Dunn, chief engineer of the Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fe road, whose property has been secured for Gen. Torrence's system, has been studying the elevated freight house system of London under the instruction of president Manvel of the Santa Fe. In a recent letter to Mr. Manvel he describes the Broad street station of the London & Northwestern road. "Here," said he, "the freight terminals cover an irregular-shaped piece of ground approximately 1,100 feet in length by an average width of 450 feet, containing about eleven acres. One-half of the upper level is used for a hotel and passenger station and the other half is used as a switching yard for the receipt and delivery of the freight cars, that are lowered to the street level, twenty-five feet below, by powerful hydraulic lifts. Cars are hoisted in twenty seconds, but including all delays of placing and transferring the cars their capacity is about fifty cars an hour.

"The trains are brought into the yards by switch engines from larger yards situated farther out and are placed on certain tracks assigned for that purpose, after which all the switching of the cars is done by means of ropes wound around capstans turned by hydraulic engines attached to each capstan. The operator simply has to press a knob with his foot to start the capstan. A motion backward or forward can be made by winding the rope to the right or left around the capstan."

DISPLAY OF ONYX AT THE AMERICAN INSTITUTE.

Monday, April 25th, 1892, was Inspection Day at the Institute of Building Arts, a free permanent exhibition of building materials owned by the Illinois Chapter of the American Institute of Architects and conducted by them for the benefit and education of the general building public, who are welcome to its rooms at all times to inspect the varied and beautiful exhibits it contains. The special feature of last Monday was a very elaborate display of Arizona onyx and as all the architects of the city had been invited, Manager Pierce of the Institute and Mr. Fellows representing the Onyx company, were kept busy entertaining the many guests. A luncheon was served in the north end of the hall and the affair was a decided success.

American architects and builders will no longer have to depend on Mexico for onyx, for large deposits of that valuable stone have been found in Yavapal county, Arizona, where the Arizona Onyx company has established quarries. The deposits cover 220 acres, and the quality of the stone is fully equal, if not superior, to the Mexican onyx. These beds were discovered two years ago, but the stone has been put on the market since January. It comes at the right time, as Mexican onyx is getting scarce The colors predominating in the onyx are emerald green, amber, white and red, and in some cases, where the oxidation has extended through the green layer the colors produced are ochre yellow, mahogany, brown and deep red, making what is known as the tapestry onyx. The size of the blocks obtained from the quarries are limited only by facilities of transportation, blocks containing from 20 to 100 cubic feet while the onyx is sold at $15 per cubic foot. The being readily secured. The value of the product of these quarries may be estimated from the fact that the best Carrara marble cost $2.50 per cubic foot resources of the beds are as yet unknown, and so far they have only been worked to a depth of thirty feet. The onyx is of volcanic origin and the deposits are from hot springs.

There were over one hundred gentlemen present during the day, chiefly architects, who expressed themselves as highly pleased with the display.

SOME SALIENT POINTS OBTAINED FROM A REVIEW OF RECENT NEW YORK BUILDING LEGISLATION.

The amended building law for the city of New York, which is described by an authority as the most perfect building law ever framed, comprises forty-six sections and covers sixteen columns of an ordinary newspaper. It is published in full in Architecture and Building for April 16. Our space will admit of only a synopsis of the law; but we recommend a study of the full text of the measure to all who are directly interested in the new building law now under consideration by the committee appointed to revise the building laws of Chicago. Section one of the New York law provides for the creation of a new department, to be known as the "department of building." The head of this department shall be called the "superintendent of buildings." He shall be appointed by the mayor for a term of six years and shall receive a salary of $5,000 per annum. His powers and duties together with the jurisdiction of the department he represents are set forth at length in the new statute.

Section 9 provides that all excavations shall be properly guarded and protected from becoming dangerous to life and limb. Where an excavation is more than ten feet deep, the persons making such excavation must preserve adjoining walls from injury. Where party walls are used, the persons making the excavation must preserve them. Where excavations are intended to be permanent, the adjoining property must be protected by retaining walls.

Section 10 provides that every building shall have foundations laid not less than four feet below the surface of the earth. Foundation walls shall be built of stone or brick. If built of stone, they shall be at least eight inches thicker than the wall next above them; if of brick, they shall be at least four inches thicker. The footing shall be of stone or concrete or both. Before the walls of buildings are carried up above the foundation walls, the cellars must be connected with the street sewers or some provision must be made to prevent water accumulating.

Section 11. In buildings where the space under the sidewalk is utilized, a sufficient stone or brick wall shall be built to retain the roadway of the street, and the side end or party walls of such building shall extend under the sidewalk of sufficient thickness to such wall. Open areas shall be properly protected with suitable railings.

Section 12. The basement walls of dwelling houses not over thirty-five feet in height, and not over twenty feet in width, shall not be less than twelve inches thick. The other walls, except party walls, shall not be less than eight inches thick. The walls of all other residence buildings between thirty-five and fifty feet in height, shall be not less than twelve inches thick. In buildings between fifty and sixty feet in height, the walls in the first story must be sixteen inches thick, unless it is a high-stoop house. Between sixty and seventy-five feet, the walls shall be sixteen inches thick to a height of twenty-five feet, thence to the top twelve inches thick. Between seventy-five and eighty-five feet in height, twenty inches thick to a height of twenty feet, sixteen inches thence to sixty feet, and twelve inches to the top. Between eighty-five and 100 feet, twenty-four inches to the height of thirty-five feet, thence twenty inches to seventy-five feet, thence sixteen inches to the top. Between 100 and 115 feet, twenty-eight inches thick to twenty-five feet, thence twenty-four inches to fifty feet, thence twenty inches to ninety feet, thence sixteen inches to the top. If over 115 feet in height, each additional twenty-five feet next above the curb shall be increased four inches in thickness, the upper 115 feet of wall remaining the same as specified for a wall of that height.

The walls of all warehouses, stores, factories, and stables shall not be less than twelve inches thick to the height of forty feet. Above that height substantially the same regulations are imposed as for residence buildings, except that each successive tier of wall is to be four inches thicker in the manufacturing class than in the residence class. Where there is a clear span of over twenty-five feet between walls, the bearing walls shall be four inches more in thickness than in this section specified, for every twelve and one-half feet the walls are more than twenty-five feet apart. In case iron or wooden girders, supported by iron or wooden columns, or piers of masonry, are substituted in place of brick partition walls, the building may be seventy-five feet wide and 210 feet deep, and if located on a corner, may be 100 feet wide and 105 feet deep, but not larger, unless a fire-proof building.

All stone used for the facing of any building, and known as ashlar, shall not be less than four inches thick; shall be anchored by the backing, and the backing shall be of the thickness required for walls, independent of the ashlar.

The first floor of every building to be occupied as a hotel or lodging house, and every tenement house, apartment house or dwelling five stories high, shall be of fire-proof construction with iron or steel beams and brick arches. The basement stairs must be in the rear of the main stairs and must be enclosed in brick. No closet shall be constructed underneath the first story staircase. The floor of the cellar shall be concreted and the ceiling shall be lathed with wire lath and plastered. Wood wainscoting in any building hereafter erected must be backed with plaster and incombustible material.

Lintels of stone for doors and windows shall be not less than eight inches in height for openings not exceeding four feet in width; twelve inches for an opening six feet wide; and for an opening exceeding six feet and not more than eight feet in width, the lintel shall be the full thickness of the wall to be supported, and not less than twelve inches in height. Every stone lintel which is of less thickness than the wall shall be supported by a good timber lintel on the inside.

In every building used as a dwelling-house, tenement-house, apartment-house or hotel, each floor shall be of sufficient strength in all its parts to bear safely upon every superficial foot of its surface seventy pounds; and if to be used for office purposes not less than 100 pounds; if to be used as a place of public assembly, 120 pounds; as a store, factory, or warehouse, 150 pounds; and every floor shall be of sufficient strength to bear safely the weight imposed and its own weight.

Every building erected to be used as a hotel, and every building erected for a theatre, hospital, asylum, institution or school, the height of which exceeds thirty-five feet, and every other building exceeding in height eighty-five feet must be of fire proof construction. That is, no wooden beams or lintels shall be placed in them. The stairs and staircase landings shall be built entirely of non-combustible materials. No wood-work shall be used except in the doors, windows and their frames, trims, casings, the interior finish when backed with fire-proof material, and the floor boards and sleepers directly under.

The superintendent of buildings may cause every iron or steel beam, lintel or girder intended to span an opening over ten feet in length, to be tested with double the weight to be supported, and the deflection of a cast iron beam shall not exceed one-fiftieth of an inch to the foot of span.

All fire-places and chimneys shall be smooth plastered on the inside; and the fire backs of all fire-places, and the stone or brick-work of all smoke flues, and all chimney shafts shall be at least eight inches thick.

Where a kitchen range is placed near a wooden stud partition, the studs shall be cut away and framed two feet higher and one foot wider than the range. All gas and steam pipes and all electric wires, shall be arranged so that the supply can be cut off outside the building. No swinging or folding gas bracket shall be placed against any stud partition or woodwork.

Every building more than two stories high, except dwelling houses, hotels, schools and churches, shall be provided with iron shutters on every opening above the first story except in front. These shutters must be closed at night. Every mansard roof or other roof having a pitch of over sixty degrees, shall be constructed of iron rafters and lathed with iron on the outside and plastered, or filled with fire-proof material not less than three inches thick and covered with metal, slate or tile. All cornices and gutters must be of fire-proof material. Every dwelling house occupied by three or more families above the first story, and every building more than three stories in height occupied as a hotel or lodging house, and every boarding-house having more than fifteen sleeping rooms above the basement story, and every factory, mill, workshop, hospital, asylum, institution, school, and every office building five stories or more in height, shall be provided with good fire escapes as directed by the superintendent of buildings.

All buildings of a public character, such as hotels, churches, theatres, restaurants, railroad depots, public halls, etc., shall be arranged under the direction of the superintendent of buildings, to facilitate egress in case of fire or accident. On the subject of theatres the most stringent regulations were adopted. The subject is treated at great length, and every possible precaution is provided for the public safety. The section covering this part of the building ordinance is well worthy of close study.

The power allotted to the superintendent of buildings is practically dictatorial. He is allowed to vary or modify the provisions of the ordinance wherever there are practical difficulties in the way of carrying out the strict letter of the law. In the case of theatres and other public buildings, he is empowered to notify the owners at any time of alterations necessary to the safety or convenience of their buildings, and to enforce the making of such changes as may be required. His term of office is for six years, and he can be removed by the mayor only after written charges have been preferred against him and the approval of the governor has been secured in writing.

A NEW REAL ESTATE PAPER.

Messrs. Tevis & Fisher, real estate agents and auctioneers, of San Francisco, are out with the first number of their new paper which they have christened the Real Estate Journal. The new venture presents a very creditable appearance typographically and editorially and reflects much credit on Messrs. Tevis & Fisher, who, by the way, are one of the largest and most enterprising real estate firms on the Pacific coast.

IN LINE WITH PUBLIC IMPROVEMENTS.

If any one feature of public and private improvement is more wanting than others, it is solid roads and sidewalks. Subdividers have learned by experience that they cannot sell lots without these improvements; hence the demand for this class of work. Mr. Adam Imhof, the well known real estate man has formed a co-partnership with Mr. James Laird, for the purpose of constructing cement pavements, sidewalks, cellars, etc., in any design or color in Portland cement.

In the execution of cement paving Mr. James Laird has had many years experience and is rated as an expert. Therefore all work intrusted to them can be safely guaranteed to be only first class in material and workmanship. The JOURNAL bespeaks for this new house a useful and prosperous career] The central office is at 93 E. Washington street, with branch offices at 301 Webster avenue, and 1641 N. Clark street, Chicago.

CURRENT COMMENT.

At the last meeting of the city council an order was introduced providing for the cleaning and sprinkling of streets by special assessment. Figures were given in support of the statement that under the present arrangement the cost of street sprinkling alone to the occupants of a single lot is greater than the cost of sprinkling and cleaning would be under the special assessment system. It was claimed that the present cost of sprinkling is about eight dollars a lot and that by special assessments both sprinkling and cleaning could be accomplished at not to exceed seven dollars per annum. The order provided for the appointment of a committee of five members of the council who should consult with the Commissioner of Public Works and the Corporation Counsel and report within two weeks after appointment. The resolution was referred to the Committee on Judiciary. In view of the fact that the city will be observed during the coming year by the eyes of all the world it is certain that something must be done to secure clean streets. The committee should be appointed without delay.

The anthracite coal fields of Pennsylvania are the present source of supply of about 400,000,000 tons of coal per annum. It is estimated that at this rate they will last probably 100 years longer. The estimate is liberal and is based on the investigations of Joseph S. Harris, who is an authority on this subject. In view of the fact that the demand for anthracite coal is increasing yearly it is doubtful if the price will ever be lower than it has been. The recent combination of coal roads, also, is not favorable to a reduction in price. The avowed object of this combination is to effect economy in the mining and shipping of coal and thus to make larger profits without increasing the cost of the product. Probably the only conspicuous instance of that kind in this country is the Standard Oil Company. That corporation has undoubtedly cheapened the cost of oil to the consumer very appreciably and at the same time has enriched its stockholders. If the Reading combination can do as much in the handling of coal it will prove its right to a share in the public confidence and esteem.

The following points from a talk by Dr. Samuel H. Durgin on "Healthy Holmes" are worth remembering. First, do not select a site for a dwelling near a swamp, mill-pond or stagnant water or near factories that give off noxious odors or drainage from which smells arise. Don't neglect a southern exposure, as a northern exposure always makes a cold, damp house. There should be no part of the cellar that cannot be easily lighted and ventilated. Then your rooms should be so arranged as to be easily ventilated and flooded with sunlight. Your windows should be large and ample, reaching near the ceiling and also near the floor. I would advise smooth walls, frescoed or painted. The floors may be either hard or soft wood, but carpets are an abomination. They are the receptacles of dust containing organic germs, which get into the eyes and throat causing many serious troubles. The furnace must be supplied with fresh air, with the mouth of the air-shaft as far as possible from the garbage barrel and cesspool. The last consideration in the building of a house is ventilation, but it is not by any means the least. The old fashioned fire-place is one of the best means of ventiating homes, even though it is not needed for heating. The transom should not be lost sight of. Wells should never be near cesspools, barnyards or other contaminating influences. Rainwater is seldom fit for domestic use. The best plumbing is none too good, and the most expensive thing you can have in a house is poor plumbing. You never know when it will give out or when health will be jeopardized. Never let water accumulate. Have no dark, damp corners and no standing garbage. All garbage should be burned at once.

The decision of the special committee on building ordinance to hold a number of public meetings, to which will be invited everybody interested in a proper building ordinance and its enforcement, is a step in the right direction. A similar policy was pursued by the New York Board of Revision, with very gratifying results, while considering the amendments to be made to their building law. The measure adopted is considered by prominent authorities as near perfection as possible. It is the result of the combined efforts of the best citizens of New York to secure a perfect building ordinance and a study of its provisions is recommended to the Chicago committee. We give in this issue an abstract of the salient points of the ordinance. It will be noticed that the act provides for a new department to be known as the "department of buildings," which shall have exclusive charge of all matters pertaining to the construction and inspection of buildings.

AGENTS' BUDGET.

Recent sales, however small, not yet recorded, will be reported in this column. All matter must apply to the real estate business and real estate men.

S. E. Gross reports that as the season advances inquiries from parties desiring property to improve become more numerous and that the outlook for the present year is exceedingly good. The following sales have been made during the past week: Four houses at Grossdale for $15,750. Seven houses at Ashland avenue and 47th street for $13,750. One house at Dauphin Park, $3,150. Thirty-seven lots at Grossdale for $11,500. Fifteen lots at Gross Park for $9,375. Nineteen lots at Dauphin Park, $13,900. Twelve lots at Calumet Heights, $7,575. He also reports the sale of 100 feet in North Evanston, near the Sheridan Drive for $1,750 Charles Deering was the purchaser in this case. Both sales were all cash transactions.

An offer of $200,000 is said to have been made for the southwest corner of Van Buren street and Custom House place, belonging to G. F. Swift. The lot has a frontage of 50 feet and is 120 feet deep, improved with a four-story building erected about twenty years ago. The price offered establishes a valuation of $4,000 a front foot for the ground, or about $33 per square foot.

There is to be a good deal of building soon in Oaklawn, the new subdivision of 213 acres on the Wabash Railroad, southwest of Englewood. The streets are being improved throughout the tract. A feature among the improvements will be a lake a half mile long.

The subdivision of Edgemoor consists of 160 acres lying between Seventy-ninth and Eighty-third streets, and between Western and California avenues. The whole tract is to be improved on a common basis, and the syndicate which owns it has already let the contracts for the street improvements on eighty acres. These will cost $1,400 an acre. The sidewalks will be of granite cement, with combination curb and gutter; the streets will be macadamized. Work was begun Tuesday on the sidewalk and curb work, and in two weeks the macadamizing will be begun. Inside of two months the work will be finished on the whole eighty acres. By that time, too, the Chicago Central Railroad, the suburban line belonging to the Northern Pacific, will be running trains through the new town site. Plans are thus far drawn up for eight houses; the contracts for three have already been let. C. S. Hazlewood and Geo. R. Wright, managers of the property, are each building a $6,000 house, which they expect to occupy about June 15.

A. A. Cooke has sold 66x95 feet on Lake Park avenue, northwest corner Thirty-first street, to C. M. Mitchell for $25,000.

E. G. Beach and others have purchased from J. Wells for $12,500, 5 acres at the southwest corner of Eighty-first and Robey streets.

Berwyn, the new suburb nine miles out on the Burlington Road, is growing with unusual rapidity. The railroads have already established two stations on the tract, which includes 234 acres. Andrews & Piper, the owners, state that at least 100 new residences will be erected in Berwyn during the present season The twenty-one houses now in course of construction are all sold before they are under roof, and plans are now being drawn up for twenty-five more on which work will be begun at once. The owners will put $100,000 into an artesian well and water works this summer. They are also about to erect a row of two story brick store buildings.

J. H. Van Vlissingen & Bro., have sold for Maria Gail, of Berlin, Germany, to Lorenzo Pratt, of this city for $66,500 a seventy foot lot on the west side of Michigan avenue, about 350 feet north of Sixteenth street. This establishes a price of $850 a foot.

Andrew Dunning has closed the sale of the fifty-one shares in the syndicate which he organized to purchase the Hubbard tract near Jefferson. This piece of land contains fifty-one acres and is to be bought for $61,200, being at the rate of $1,200 an acre. It is about four blocks from the Jefferson Park station on the Northwestern Railway, and a few blocks from Forest Glen station on the Milwaukee & St. Paul Road.

F. D. Patterson & Son have sold for John Wells to Charles W. Lobdell 75x161 feet south of and adjoining Mr. Lobdell's 100 feet at the southwest corner of Indiana avenue and 47th street for $102.50 a foot.

On a 6 per cent basis this lease establishes a present valuation of $1,000 per foot for the property, and $2,000 per foot for the major portion of the term. The lot is 173 feet deep and is owned by Thomas R. Lyon.

Martha B. D. Rumsey has sold to M. R. Ward 28½x140 feet on Ellis avenue, east front, between 35th and 36th streets, for $16,000. The property is improved.

LATE LEGAL DECISIONS.

DISTRIBUTION OF ESTATE OF INTESTATE.

It is well settled that by the common law the distribution of personal property, wherever situated, is governed by the law of the country of the intestate's domicile at the time of his death, and not by the conflicting laws of the various places where the goods happen to be situated.

The controversy was as to the distribution of estate, the husband claiming it under the law of descent of Illinois and the next of kin claiming it under the law of descent of Missouri. The opinion of the court was that the situs of this property, so far as distribution is concerned, was not in Illinois, but in Missouri.

OWNERSHIP OF RIGHT TO DAMAGES.

An owner of real estate after bringing suit for an injunction and damages against an elevated railroad, sold the real estate, reserving to himself all damages caused or to be caused by the maintaining of such railroad. Held, that he, as owner, was entitled to an injunction and damages. The abstract question, whether, an owner can, before or after suit brought, convey the entire premises and reserve to himself the right to maintain an action for an injunction, or the recovery of permanent damages to the property by reason of its maintenance was not passed upon by the courts.

JURISDICTION OF PROBATE COURT DEFINED.

The Probate Court is clothed with jurisdiction in all matters of probate, settlement of estates of deceased persons, appointment of guardians, and conservators and settlements of their accounts. It is not confined to the exercise of legal powers, but may also exercise equitable powers in the jurisdiction of all matters pertaining to the settlements of estates. It is only in extraordinary cases that a court of equity assumes jurisdiction in the settlement of an estate, and supersedes the Probate or County court.

THE DEFENSE OF ULTRA VIRES.

A corporation organized for buying, selling and improving real estate, made a contract with A, to organize for it two other corporations which were to carry on their business on the lands of the first corporation. In a suit against the first corporation by A for his services, the corporation pleaded that the contract was ultra vires. Held, a good plea, and further that the corporation, having received and profited by the services of A, was not estopped by this from setting up the plea of ultra vires to A's suit. That since the plaintiff is conclusively presumed to know the limits of the defendant's power (Alexander v. Caldwell, 83 N. Y. 480), it might be difficult to understand how, consistently with familiar principles he can be admitted to say that he acted upon the faith of the validity of the contract—i. e., in the belief that it was not in excess of the corporate powers. The defense of ultra vires is proposed to be excluded by operation of an estoppel; but the authority of a corporation to contract depends on the construction of its charter, and that is matter of law. But a mistake of law, merely, cannot be the foundation of an estoppel, because, since all are conclusively held to know the law, the party alleging the estoppel can not pretend to have incurred detriment by reliance on a misunderstanding or misinterpretation of the law.

COSTS AND VALIDITY OF SPECIAL ASSESSMENTS.

The commissioners appointed by the court to levy a special tax for the improvement of a street by a city, are officers of the court and not employes of the city, and their fees or compensation is a part of the expenses of levying and collecting the tax, and no appropriation is required of the city to pay for the same.

When an ordinance for the paving of a street by special taxation is passed so late in a fiscal year that the improvement can not be made in that year, an appropriation ordinances for the payment of intersections of streets and alleys by the city may be made in the next succeeding fiscal year, and the fact that no such appropriation ordinance is passed before the institution of the proceedings, will not invalidate the ordinance or proceedings.

WHAT CONSTITUTES TENDER OF PAYMENT.

A lease provided for the payment of $62.50 rent, semi-annually on the first days of May and November in each year, and gave the lessor the right to declare the term ended if default was made in payment of rent. The rent falling due Nov. 1, 1890, remaining unpaid the lessor on Dec. 4, 1890, notified the lessee that the rent due must be paid on or before Jan. 1, 1891. On Jan. 3 the lessee offered the lessor a check for $50, the note due being only $47.70, but being unable to make the change, the lessor told the lessee to hold the check and that he would call and get the same: Held that the facts failed to show any forfeiture of the lease up to Jan 4, 1890.

ACCEPTANCE OF AN OFFERED SALE.

A lease for a term of years contained a clause that during the term the lessee should have the privilege of purchasing the premises from the lessor for the sum of $2,500 to be paid in cash upon the delivery of a warranty deed. Before any forfeiture of the lease the lessee tendered to the lessor a certificate of deposit for $2,500 indorsed in blank, to which no objection was made, and a warranty deed of the lessor and her husband for execution: Held, that the acts of the lessee was a sufficient acceptance of the offer of sale and constituted a binding contract.

EXEMPTIONS—RIGHT OF DEBTOR.

The Kentucky Supreme Court held, in the recent case of Scholl vs. Lorenz, that where the mother of a debtor's wife having resided with him during the lifetime of the wife continues to do so after the wife's death, being dependent upon him for support, he is a housekeeper "with a family" within the meaning of the exemption laws.

REMOVALS.

The real estate firm of W. G. Garvey & Co. will remove their central office from the main floor of the Rookery Building to 150 La Salle street, May 1st. As is well known this firm is joint owner of the auction privilege on the Chicago Real Estate Exchange, with which it has been prominently identified from the date of organization. W. G. Garvey & Co. have an extensive business acquaintance in Chicago and decidedly pleasant relations with real estate men. The JOURNAL finds pleasure in adding its testimonial of the firm's good character, to the long list of friends. This house has undertaken a great work and should be praised for their honest efforts in inaugurating auction sales of real estate.

Adolph Loeb, Son & Co., the well known Insurance Agency, will remove to Nos, 189-191 La Salle street, Calumet Building where they will have more room and better facilities for transacting their rapidly increasing business. They invite their friends to call.

NEW PLANS BY CHICAGO ARCHITECTS.

Architect Francis J. Norton has completed drawings for a hotel to be known as the "Columbian" and to be erected at 73d and Kinney avenue for Mr. M. E. Gilbertson. The building will be four stories high containing six hundred rooms. The interior will be built of brick and frame, and will be fitted up with all the latest and modern improvements at a cost of $50,000. Also a three-story store and apartment building, 25x70 feet, to be erected at 31st and Arch streets, for Miss VanBuren. It will be built of stone brick and iron and will have all modern improvements; cost $10,000. Also plans for six residences of various designs to be erected at Auburn, for the Chicago Mill Construction Co. They will be three stories high and fitted with all modern improvements; total cost, $60,000. Mr. Norton is working on plans for Mr. Rhodes of Boston, for a three story building 25x80 feet to be erected at 63d and Cottage Grove avenue. It will be built of iron, stone and brick and will have all modern improvements. Also for the same party a three story building to be erected at 40th street, near Grand boulevard. It will contain eight and twelve room apartments and be built of Bloomington stone and have all the latest sanitary, electric and modern improvements. Estimated cost $20,000.

Mrs. Ellen McCarthy will erect a 3 story flat and store building on 62d street, Englewood, to cost about $8,000. The plans were prepared by W. W. Boyington.

The Michigan Southern Railroad has sold to the United Presbyterians the corner of State and 62d streets on which it is said the society will erect a 4-story building to have a frontage of 485 feet and to be 125 feet deep. Edgemoor

We are now offering for sale blocks and lots in Edgemoor, the new suburb on the Chicago Central Ry. at 79th street. Edgemoor is one-half mile square and includes 160 acres of the beautiful ridge property in the South-West part of the city with an East frontage on Western Ave. and a North frontage on 79th street. The Chicago Central, the Northern Pacific's new suburban road, runs directly through the center of the property with a depot at 81st street. On this road will be inaugurated by June 1st, the most complete train service as to elaborateness of equipment and quick running time given on any suburban road in the city. The scheduled time from Edgemoor to the Grand Central depot will be 22 minutes. The South 80 acres of Edgemoor is being improved in a high class manner. The contracts for the side-walk and curb and gutter work have been let to The North Western Asphalt Co. The walk is built of granite and cement and is six feet wide. The combined curb and gutter is also built of granite and cement, the gutter being eighteen inches wide. Edgemoor is the only residence district in Chicago, outside of the boulevard frontages, where the curb and gutter combined has been put in. The contract for the macadam work has been let to Eggleston, Mallette & Brownell and calls for a high grade of work. A double row of trees of the Catalpa variety, are being planted, one row on the park-way which is 12 feet wide. A special form of warranty deed is used in conveying the property which provides for a 20-foot building line and a $3,000 building restriction. Contracts for four houses to cost $5,000 each have already been let and they will be completed and occupied by June 15th. Every effort will be made to make Edgemoor a high class residence district. Lots will be for sale for the next 60 days at prices 25 per cent less than the same grade of property can be purchased anywhere else in Chicago. We are prepared to offer special inducements to individual investors and syndicates who will take a five-acre block interest in the property. Liberal commissions made to brokers and agents.

CASINO.

Haverly's Mastodon Minstrels are, without question, the most complete organization that has ever appeared in Chicago, and their performances at the Casino (Eden Musee) have been endorsed in most thorough manner by all classes of amusement seekers. Particularly attractive are the entertainments to out-town visitors, who after an inspection of the various objects of interest in the Musee department, attend the minstrel concerts. The program of the past week has been very pleasing, but the coming week will be a gala week, commemorative of Ireland's patron saint, St. Patrick, the great and good, whose birthday is celebrated throughout the entire civilized world. The program will include all the members of the company, and Irish ballads will predominate. The theater will be decorated and draped with the national colors and flags, and our beautiful wax figure of Robert Emmett will be exhibited free. A new singer will be heard in the person of Mr. Albert Yale, well known to all Canadians as a vocalist of much merit. Banks Winter the celebrated tenor, will have a new song. The comedians Rice, Hall, Denton, Rudworth, Bogert, and O'Brien will have new specialties. Ellwood, the wonderful male soprano, will display new feminine toilets. Constantine, the dancer, will execute new solos, and Harry Budworth will repeat his new repertoire. The latter's song, "Come to Baltimore," has "caught the town" and is encored three and four times every performance. Altogether, the week will be one long to be remembered, and all desirous of hearty, wholesome pleasure should not fail to attend. "Excelsior" is Mr. Haverly's motto. Much has been done by this gentleman "but more remains behind."

Do You Realize

That whenever you enter a Carriage you run a serious risk of a painful and costly accident and perhaps Death?

Probably you do not, for the reason that in the multiplicity of your duties and engagements you have not had time to consider the matter.

We have made an investigation of this subject, extending over the period from May 1, 1891, to November 18, 1891, and tha table given below is the startling results. The table is authentic, and the proofs are at our office, though it is undoubted that we have succeeded in tracing only a portion of the accidents that actually occurred.

Runaways from May 1, 1891, to Nov. 18, 1890 -	16,583.
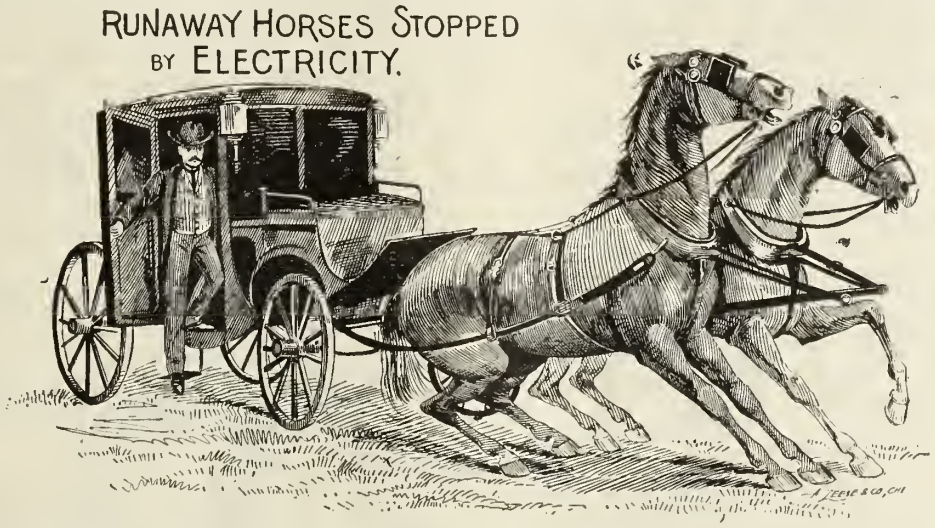
Persons seriously injured, - -	6,136.
Persons slightly injured, - -	4,669.

Injury to horse or vehicle, from slight damage, to death of horse or total destruction of vehicle, occured in 85 per cent. of the reported runaways.

The Device owned and sold by our Company will instantly stop runaway horses no matter how furiously they may be running, without injury to the horses, the vehicle or the occupants. We can satisfy you beyond doubt of the truth of this statement.

There is absolutely nothing about the device that is unsightly. Its presence is not noticed unless attention is specially called to it.



The device is always ready, and is operated by the mere pressure of a button near the driver's seat. Should the driver be off the box, there is another button inside the carriage, to be pressed by any one inside with the same results.

The cuts presented are truthful representations of the appearance of the team, during a public exhibition, while running away, with no one on the driver's box, and an occupant in the closed carriage, and while stopping.

The expense is trifling, and the feeling of security you will enjoy while driving, if you have this appliance, will be worth a thousand times the small expense.

The Device is very simple and does not easily get out of order.

Don't say, after reading this: "Well, I'll look at that some day," but send us a postal card at once, and we will mail you a circular explaining the device in particular, and giving testimonials from the newspapers and from prominent citizens, all of which were given in good faith. In no case has this company purchased testimonials. They are given voluntarily, owing to the great interest excited by this useful and novel invention. We have also an automatic device by which the electrical current is completed, and the horse checked, if nobody is near the vehicle.

INDUSTRIAL DEPARTMENT.

The Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul Railway Company's 6,150 miles of road traverses a vast territory, rich in all the resources that insure industrial success.

The Industrial Department is conversant with the Iron, Coal, Lumber and Tanbark, the Water-Power (both river and artesian) for factory and electric power purposes, the markets, the transportation and financial facilities, and other interests on the line pertaining to industrial development, and disseminates information concerning same.

A number of new factories has been induced to locate—largely through the instrumentality of this Company—at enterprising towns on its lines.

As the interest of the Company is to secure the location of industries at places where the surroundings will insure their permanent success, the information furnished a particular industry is pertinent and reliable.

In the Eastern States and in other parts of the world factories are so congested and distant from the actual markets as to result in fierce and destructive competition. That the West is taking a place as one of the great manufacturing territories of the world is forcibly impressing itself upon discerning and enterprising manufacturers. Steps should be taken by such while the field is as yet not fully covered, and while inducements are still being offered, to locate in the West.

Individuals or companies wishing to embark capital in Western industry can find a profitable field.

Finance and Trade.

A careful survey of the crop situation as reflected by the various state reports and other recognized sources of information, does not justify anything like alarm. In Kansas, and the west generally, rain has been over-abundant; but this has been often accompanied by warm and forcing weather which has kept the farmer in good heart.

It is said that the states of Dakota and Nebraska cannot by any possibility raise within 50,000,000 bushels of last year's crop. Be this as it may, the outlook is such as to have a steadying effect upon values, as reflected by the firmness of prices in presence of weak cables and the indifference of Europe. Farmers engaged in wheat raising are however in a confident frame of mind, and many believe in another bumper crop of their favorite cereal. The condition of corn and oats is undoubtedly less satisfactory, and the former has advanced to 45 cents as the result, while wheat moved up Thursday three cents. On the whole, such a year as last is now scarcely to be expected. though this by no means excludes the possibility of a full average yield, regarding the output of the farms as a whole.

For the past five months of the current year there was exported from this country of gold $20,159,403, as against $26,504,339 for the corresponding period of last year. Per contra, the imports of gold for the first five months of the current year were $5,917,619 as against $1,491,509 for the corresponding period of the preceding year. This gives the net exports of gold up to May 1, 1892, as $14,241,784, as compared with $25,012,830; a decrease for five months, 1892, of $10,771,046, or over 42.9 per cent. This would not be wholly unsatisfactory if we did not look behind the bare figures, but quite otherwise when we recall the special requirements of Europe in 1891, and the large exports of grain from this side during the past year. Most of the gold has, it may be remarked, found its way to France, which country has just now many interests to protect in connection with the tangled finances of Spain and Italy. Meanwhile, the United States government continues to purchase 4,500,000 ounces of silver monthly, and has engaged in an active correspondence with the great monetary powers, to discuss the question of bi-metallism. The senate has asked for a copy of this correspondence, but the President has deemed it right to refuse it as a matter of state policy. The fact is, and there is no use concealing it, that the leading European powers have no intention of changing their currency, being quite content with it as it is. As to Mr. Goschen's phrase, "to bring about a larger use of silver," it means practically, nothing more than the issuance of a little more silver token money—something quite distinct from bi-metalism.

Ten months of the fiscal year having now expired, we are able to form a tolerably good estimate as to the condition of the public finances. The total receipts for the past ten months were $295,528,891, and total expenditures were $299,652,557, or a net deficiency of $4,123,666. For the corresponding period of the preceding year the total receipts were $341,611,890, and the total expenditures were $323,325,517, a net surplus of $18,286,373. Nor do these figures entirely reflect the altered situation. Secretary Foster expresses himself as well satisfied with the outcome, but refrains, perhaps advisedly, from giving the reasons why he is so. The change from a large surplus to a substantial deficit can be traced in the main to two sources. Owing to the recent alterations in the tariff, custom duties have fallen off nearly $40,000,000. In addition, pension charges have risen from $97,174,355 to $109 552,610; an increase of over $12,000,000 during the course of the last ten months.

During the month of April, the circulation increased, according to the statement issued by the Treasury department, $4,930,724. This brings the estimated total circulation of the United States to $1,613,572,244, or $84,255,411 over that on May 1, 1891. Dividing this amount by the population of the country, according to last census, we have $24.72 as the per capita circulation.

The Reading trust is already making itself felt. Anthracite coal has advanced 25 cents per ton. At present, according to all appearances, the loss falls upon the retailers or middle-men, who are bound down to sell according to a schedule of prices. The turn of the manufacturers and the other consumers will, however, doubtless come in time unless legislation interferes. The parties behind the anthracite coal arrangement are credited with the intention of cutting out all intermediaries, and to secure the entire profit from the pit's mouth to the coal-shed of the consumer.

New York again shows a heavy falling-off as compared with the corresponding week of last year. Last week her percentage of decrease was 17.3; this week it is 21.9. Yet the total of her clearings this week exceeds last week's total by nearly $77,000,000. Boston, on the other hand, has lost about $5,000,000 as compared with last week, and shows a decrease of 12.1 percent as compared with the corresponding week last year. Chicago gains 5.4 percent; and Philadelphia 13.5. The returns from these four cities afford an index to the general financial situation. As was seen last week the declines at New York and Boston caused a total decline of 7.2 percent for the entire list of cities. This week the same causes are responsible for a decrease in the total of 13 per cent. The reason for this is seen in the fact that the clearings of the four cities, New York, Chicago, Boston and Philadelphia, are more than four times greater than those of all the other 62 cities combined.

It is an encouraging fact that in spite of the heavy decreases in the returns from seaboard cities Chicago has continued to show an increase as compared with last year. This week there is a falling-off of about $1,400,000 from the week previous, but still the total shows an increase of 5.4 percent over last year's returns. In spite of the general dullness which has prostrated trade all over the country, the rapid growth of this city and the impetus added by preparations for the World's Fair have increased business materially. Generally speaking, the situation in Chicago affords no ground for serious complaint. In fact, the only section showing any special gain in volume of trade during the week has been the northwest.

Montreal and Halifax show handsome gains this week. The latter city declined last week 26.8 percent for the year; this week it increases 29.3. The four leading cities of the Dominion show an increase over the week previous of 13 percent. In this comparison none of them show decreases.

The New York Stock Exchange has at last adopted a clearing house of its own and the new arrangement may be expected to go into effect in a few weeks. It is claimed that this will greatly facilitate stock transactions and the promoters of the plan are looking forward to an increase in business on the Exchange. Inasmuch as a large proportion of the New York clearings heretofore reported have been stock transactions, it is expected that the volume of clearings reported from that city will be materially increased. No definite predictions can at this time be made, however, as the plan is still in the nature of an experiment.

Four groups show increases and three decreases. The percentages of decrease are greater than the increases and the total result is a decrease. For the first time in many months the southern group shows an increase. This is remarkable from the fact that business in the South has been at a stand still so long that the situation has been considered well nigh hopeless. Whether this new indication is valuable as an evidence of returning prosperity is not certain. The stagnation due to depression in the cotton trade has now given way to the activity of the planters who are putting in corn in place of cotton in many localities and the friends of the south hope for better agricultural and industrial results for the near future.

LOCAL STOCK MARKET.

The merits of local securities have been once more vindicated. As pointed out by the JOURNAL last week, local securities move rapidly upward under the stimulus of even moderate purchases, as trade has been active throughout the week with some notable advances.

The street cable railways have once more attracted attention. The earnings of these properties have for some time been quite large, and their prospects are all that could be wished for. Their carrying capacity is strained already to the utmost, and the various managements have a difficult problem before them in devising means to meet the requirements of the present.

The prices of street railway stocks, Street's Stable Car Line, Calumet & Chicago Canal & Dock, Western Stone, Arc, Light & Power, Brewing & Malting, etc., are shown by the figures in the table following.

Among industrial properties, Packing and Provision leads easily in the matter of activity. The statement recently issued as to the financial position of the company must be gratifying to all concerned. It appears that since March 1, 1890—when the business was taken over by the English company—to March 31, 1892, the total net earnings were $1,208,361. There have been regularly distributed dividends at the following rates—on common stock, 15 per cent; on preferred stock, 8 per cent, and upon bonds, 6 per cent. Up to May 1, 1892, there has been thus paid altogether, $534,314. During the same period, the company cancelled, out of profits, $153,000 of its first mortgage bonds, for which it paid but $150,100. When it is added that after doing all this, the company has still a surplus of $523,947, the extraordinarily profitable nature of the business is apparent. Trading in Packing and Provision has been quite brisk. Common stock has advanced from 51 to 52½; and preferred stock from 49 to 51⅛.

The bond market remains dull. Consumers Gas 5s ranged from 85½ to 85¾. Among miscellaneous bonds, $14,000 of North Chicago City Railway 4½s were placed at 95½.

The following prices were made during the week. New York Biscuit, at 68½. Chicago Telephone at 222. Central Union Telephone, at 55 to 54¾. Title Guarantee and Trust, at 100. Auditorium Association, at 58. Board of Trade 5s, at 102½. Among the unlisted securities, Masonic Temple, at 86. Lake street L, at 16, and South Side Rapid Transit advanced from 98 to par.

UNPOPULARITY OF ALIEN LAND LAWS.

Readers of the JOURNAL will remember the very exhaustive and careful discussion of the alien land laws which have from time to time appeared in these columns. The subject is now forcibly brought to mind by recent investigations into the financial condition of the south. From 210 counties in the state of Texas 575 correspondents of Bradstreet's reply as to the agricultural, commercial and industrial situation in that state. In explaining the situation they note among unfavorable influences on trade and collections the "need of more money," "tight money" the need of 'free silver." It is also explained that foreign capital which is needed there has been driven out of the state by the alien land law. It is astonishing how many correspondents mention their opposition to this law. Again in Texas it is declared that money is scarcer there owing to the alien land law.

Comment on the above is unnecessary. The JOURNAL has all along taken the position that the alien land laws of Texas and other states were extremely unjust and would work serious injury to the states enacting them. The present condition of Texas is but a forcible illustration of the theory which we have sought to maintain in opposition to this class of legislation.

LIVE QUESTIONS.

The above caption is the title of one of the most sensible and best written books of the period. The Hon. John P. Altgeld deserves as much praise for his literary attainments as for his impartiality as a judge, and his unimpeachible record as a politician. In addition to these qualities he is a live business man and public spirited citizen. His chapters on "The Administration of Justice," "The Immigrant's Answer," "Pensions," "Protecting the Ballot Box," "Our Penal Machinery," etc., entitle him to the respect and consideration of all patriotic and intelligent people. The voters of Illinois should congratulate themselves that both of the old parties have made wise selections of candidates for State officers, but in respect to the Governorship both candidates are of unimpeachible character. Judge Altgeld is an honor to his party and an example for politicians. Governor Fifer is a patriot. The State of Illinois will be safe in the hands of either.

THE REAL ESTATE MARKET.

INTELLIGENCE RECEIVED BY THE JOURNAL THAT OUTSIDE CAPITAL IS COMING IN ABUNDANCE—NEW WORLD'S FAIR PROJECTS—THOUSANDS OF ACRES TRIBUTARY TO CHICAGO BEING PURCHASED.

Improvement in the local real estate market is expected from the operation of outside capitalists. The expectation of dealers that outside capital will become interested in Chicago property as the season advances, bids fair to be realized. Two fair-sized acre sales made during the present week might be taken as straws to indicate the current in the market caused by outside capital. In one of these sales, an eighty acre tract at the intersection of Sixty-third street and the Belt railway was purchased by a syndicate of outside capitalists at $2,500 an acre. In another, a fifty acre tract at the intersection of Ogden and Robinson avenues in Cicero, was sold by a Massachusetts man to James D. Norton of Pontiac, Michigan, for $120,000. These sales of acre tracts in Cicero and in the Stickney district will be hailed by acre operators as indicating a revival of interest in strictly speculative holdings.

One of the largest acre operations ever carried through in the history of Chicago real estate dealings has just been completed in the transfer of a 10,000 acre holding at a total consideration of about $400,000. It is true that the land is in La Porte county, Ind., but to all intents and purposes, Chicago operators are as much interested in the sale as if it were the transfer of vacant holdings in any of the suburban towns more strictly tributary to the city. The sale is made by Chicago agents and it is also said that Chicago capital is interested in the purchase. The land is sold in relation to Chicago and Chicago advancement. Some intimation of this sale was given by the REAL ESTATE AND BUILDING JOURNAL some weeks ago. The lands to be transferred and for which contracts of sale are now in escrow with a Chicago Trust company are in the southwest corner of La Porte County and include nearly all of the south two-thirds of Dewey Township. There are three holdings transferred. The most important is that of the Huncheon Brothers. Patrick and Richard Huncheon sell 7360 acres for $320,000. These acres include parts of 21 sections of land and extend entirely across the township. A contract on this land of exclusive agency at $30 an acre was secured two years ago by E. H. Tharp. Just a week before the expiration of his option, the present sale was made. The Huncheon Bros. refused to deliver the property at the contract price of $30 an acre, and to avoid any litigation, the purchasing syndicate agreed to pay an additional $100,000. The Long estate sells 322 acres to the west of the Huncheon lands for $66,000. An owner in Ohio, by the name of Reefe sells 620 acres for $24,800.

The purchasing syndicate consists of capitalists from New York, Boston, St. Paul and Chicago. L. F. Menage of St. Paul, and L. J. McCormick of Chicago are said to be interested. The purchasers intend to establish an independent manufacturing town. The peculiar arrangement of railways across the tract is the special feature which attracted them. No less than seven different railways cross the land and there are two junction points entirely enclosed by the syndicate's property. The lands have been held by the grantors in the present transaction for a long time and are extensive hay farms. The John A. Lomax lands lie just south of the Huncheon holding and are all left in the south part of Dewey township, north of the Kankakee river, not controlled by the purchasers. The contracts run to W. H. Taylor, of Gillette & Taylor. It is said that the contracts have been signed securing a number of plants of manufacturers of agricultural implements and of boots and shoes.

NEW WORLD'S FAIR PROJECTS.

In addition to the outside capital feature, the near approach of the World's Fair season should have some effect in stimulating inquiry for a certain class of property. Lithographing firms state that they are deluged with orders for stock certificates for all kinds of World's Fair companies. Corporations are being formed to do every conceivable thing for the comfort or discomfort of World's Fair visitors. Projects for hotel schemes innumerable are being brought forward. They include everything from building mammoth apartment houses and hotels, to the organization of companies to lodge World's Fair visitors in cottages and tents on the South side. The most extensive project is that outlined for the establishment of Camp Columbia on a 160 acre tract south of Grand Crossing. This project includes the erection of 400 or 500 cottages to be used during the World's Fair, in connection with large hotels and club houses and to be sold after the Fair to suburban residents. Another project involves the erection of a large frame hotel in Englewood. A company with a capital stock of $250,000 has been formed to lease a large holding owned by the Lake Shore & Michigan Southern railroad company. This land has a frontage of 450 feet on State street, twenty-five feet south of the viaduct on Sixty-first street. The lot is about 180 feet deep. A temporary building, three stories in height, and arranged in wings around a central court, is to be built. The land is to be leased for two years, at the expiration of which time the building will be removed. The promoters intend to interest members of the Christian Church all over the country, and by this means control the patronage of visitors of this denomination. An Eastern syndicate is negotiating for the purchase or lease of another site in Englewood to be used for hotel purposes. This land runs through from Wentworth avenue to La Salle street, between Sixtieth and Maple streets. It has a double frontage of 500 feet and is vacant. Another project has been outlined by S. L. Moser. Acting for an association of school teachers in Iowa and Missouri, he has leased a five acre block in S. Englewood, bounded by Eighty-sixth, Eighty-seventh, Sangamon and Peoria streets, for a rental of $5,000 for a one-year term. On this block buildings are to be erected to accomodate members of the association who will visit Chicago next year. Still another project includes the leasing of a large portion of the village of Brookline, opposite the south line of the World's Fair tract. The cottages and houses it is said are to be taken as they stand and used during the Exposition season.

A REVIVAL OF INTEREST AT STICKNEY.

All of the spokes in the Stickney wheel were strengthened this week by the announcement of a $200,000 sale in that vicinity by Dunlap Smith & Co. The land comprises eighty acres, and lies on the Belt line north of the Stickney tract. The purchasers are said to be eastern parties, who will establish a manufacturing plant on the property. Other important deals in Stickney property are in progress, and it is believed that this section is coming to the front again after a retirement of some months. It is said that negotiations are in progress for the purchase of another eighty-acre block in this vicinity, and that the deal will be closed shortly.

Frank M. Elliot has closed a 99-year lease to the Evanston Boat Club, of 117x250 feet on the lake shore, north of Greenleaf street in Evanston, at an annual rental of $500. The club will put in a breakwater, will improve with stone curbing and cement sidewalk, and expect to move into elegant new quarters by the first of September.

The Hartford building at the southwest corner of Dearborn and Madison streets, is to be fourteen stories high, of steel fire-proof construction. The first four stories will be faced with brick and terra-cotta. The building will have a Madison street frontage of 50 feet, and 92½ feet on Dearborn street, and will cost between $300,000 and $400,000.

SALES BY ORDER OF THE COURT AND SHERIFF'S SALES.

At the recent meeting of the Real Estate Board the call board committee reported that up to that date 36 judicial sales had been held in the salesroom of the board, at which $64,843 worth of property was sold to the highest bidder. These sales are attracting much attention and members of the board will find it to their advantage to attend them. The JOURNAL publishes each week a complete list of the sales as far as announced with dates and all particulars of interest. This feature of the JOURNAL is well worth the attention of real estate men. In each issue also will be found all the announcements of Sheriffs' sales which take place on Tuesday of each week at 10 a. m. at the east main entrance to the court house. These lists will be kept as complete as it is possible to make them.

THAT ACRE SALE—SOME NEW BUILDINGS.

The largest transaction of the week was the big acre sale in La Porte county, Indiana. A tract of 10,000 acres was sold to a syndicate for a little over $400,000. The lands lie in the southwest corner of the county just north of the Kankakee river. Parts of 21 sections are included. Patrick and Richard Huncheon are the grantors of two-thirds of the tract. The purchase was made in the name of W. H. Taylor, of the firm of Gillette & Taylor. It is said that the syndicate includes four prominent capitalists representing New York, Boston, Chicago and Minneapolis.

Residents of Kenwood are protesting against the location of the Allen Academy at the corner of Woodlawn avenue and 49th street, flush with the street. It is said there is no objection to the academy itself but it is claimed that by disregarding the building line, Prof. Allen will damage neighboring property.

Wabash avenue is to be adorned by a six-story building to be known as the Watson building. It will be located at 553 and 555 Wabash avenue and will have a ground area of 50x171 feet. The cost will be $50,000. The ground floor will be divided into stores and the upper floors into lofts for business purposes. It is to be ready by September 1.

NEW WORLD'S FAIR CITIES.

An interesting feature of the World's Fair is the activity in the neighborhood of Jackson Park, in providing quarters for the throng of visitors who are expected to be present. Two of the enterprises recently outlined have the merit of decided novelty. They are none the less than the building of miniature cities, with houses and cottages for the accommodation of guests. At the head of one of these enterprises is Col. Turner, who has secured a tract at the corner of Seventy-ninth street and South Park avenue, where he proposes to build cottages and houses sufficient to accommodate a multitude of visitors. The other enterprise is that of an eastern syndicate which has secured control of the entire town of Brookline for World's Fair purposes. The company has leased about twenty acres at the corner of Cottage Grove avenue and Seventy-first st., including houses and all improvements made. There are nearly one-hundred houses on this tract that have been secured by the syndicate, containing about six hundred rooms, all of which will be furnished and rented to World's Fair guests. The lease runs for a year and a half from May 1. The syndicate proposes to furnish transportation to the Fair, including tickets of admission, and will relieve its guests of all the business arrangements that usually consume so much of an individual's time. At the corner of Seventy-first street and Cottage Grove avenue a large hotel is to be erected, which will contain a dining-room sufficiently large to accommodate all of the roomers on the tract. The company in charge of this project is capitalized at $500,000, and is said to consist of a number of well known eastern parties.

DISCOURAGEMENT NOT WANTED.

A TYPE OF MAN WHOM REAL ESTATE DEALERS DO NOT LIKE BUT WHO IS ALWAYS PRESENT.

It is a common thing to hear complaints from business men about the dullness of trade and the unsatisfactory condition of things in general. No doubt there are times when there is good cause for complaint. But in the main we are of the opinion that there is no excuse, whatever, for the chronic grumbler and fault finder. Even in the most prosperous times there are men who will persist in croaking. They declare that every thing is going to the dogs and they are continually comparing present conditions of business, etc., with past years, and always to the disadvantage of the present. If efforts are made to boom anything they stand ready to throw cold water and to prophesy evil. They are the last to be convinced that there is a boom, and the first to declare that there is danger of a panic. These men, as a rule, injure only themselves. They wake up at the close of their career to find that other men have stepped in and seized the opportunities they were too short-sighted to see and have thus become wealthy while the croakers stood around and sulked. Every real estate man in Chicago is familiar with the croaker. He is on hand every time a new subdivision is opened or a manufacturing town is started. He is ready to give his opinion freely that the subdivision is too far out or that the manufacturing centre is not a centre, and that in any case the business is being greatly overdone and that investors will find their lots worth less than they paid for them at the expiration of a few months or years. He shakes his head dubiously every time anyone mentions profits or an advance in values. He has doubted the success of every subdivision that has ever been platted; and yet the city continues to grow, and the croaker is left farther and farther behind.

In course of time the old croaker dies; but a new race springs up, so that it may be truly said that the croaker we have always with us. Occasionally a croaker gets rich. But it is never his own fault. He takes land in payment for a debt under protest, perhaps, and the enterprise of his neighbors and the growth of the city makes him wealthy. But all the time he protests against it and refuses to believe in it and does all he can to retard the wave of fortune which bears him irresistably on. In spite of all he is a croaker still.

But these are not the men who attain to real success. Your enterprising, active, sanguine real estate man has no time for complaining. He is too busy selling lots and expatiating on the wonderful progress of the city to allow a thought of disaster to enter his mind. And it is just this kind of restless activity that has made Chicago what it is. In spite of the croakers the solid real estate men of the city have achieved successes unprecedented in the history of this or any other nation.

It is safe to say that in any locality near Chicago in which property is at all active it will never be cheaper than it is today. It is an ever-increasing form of wealth founded on the actual growth of the city, which has been carried successfully through its experimental stages and has attained to such proportions that its future greatness is assured.

DECISION IN A NOTED REAL ESTATE CASE.

In 1856, H. L. Opie sold for $41,000 a large tract of farm land in Jefferson county (then Virginia and now West Virginia) to Henry W. Castleman, a part of the payment being in cash and the rest in interest bearing notes. Those payments which fell due between 1861 and 1864, Castleman paid in confederate money and Virginia bank notes, both of which were depreciated currency, going for the purposes of payment from the United States military lines in West Virginia into the confederate lines in Virginia, and making the payments to Mrs. Opie. Mrs. Opie's sons were in the confederate army and she accepted the money, which was divided between the members of the family, and in 1865, at her request, the trustees executed a deed of release. About fifteen years afterward suit was brought against Castleman, and the point made that the payments in confederate money did not constitute a payment in lawful money as required by the terms of sale. The United States District Court of West Virginia gave judgment against Castleman, but the United States Supreme Court in an opinion by Justice Harlan, reversed that judgment, holding that the aetion on the part of the Opies came too late.

TREND OF THE MARKET.

If Chicago enjoys one advantage more than another over other western cities it is because she occupies a strong position west of and near the lower end of lake Miehigan. Added to this is the advantage of the Calumet river system eomposed of the Big Calumet and Little Calumet rivers and Lake Calumet. This very subject is creating some alarm in the minds of real estate owners in the northwestern portion of the city and eounty. While the North Shore, on account of its desirability as a first class residence district, is improving every year, the western and northwestern townships of Cook county are becoming more and more remote to the business center which is being driven southward. To understand the full meaning of this march of improvement it is necessary to interview real estate owners along West Lake and Randolph streets. A real estate agent who is the owner of much property along and near the above thoroughfares exhibited a list of taxes due on various pieees on West Lake and Randolph streets, and declared that he could not rent some of the properties for enough to pay the taxes and when told by the JOURNAL reporter that that was because the buildings were not modern he said, that those who had expended large sums of money in erecting fine buildings found that the increased rents were not sufficient to warrant the outlay. He further deelared that the march of improvements and values toward Twelfth street and further south was due to the horribly bad roads out in the old town of Jefferson, north half of Cicero and in the town of Maine. The fact of the matter is that people residing and doing business west of Humboldt Park are mud bound six and seven months in the year. A gentleman called at the office of the REAL ESTATE and BUILDING JOURNAL and stated that he had formerly resided in the western portion of the territory described for a period of seventeen years, and kept two horses all or most of the time though he could not use them more than four months in the year. He kept them because he had no other means of transportation. He said he would not go through such a period of suffering and privation again for the best farm out there. He also said that in the few years he had lived on the South side his property had increased from two to three hundred percent, and that his health had been better. Now out of all this talk and complaining together with what is visible to the naked eye, the property owner can easily infer that the lack of improvements, such as sewers, roads, sidewalks, etc., is the sole cause of the present state of affairs. People can not expect to become rich by holding real estate without making any improvements.

CURRENT COMMENT.

The agitation in favor of cleaning the streets of Chicago by special assessment has taken tangible form, and meetings are now being held with a view to the adoption of practical measures in that direction. Citizens can do no greater good to the city than to agitate this and similar questions, with a view to securing the best service possible at the least cost. If it can be shown that under the present system the cleaning and sprinkling of the streets is more expensive and not at all as efficient as it would be under a special assessment plan, then by all means the sooner the latter plan is adopted the better for all concerned. It would be difficult to estimate the importance of clean streets to this or any other city. In a few months throngs of visitors from every quarter of the civilized world will be here. The first characteristic of the city to attract their attention will be the condition of the streets. If they find these in a filthy condition, they will carry away with them a false impression of the city which will do incalculable injury to the business and real estate interests of Chicago. If, on the other hand, they see the streets clean and inviting, they will carry the fair fame of the city to every part of the globe. The difference between clean and unclean streets, is the difference between a good and a bad world-wide reputation.

Bradstreet's has been investigating the financial condition of the south. Over 33,000 replies to questions propounded by that paper have been reeeived from eorrespondents in ten southern states. The inquiries have brought out the faet that the depression in the south has been wide-spread and disastrous, but that apparently a new era of eeonomy and diversified crops is about dawning. Heretofore, in many portions of the south credit has been comparatively easy, and manufacturers, retailers and farmers have pinned too much faith on the success of erops which either did not materialize owing to drouths, or were in such abundance along certain lines as to become a drug on the market. Now credit has become more restricted. Planters are studying a diversity of crops instead of planting all eotton. The indiscriminate use of all fertilizers has been discontinued. Instead of buying their flour and pork in the north, southern farmers will plant eorn and oats and raise hogs, and will encourage southern flour mills. In many counties there are no flour mills worth mentioning. Farmers who have been buying meat will raise eattle. They will also pay more attention to raising horses and mules. In short the indications are that the south is undergoing another industrial reconstruction, and will henceforth be more independent and more solidly prosperous through intelligent and careful financiering on the part of its agricultural and mercantile classes.

The hypoerisy whieh characterizes the action of the Reading combine in its attempt to raise the price of anthracite coal, while piously pretending to be organized merely for the purpose of effecting eeonomies in handling the product of the mines, is disgraceful. A few weeks ago it was announced that the objeet of the combination was not to increase the cost of coal to the eonsumer, but to make the profits of the company greater by redueing its expenses. Now comes a practical illustration of this philanthropic scheme in the shape of an advance in the price of hard coal at a time of year when the ordinary eonditions of supply and demand do not justify any such advance. The strangest feature of the thing is the explanation which officers of the company offer for their inexcusable aetion. They allege that for years they have been charging the people of Pennsylvania more for their hard coal than has been paid by consumers outside the state. In other words they confess to an unparalelled extortion on the citizens of their own state, and then proceed to use this disgraeeful confession as an argument in defense of a similar extortion about to be imposed on residents of other states. Furthermore, it is announced that the poliey of the trust will be to cut out the profits of small dealers in the future, which "economy" we suppose is expected to do much toward swelling the earnings of the trust. Such are some of the liberal methods of the brilliant financiers of the Reading combine. Will investors long continue to put faith in securities founded on such questionable business methods? And how long will the public submit to organized extortion of this kind?

The vigor of our national institutions is strikingly illustrated by the silver agitation. Only a few weeks ago the extreme advocates of free silver were laying siege to Congress with all their forces, and were threatening the currency of the country with disaster in the enactment of free-silver legislation. At once a general discussion of the silver question was taken up by all the newspapers in the country. Boards of trade and commercial clubs all over the land began to study the silver problem in its most practical phases. The result was a better understanding of the subject than had ever before been obtained. At the same time there sprang up a strong opposition from almost every quarter against free coinage. It was seen that in that measure there was an element of great danger to our currency. On the other hand, the silver advocates were enabled to impress upon the thinking public generally, the desirability of a more extended use of silver in national exchanges. So that the silver agitation, instead of dying a natural death as had been predicted, simply took its course in other and natural channels. We are now informed by the dispatches from Washington, that the prospects for an international conference on the silver question in the near future are excellent, and that, judging from the feeling on the subject both at home and abroad, there is a very strong probability that an international monetary agreement will be arrived at.

OPINIONS PRO AND CON.

PROMINENT AUTHORITIES DISAGREE AS TO THE VALUE OF THE TORRENS SYSTEM OF LAND TRANSFERS.

Edward Atkinson advises the adoption of the Torrens System because indefeasible and peaceful possession and occupancy of land is assured at the minimum eost and by the adoption of the simplest method of dealing in property. The New York Record and Guide holds that the method is somewhat dangerous in tendeney and points out that the Torrens law was primarily designed not to remove uncertainties as to title, but to reduce the expense and the delay of land transfers by registration of titles rather than assurances. The New York real estate paper says editorially:

Here in New York it is not so much uncertainty of titles that we are troubled with as the overwhelming number of papers recorded for purposes of notice—a number so overwhelming that the notice given by these papers instead of being easily and safely found is obscured in a maze of documents. Two ways exist of simplifying and quickening the process of land transfer. One would be to abolish searching entirely by adopting the Australian system of registration of titles. Another is to make the documents at present on record available for purposes of notice by introducing a method of indexing that would perform its work efficiently. The first of these methods seems to be reeommending itself to the authorities in other states, and on the whole no New Yorker need regret that it will reeeive the first application to American conditions in some place outside of New York. If no hitches occur in Boston or Chieago it will then be time enough to introduce a system of registration of titles into this city. Meanwhile we have already made one step toward securing what is practically the same end by other means, and by means which are not a violent departure from the methods of reeording which for a century or more have been used in this state, but which are simply a development of those methods to meet exigencies and conditions formerly unknown. By making the block the area of search for all deeds and mortgages recorded in this eounty after January 1, 1891, we introduced a system which is meaningless, unless its provisions are made retroactive. We facilitated searches after a certain date, but arranged things so that before that date all the confusion which drove us to find some means of introducing order should remain. If the system of block indexing had worked badly there would be some reason for hesitation to applying to the mass of valuable records in the registers office, but the system has worked well, and for an expense small compared with that which the public annually pays for elaborate searches, all these records could be made almost immediately available for purposes of notice.

THE VALUE OF STREET PAVING.

A writer in the Covington, Ky., Commonwealth makes the following statement regarding the value of asphalt or brick over the old cobble or macadam roadways for streets:

"Aside from the acknowledged value of good pavements in economy, cleanliness and health to the general business and other interests of a city, statistics taken from the tax duplicates in Cincinnati comparing values in 1883 and 1890 of property abutting on improved streets, show some remarkable results.

Take the Race street improvement from Fourth to Eighth. The cost to the city for 2,566 front feet, at $5.51, was $14,139.60, interest on the bonds for ten years, $5,656.40, a total cost to the city of $19,796. Deducting twenty percent from the increase in taxable value of $294,710 for natural increase, and the annual revenue from taxes is $16,889.76. For the six years since the improvement was made the increase has been $101,339 in taxes. From this deduct $3,500 for keeping asphalt in repair, and then add $16,000 which it would have cost to keep the old boulder street in repair had it not been improved, and there is a gross profit of $113,839, which, less the cost of the improvement $19,796, leaves a net profit to the city from the improvement of $94,043.

CHICAGO'S SHAME.

Another convict gone! Another reminder that a higher power rules! Chicago's disgrace was great when she allowed the arch-conspirators to escape even ignominy and the slightest punishment. A leading daily has the following on the death of O'Sullivan: "It is said that more than a dozen men among the Cronin suspects have met violent and painful deaths since the murder. A fatality has attended the footsteps of all the unutterable scoundrels who formed the plan to lure away Dr. Cronin on an errand of mercy and professional duty, in order that he might be bludgeoned to death. And, undoubtedly, the unerring hand of divine justice will fall in due time on all who were involved in the guilty work of that awful night." There is one or two "eminently respectable" men of means who had guilty knowledge of the cowardly murder still at large in Chicago. The JOURNAL can and will tell the truth about real estate but it has heretofore said enough of the truth about hypocrites, scoundrels and dead-beats. One by one these pests of society are taken away.

THE CALUMET DISTRICT.

Roseland, Pullman and the Calumet District of Chicago, is the title of a 62-page pamphlet which has recently been issued by the enterprising firm of J. H. Van Vlissingen & Bro. The book is, as its name implies, a volume representative of the Calumet District, with especial reference to Roseland. The volume is profusely illustrated with elegant photo-engravings representing scenes on the Calumet river and prominent men who have contributed to the building up of the Calumet district. Maps and birds-eye views of the World's Fair grounds are given, and the entire book is not only highly creditable to the firm it represents but is also calculated to inspire the reader with a new idea of the wonderful possibilities of the Calumet region.

PROGRESS AT HARVEY.

NEW INDUSTRIAL ENTERPRISES REPORTED AT THIS THRIVING MANUFACTURING CENTRE.

No one can form an adequate idea of the rapid growth of Harvey without considering the development of its industrial interests. Notwithstanding the many disparaging comments of jealous competitors, a recent investigation of present conditions in Harvey leads to the conclusion that its progress has been most satisfactory and in fact phenomenal. An air of prosperity permeates the thriving town. No less than 600 houses, including business blocks, hotels, residences, etc,, have been completed, and 200 more are actually under contract. An electric railroad 2½ miles long connects the two manufacturing centres. There are nine factories in active operation, two more are in process of construction, and two have just been located. Two artesian wells, one 1,325 feet in depth and the other 2,075 feet, furnish an abundance of pure water to the 4,000 inhabitants of Harvey.

The new depot of the Illinois Central railroad costing over $16,000, furnishes a graceful entrance to the town. Paved streets lead through the little parks. The substantial and handsome brick buildings of the Harvey Land Association and the local bank, French's Hotel and other brick buildings, halls, residences, etc., present a very creditable appearance. Beyond are the electric light works and the water works with a steel tower 120 feet high. These are supplied with engines of the most approved pattern and with pumps with a capacity of two million gallons daily. There is also a large engine and dynamo that runs the electric cars.

The secret of the success of Harvey lies in its excellent railroad facilities for freighting and the splendid suburban service of the Illinois Central. The town has been platted with reference to residence as well as manufacturing, as is attested by the thousands of shade trees planted and the miles of street improvements made. Harvey is rapidly taking a leading place in the category of great industrial towns.

LATE LEGAL DECISIONS.

AGREEMENT IN LIEU OF DOWER.

An anti-nuptial contract gave to the wife, in lieu of dower and other marital rights, a certain tract of land. Afterward she consented to deed this land, in consideration of receiving in lieu of this another tract of equal value which was done. The Supreme Court of Illinois—Worrell v. Forsyth, Chicago Legal News—held that the evidence showed that the transfer of lands was intended to place one contract in lieu of the other and was not an additional present to the wife. Further, that such a subsequent contract could be made between husband and wife. If the new parol agreement, even though without consideration, has been executed, and by means thereof one of the parties has been led into a line of conduct which must be prejudicial to this interests, an equitable estoppel arises in his favor.

The New York Court of Appeals has decided that an ordinance of the common council requiring street cars to be run at least one car every twenty minutes both ways, between the hours of twelve at midnight and six in the morning, is presumptively a reasonable regulation, and the burden is upon the railroad neglecting to comply therewith to show that it is unreasonable, and non-compliance can not be excused on the ground that the operation of cars all night is unprofitable.

WHAT CONSTITUTES PAYMENT OF INSURANCE.

Appellate Court—It is a familiar rule that where an insurance company has delivered its policy, the delivery is prima facie evidence that the conditions in the policy providing that the insurance shall not take effect until the premium is paid, are waived, and an intention to give a short credit for the premium will be presumed.

In the payment of insurance premiums, the important thing is the payment of the money, and if it be paid to and accepted by one who is apparently authorized by the company to receive it, is sufficient whether it be in conformity with the policy or not. The delivery of a policy of this kind to a person apparently clothes him with the authority to receive the premium.

PLACE OF TENDER OF PAYMEFNT.

Plaintiff contracted to purchase land of the defendant. Time was the essence of the contract, and it was agreed that if certain deferred payments were not made when due plaintiff would forfeit the money paid down and all her rights under the contract. Plaintiff was unable to meet the first deferred payment, and it was further agreed that if a sum of money less than the whole amount due should be paid on the following Saturday defendant would accept it as full payment.

Plaintiff did not make this payment, nor did she claim that she made any tender thereof, but alleged that she was ready to make tender at the place where she understood such payment was to be made. The evidence on this point was conflicting, defendant testifying that another place was the place of payment. Held, that the court was justified in finding that the payment was to be made at the place testified to by defendant: Drown v. Ingels et al (Wash) 28 Pac. Rep 758.

EVIDENCE AS TO OTHER BROKER'S COMMISSIONS NOT ADMISSIBLE.

The Appellate Court in Porter v Day has decided that in a suit by real estate brokers for commission, evidence of the amount of commission paid another broker for making sale of the same lands is not admissible and an argument by the attorney upon this point although rebuked by the court and instructed against, is such irregularity in the conduct of the trial as will justify a reversal.

MORTGAGE LIABILITY OF HUSBAND AND WIFE.

The Supreme Court of Indiana held, in the case of Wilson et el v. Logue et al, that a mortgage given by a husband and wife upon real estate held by them by entireties to secure a note given by them for the husband's separate debt is void, and that where a building upon land held by the husband and wife by entireties is destroyed by fire, and the husband informs the wife of his intention to rebuild it, and the wife does not object, and is present when material bought by the husband is delivered and used for such purpose without objection, she is estopped to deny her liability, and the material man is entitled to a lien for the material furnished.

AMOUNT OF EXEMPTIONS.

The Supreme Court of Louisiana held, in the recent case of Ducote vs. Rachal, that a registry of a homestead exemption of a farm, including "the necessary corn and fodder for the current year," was sufficient without specifying the particular quantity of corn and fodder.

Edgemoor

We are now offering for sale blocks and lots in Edgemoor, the new suburb on the Chicago Central Ry. at 79th street. Edgemoor is one-half mile square and includes 160 acres of the beautiful ridge property in the South-West part of the city with an East frontage on Western Ave. and a North frontage on 79th street. The Chicago Central, the Northern Pacific's new suburban road, runs directly through the center of the property with a depot at 81st street. On this road will be inaugurated by June 1st, the most complete train service as to elaborateness of equipment and quick running time given on any suburban road in the city. The scheduled time from Edgemoor to the Grand Central depot will be 22 minutes. The South 80 acres of Edgemoor is being improved in a high class manner. The contracts for the side-walk and curb and gutter work have been let to The North Western Asphalt Co. The walk is built of granite and cement and is six feet wide. The combined curb and gutter is also built of granite and cement, the gutter being eighteen inches wide. Edgemoor is the only residence district in Chicago, outside of the boulevard frontages, where the curb and gutter combined has been put in. The contract for the macadam work has been let to Eggleston, Mallette & Brownell and calls for a high grade of work. A double row of trees of the Cataulpa variety, are being planted, one row on the park-way which is 12 feet wide. A special form of warranty deed is used in conveying the property which provides for a 20-foot building line and a $3,000 building restriction. Contracts for four houses to cost $5,000 each have already been let and they will be completed and occupied by June 15th. Every effort will be made to make Edgemoor a high class residence district. Lots will be for sale for the next 60 days at prices 25 per cent less than the same grade of property can be purchased anywhere else in Chicago. We are prepared to offer special inducements to individual investors and syndicates who will take a five-acre block interest in the property. Liberal commissions made to brokers and agents.

CASINO.

Haverly's Mastodon Minstrels are, without question, the most complete organization that has ever appeared in Chicago, and their performances at the Casino (Eden Musee) have been endorsed in most thorough manner by all classes of amusement seekers. Particularly attractive are the entertainments to out-town visitors, who after an inspection of the various objects of interest in the Musee department, attend the minstrel concerts. The program of the past week has been very pleasing, but the coming week will be a gala week, commemorative of Ireland's patron saint, St. Patrick, the great and good, whose birthday is celebrated throughout the entire civilized world. The program will include all the members of the company, and Irish ballads will predominate. The theater will be decorated and draped with the national colors and flags, and our beautiful wax figure of Robert Emmett will be exhibited free. A new singer will be heard in the person of Mr. Albert Yale, well known to all Canadians as a vocalist of much merit. Banks Winter the celebrated tenor, will have a new song. The comedians Rice, Hall, Denton, Rudworth, Bogert, and O'Brien will have new specialties. Ellwood, the wonderful male soprano, will display new feminine toilets. Constantine, the dancer, will execute new solos, and Harry Budworth will repeat his new repertoire. The latter's song, "Come to Baltimore," has "caught the town" and is encored three and four times every performance. Altogether, the week will be one long to be remembered, and all desirous of hearty, wholesome pleasure should not fail to attend. "Excelsior" is Mr. Haverly's motto. Much has been done by this gentleman "but more remains behind."

INDUSTRIAL DEPARTMENT.

The Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul Railway Company's 6,150 miles of road traverses a vast territory, rich in all the resources that insure industrial success.

The Industrial Department is conversant with the Iron, Coal, Lumber and Tanbark, the Water-Power (both river and artesian) for factory and electric power purposes, the markets, the transportation and financial facilities, and other interests on the line pertaining to industrial development, and disseminates information concerning same.

A number of new factories has been induced to locate—largely through the instrumentality of this Company—at enterprising towns on its lines.

As the interest of the Company is to secure the location of industries at places where the surroundings will insure their permanent success, the information furnished a particular industry is pertinent and reliable.

In the Eastern States and in other parts of the world factories are so congested and distant from the actual markets as to result in fierce and destructive competition. That the West is taking a place as one of the great manufacturing territories of the world is forcibly impressing itself upon discerning and enterprising manufacturers. Steps should be taken by such while the field is as yet not fully covered, and while inducements are still being offered, to locate in the West.

Individuals or companies wishing to embark capital in Western industry can find a profitable field.

Luis Jackson,

CHICACO HEIGHTS!

THE GREAT MANUFACTURING AND BUSINESS CENTER.

20 MILES OF MACADAMIZED STREETS AND STONE SIDEWALKS.

Extensive Improvements are under way, and within Sixty days Ten miles of streets will be macadamized. Special inducements are offered to parties who wish to organize Clubs or Syndicates for the purpose of purchasing a block or selecting a number of choice business lots.

The Best Savings Bank is Real Estate Judiciously Purchased.

Lots within the business center of Chicago could be purchased within a comparatively short time for a few hundred dollars, and were within the reach of all who desired to invest. The wise people who invested a small amount of money in Chicago property are now rich. The lots they purchased for a few hundred dollars are selling now for thousands of dollars per foot. Chicago's wonderful and natural growth has been the cause, and Chicago has only begun to grow.

Buy a Lot at Chicago Heights,

Pay for it and let it alone for a few years. The investment will make you independent. 500 houses can be sold as soon as erected. Contractors and builders will make the greatest mistake of their lives if they fail to take advantage of the splendid opportunities offered them at Chicago Heights.

Eight Large Factories in Full Operation.

Negotiations pending with a large number of factories which have an established business of long standing as well as a national reputation at home and abroad.

Free Factory Sites, and a Liberal Cash Bonus

Will be given to Factory establishments of good standing.

The Largest Factory in America

Heroy & Warrener, of New York, the largest Plate Glass people in America, have located at Chicago Heights, and their extensive factory covering Eight Acres is in course of construction.

Superb Transportation Facilities.

Chicago Heights is located seven miles south of the city limits, on the Chicago & Eastern Illinois Railroad, Michigan Central Railroad, Elgin, Joliet & Eastern Railroad, Chicago's great belt line, which makes connection with every railroad entering the World's Fair City, making this point a great railroad center, thus affording transportation facilities unequalled by any manufacturing center. In addition to this, Chicago freight rates prevail to and from all points, thus making it possible for manufacturers to enjoy the same commercial advantages as though they were located in the very center of the city.

Pure Spring Water and Pure Air.

The land is high and admirably adapted to the uses to which it is to be put. It lies 120 feet above the level of Lake Michigan, is beautifully undulating, and partly wooded, while a never-failing stream furnishes an abundant supply of pure water, which, with the pure air afforded by the high altitude, makes this one of the most healthful and charming places about the city. In addition to these advantages it possesses good churches and schools.

Stability of the Enterpise.

Finance and Trade.

Statistican Dodge's report issued Tuesday afternoon, was in accordance with the forecast of the JOURNAL. The condition of winter wheat was raised from 81.2 per cent, at which figure it stood for April, to 84 per cent, for May—a gain of almost four points. Nor can there be any doubt but that the estimate was made upon conservative lines, as shown by the fact that the figures for Illinois and other States were several points below those of the State authorities. When the facts of the situation were announced it was worth while studying the faces of the self-constituted friends of the farmer, the bulls. These gentlemen were evidently considerably upset at things not having turned out for the worse. War, pestilence and famine, these philanthropists love to dwell upon. Bountiful crops may make fortunes for the farmers, but they make woeful inroads upon the profits of the bulls. On the other hand the much-maligned bears were radiant, and congratulated each other on the promise of good times ahead.

The alarm expressed in some quarters as to the lateness of planting in the Northwest is somewhat premature. Dodge's report reflects no such alarm. The fact is that, when it is remembered that much of the spring seeding was not completed last year until May 17, and yet the result was a phenomenal yield, there is no real cause for anxiety. As to the condition of the soil, nothing could be better, as all fear of drouth is precluded. Farmers in the Dakotas are in the best of heart, and they best know the requirements of the locality.

That the United States should have another big harvest is an important factor in the prosperity of the country. It implies a direct gift by nature of hundreds of millions of dollars. The reinforcing effects of these probable gains should impart fresh energy to every field of enterprise.

The cause of improving the status of silver has been somewhat advanced. In reply to a deputation interested in sustaining the white metal, the Marquis of Salisbury stated that on Monday of the present week, his government had received invitation to a conference from America, and that the British cabinet had decided to accept. It may be noted that, though Mr. Goschen the Chancellor of the Exchequer was present, as also Mr. Balfour the leader of the House of Commons, the reply was made by the premier, Lord Salisbury. This somewhat unusual course, prompted by the finance minister himself, would seem to indicate that the matter was to be taken up as a kind of government measure, and pushed as such. Lord Salisbury made, as a further point, special allusion to "the views and wishes of India." As to the scope of the proposed conference nothing particular transpired, but to those familiar with the issues, there is much significance in the statement of the British premier that, "It seemed by the form of the invitation that America decided to make it easy for as many nations as possible to assemble and discuss the question." Now that England consents, the conference may be considered as settled. In all probability, it will assemble at Paris. Is will be easy for many nations to assemble probably because the decision of the majority will be in no way binding. The word bimetallism was studiously ignored by Lord Salisbury, and no doubt as the result of deliberate intention.

Some of the Combines and Trusts are just now travelling a rough road. Sugar Refinery, which has climbed to above par, has dropped now to 93, and it is said that a big concern recently taken in has resolved finally to stand out. Then, the refiners are getting slightly alarmed as to the growing agitation to abolish the bounty. As to the combination to restrict the production of anthracite coal and to put up the price, a strong legal battle is expected. It has been calculated that the proposed new rates will entail upon Chicago alone an additional charge of many thousands of dollars daily. Then, the labor question in the region producing anthracite coal is fast becoming sinister. The effect of all this must be felt, sooner or later. No early advance in the "coalers" may then be looked for.

The spring meeting of the advisory board of the Western Traffic association has developed some fresh sources of friction. The old difficulty of rate-cutting has once more broken out, and the culprits are apparently impenitent. The opening of lake navigation will add to the difficulty of maintaining fixed rates. It is stated that Rock Island will issue $2,000,000 of new bonds.

Bad roads and rainy weather have combined to depress business all over the country. Notwithstanding these unfavorable conditions, however, the general state of trade has been much more satisfactory than for some time past. Financial reports from all parts of the country indicate a revival of trade in spite of the most discouraging circumstances. On the whole, then, the situation is encouraging.

It would be difficult to imagine a series of occurences more depressing than those which have recently combined to render trade inactive and to bring agricultural operations to a standstill. There has not been a week of good weather since the beginning of the present year. The roads have been impassible. Of late over a very large section of country disastrous floods have raged, inudating fields and villages, destroying crops and paralyzing business of every kind. Railroads have been washed away and thousands of dollars' worth of property has been destroyed. In other sections snows and cold rains have prevailed, which have delayed planting far beyond the usual season.

In the face of all these discouragements business continues to be brisk and the volume of trade is apparently increasing. Sales of merchandise are fairly good, though not large in volume. Manufacturers and jobbers report that merchants though not buying large quantities are duplicating their orders frequently. The demand for articles of wearing apparel is good and prices are firm. In the building trades there is an unusual activity in all sections of the country. More building is in progress this year than for any year previous. Consequently the demand for building materials is active and will remain so during the greater part of the summer.

Money continues to be very plentiful and cheap. There is a sharp demand for interest bearing securities at from 4 to 5 percent. There are but few first-class bonds on the market that pay 5 percent and the best of these are selling above par. A New York house has a list of over $2,000,000, of which only one security pays more than 5 percent. Many of them pay only four. In Chicago the demand for first-class securities is undiminished. All the securities of the new International Packing and Provision company were underwritten in a surprisingly short time. There were additional applications for several hundred thousand dollars which could not be considered because there were no more securties to be underwritten. All the bonds have been subscribed, amounting to $2,500,000. The public subscription will be open within two weeks. The promoters are feeling jubilant and certain that the securities will meet with public favor.

In view of this competition for sound securities it is hard to understand why the various Chicago rapid-transit enterprises can not be capitalized and successfully completed. The Lake street "L" road is a conspicuous example. It would seem that if any portion of the city was in need of and would support a system of elevated railroads the West side certainly would. Yet thus far the projectors of this line have not succeeded in interesting heavy capitalists in their undertaking. The explanation of this fact lies in the wide extent of territory covered by the city and especially by the West side. Rapid transit enterprises have succeeded in New York because the city is so located that the traffic is confined in one direction. Along this main artery the greater portion of the passenger traffic of the entire city must pass. But in Chicago the conditions are essentially the opposite. Here the city is so expanded that no one line of road can serve the interests of more than a small portion of the travelling public. This fact is so evident to the capitalists who have investigated these investments in Chicago that it has worked greatly to the discouragement of such enterprises. It is only fair to say, however, in this connection that the projectors of the Lake street road have perfected arrangements for pushing the work to completion and that their securities have of late been taking an upward turn.

The quiet condition of Wall street is not in accordance with the general bull tendency of securities and the low price of money Investors who are holding aloof are apt to find that they have missed opportunities which will not soon again be presented. It is customary for the public to draw on a fertile imagination for a "bogie" man, notwithstanding conditions are such as to argue strongly against the existence of any such creature. The latest scare is a threat of an anarchistic uprising in Europe. The fact is that Europe is full of money seeking investment and that all that is needed to bring Europeans to the front as investors in American securities is a feeling of confidence in the financial conditions on this side of the water, which can be best fostered by judicious self-confidence among American business men and investors themselves.

†Not included in totals.

The total of the bank clearings from fifty-nine cities in the United States shows a decrease of 4 percent as compared with the corresponding week last year. Excluding New York, the total still shows a decrease of 9 percent. This is the first time in many months that both classes of cities have shown a decreasc. This result is said to be due to the continued bad weather and the consequent floods and disaster in various parts of the country. Twenty-five out of fifty-eight cities show decreases and the remainder, increases. This is an unusual number of decreases, and is sufficient to outweigh the gains by a small percentage.

The spring of 1892 will go on record as a backward season. Cold and rainy weather has retarded planting and correspondingly delayed business. Compared with a year ago the situation is not at all satisfactory. This week, too, is probably the worst of a bad season. This is accounted for from the fact that business has suffered throughout the west where it is usually at its best. Of the twenty-five cities mentioned above as showing decreases seventeen are western or southern cities. The western towns usually show handsome increases over the corresponding week a year ago.

This week, however, the conditions have been such as turn these increases into decreases and hence the general decrease.

Chicagoans will notice with pride that the total of Chicago's clearings this week are nearly $10,000,000 greater than those of Boston who has long been our keen competitor in this regard. No matter what the trade conditions may be in other parts of the Union, business is always fairly good in Chicago. The financial reports sometimes show a slacking in particular lines, but invariably such reports mention an equal improvement along other lines. A sample is a telegraphic report from Chicago to an eastern house: "Receipts of products have been generally diminished by bad weather, and dry-goods sales are smaller, but in other lines sales are better than a year ago." The effect of the general depression is more than compensated for by the marvellous growth of the city and its business and manufacturing interests.

The influence exerted by New York city over the total result in the bank clearings is so great that it deserves special consideration. New York this week shows a falling-off of 6 pereent from the corresponding week of last year. The explanation of this fact is to be found in the inerease of imports and deerease of exports whieh has been noted by the JOURNAL from time to time of late. This change in the relative condition of imports and exports, though slight, is still sufficient to affeet the clearings considerably.

A comparison of the total clearings for April with those of months immediately preeeding shows a steady deeline in volume of general trade. The total for April is $207,000,000 less than in Mareh, $122,000,000 less than in February, and $561,000,000 less than in January last. The grand total for April is only 5.8 pereent larger than in April, 1891, but at New York eity the inerease as compared with that month in 1891 was 6.2 pereent, largely due to an excess of transaetions in Wall street this year.

THE LOCAL STOCK MARKET.

There has been another satisfactory week upon the Chicago Stock Exchange. The banks onee more show a disposition to lend freely upon local seeurities, and this, in turn, has had a tendeney to stimulate trade in stoeks.

The street railway eables continue to maintain their popularity, their prospeetive earnings being one of the interesting problems of the day. The week has seen North Chicago Street Railway up to 192¾, and West Chieago Street Railway over 139. These are the highest figures yet touched by these properties.

One of the features of the week whieh has, no doubt had its share in stimulating the speculative appetite, has been the marked activity displayed in the unlisted securities. This has been more partieularly the ease with respect to the elevated railroad for quick local passenger traffic. Less than a week ago certain conservative gentlemen, who pose as finaneial authorities, gravely deprecated the advaneing of such an untried property as the Alley L to par. It has now skipped to 4 above par. Concurrently, Lake street Elevated railroad has advaneed from around 21 to 26, though the elose was not quite at top. On Thursday the deals in this last property fell short of a score but by one. No eomment is neeessary as to inquiry.

Business in Street's Stable Car Line has increased in volume, the last priees ranging about 36.

Brewing and Malting, recently so depressed and maligned, has moved up sharply. Writing on April 30, the JOURNAL said: "It required but slight aequaintance with this property to know that its Common stock is eheap around 26 or 27. Since then but a fortnight has elapsed, and the common stock stands, as we write at 33¾, after having gone as high as 34½—a gain of about 25 per cent. Even upon this great bulge, the trading has been quite heavy, as proved by over 1,000 shares changing hands on a single day, Thursday.

The bond market for the week just concluded eontrasts favorably with those preceding. Gas Light and Coke 5s, advanced to 91½. Transactions, on some days, quite numerous, and in aggregate, substantial. Consumers Gas 5's, also advanced, last trade at 88¼. Upward of $40,000 of West Chicago Street Railroad Tunnels 5's, sold from 95 to 95⅝, the close being at top. Among unlisted seeurities on the bond side, it is worth recording that on Thursday, $30,000 of Chicago and South Side Rapid Transit 5's, sold from 96⅜ to 96¼. Also $50,000 Masonic Temple 5's at 99¾.

DIFFERENT PHASES OF THE LEASE SYSTEM.

A transfer of leasehold interest made this week illustrates one of the interesting phases of the ninety-nine-year lease question. A leasehold interest in 24x161 feet on Wabash avenue ninety-six feet north of Washington street, running through to Dearborn place was transferred by Thomas Lord to H. C. Metcalf. The real consideration is said to be $110,000, although the consideration named in the transfer was but $90,000. The building on the lot, a seven-story stone structure, recently remodeled and modernized, is considered worth $40,000. The original lease of this property, which is known as the south half of Lot 6 in the Fort Dearborn addition to Chicago was made Feb. 1, 1867. The land was leased by Henry D. Huntington to S. B. Gookins for ninety-nine years at an annual rental of $1,600. On an 8 per cent basis, this placed a value of $20,000 on the lot. On the present 5 per cent basis, generally adopted in capitalizing down-town property, it would represent a valuation of $32,000. Late in the same year, Mr. Gookins sold his leasehold interest to Lord & Smith for $4,900. Ten years later, a half interest was sold to Julia C. Dyke for $5,000, and by her was transferred to Thomas Lord for $15,000. At present, the land is estimated to be worth $140,000. The rent roll on the building as it stands, amounts to $15,000 annually. Taking this chain of transfers, the annual rental of the building, the estimated present worth of the land, and the original ground lease rental, and all the elements are presented for a nice mathematical problem in arriving at the present value of the leasehold which Mr. Metcalf secures. There is one element in the lease which distinguishes it from most ninety-nine-year leases and which indirectly adds to the value of the leasehold interest. The lease is practically perpetual at the original annual rental. Provision was made for the renewal of the lease at the end of each ninety-nine-year term.

It is such transactions as this which illustrate in a striking degree the rise of property values. The original annual rental, the rental which of course is being now paid for the land, is but a trifle over 1 per cent of the present value of the property. It is a case where the operations of the lease have resulted in making the leasehold far more valuable than the fee as an investment. Two notable illustrations of this condition of affairs are commonly quoted in properties on Michigan avenue, which were leased about ten years ago by two or three different estates at exceedingly low values. The Leroy Payne property presents one of the most striking examples of rapid rise in value. This holding, fronting 165 feet on Michigan avenue, was leased by Leroy Payne from the Jennings estate on a valuation of $400 a front foot. As a fee, $400 a foot represents the value which is arbitrarily determined. Without the lease, the property would be worth in fee simple, not far from $4,000 a front foot. As an income earner, the leasehold might be considered worth the difference between these two values, or practically nine times as much as the fee. The land under the Richelieu Hotel was secured at about the same time and on exactly the same terms. These advances in value have been made within ten years. In the transfer of the Exchange Building on the corner of Pacific avenue and Van Buren street, the leasehold interest was considered far more valuable than the fee, and actually is worth more on an income-bearing basis. There are occasions, however, when these fees which had a value established years ago may become extremely desirable property. In cases where owners desire to combine the leasehold and the fee, the fee owners are in a position to ask a considerable bonus for their holdings. A sale made some time ago of the Citizens' Bank Building illustrates this feature. This property at the corner of the alley in the rear of the Chamber of Commerce Building fronting on La Salle street, was leased by the Bartlett estate to W. M. LeMoyne, who desired to combine the leasehold and the fee and own the property in fee simple. Negotiations were closed by which he bought the fee from the Bartlett estate at its capitalized value, with the addition of a fair bonus. More recently, A. K. Barnum, of St. Paul, who owned the leasehold and building of the Ogden flats, purchased the fee by paying a bonus. The fact that it is more difficult to borrow money on leaseholds than on property held in fee simple is one reason why lessees are often desirous to purchase fees. There seems to be a disinclination on the part of capitalists to lend money on leaseholds, which is considered remarkable by operators in Eastern cities. A mortgage on a leasehold is never a first lien on the property, as the entire property is held liable for the ground rent. In all the cases cited, the properties have been limited by the operation of leases and are worth less as fees than they would be without the provision of the different leases.

Exactly the opposite condition of affairs can be reached by another phase of the ninety-nine year lease system. The property may be so leased that the fee is worth far more than the property unleased. The best known example of this is given in the Lexington Hotel property. The corner on which this hotel stands at Michigan avenue and Twenty-second street is considered worth between $1,500 and $1,800 a front foot. It has a frontage of 125 feet on Michigan avenue by a depth of 161 feet on Twenty second street. Notwithstanding the fact that it was generally understood to be worth this amount, it was purchased by Thomas R Lyon for $375,000, or $3,000 a front foot. It is the lease to the Lexington Hotel company which gives the additional value to the land. This company leases the corner at 6 per cent on the amount paid by Mr. Lyon and he is secured in the payment of his rent by the erection of a $500,000 ten story hotel building. The majority of recent leases have been made on a somewhat similar basis. The sale of the fee and the negotiation of the lease are linked together. A man with an unimproved piece of property may offer to sell it for a half more than its actual value and agree to take back a ninety-nine year lease at the amount at which the transfer is made. If the party of the first part is reliable, the question as to the actual value of the land need not enter into the matter as regards the purchaser of the fee. All he needs to consider is whether his security will be good for his rent. It is this uncertainty that has made this class of fees somewhat unpopular. The land is unimproved and the seller usually wishes the money for the fee advanced as the building operations proceed. The purchaser of the fee can secure a bond ensuring the erection of a building, but in a number of recent cases is has been established that a bond is not the most satisfactory guarantee that a building will be erected. In two or three instances, South Side corners have been sold at fabulous prices and leased back to men of no financial standing. By a little jugglery the purchaser of the fee is left with a piece of property on his hands which cost him far more than it is worth, and with no prospects of having a building erected or any rent paid.

The negotiation of ninety-nine year leases is considered one of the most conservative lines of real estate operations. Fees well located have been in good demand among investors who wish to have their money placed where it will require practically no care. In a certain sense, the purchase of a fee is an arrangement by which a capitalist loans money with absolute security as to the income. In addition to this, there is the fact that the property at the end of ninety-nine years will revert to his family in fee simple. On the other hand to the lessee a term of ninety-nine years is to all intents and purposes perpetual. The general practice during the last few years of leasing property for a ninety-nine year term has had an effect in inflating or raising down-town values. One piece of property may sell for $8,000 a foot, while a ninety-nine year lease on an adjoining lot, may under certain circumstances determine a capitalized valuation of $10,000 a front foot. Property owners do not discriminate between these valuations and do not recognize that the lease valuations are estimates made of possibilities some ten, twenty or thirty years in the future. The negotiation of the lease, however, is quoted by interested property owners who are making sales and the entire practice tends towards a certain inflation of prices. There are a dozen elements of speculation which enter into the negotiation of leases which do not appear on the surface. The lessor must decide on a valuation based partly on the prospects of the leasehold becoming valuable. Years ago when it was common to make ninety-nine year leases with revaluation clauses, a lease could be made on something less than actual values. At present, however, it is rare if a lease contains the revaluation clause which has become so obnoxious in Chicago. For this reason, it is only fair that the lessor should discount the future improvement of his property by some ten to thirty years. The lessee has to consider such elements as changes of business centers and the prospects of the earning capacity of the land being sustained. The constant movement of business centers which is noted in every great city and especially in Chicago adds an element of uncertainty. The omission of the revaluation clause frees him from the embarrassing possibility of having the ground rental increase so rapidly as to absorb all his improvements.

THE REAL ESTATE MARKET.

ACRE SALES AND WORLD'S FAIR ACTIVITY THE FEATURES OF THE WEEK IN CHICAGO REAL ESTATE CIRCLES.

The inactivity in the real estate market is apparent rather than real and is fully accounted for by the general financial stagnation which has resulted from protracted bad weather and a late spring. Brokers who are inclined to doubt the continuance of the special providence which has always presided over the destinies of Chicago real estate should take into consideration the fact that business has been prostrated throughout the entire country by exceedingly bad weather. Under the circumstances it is little short of wonderful that there is any activity in real estate circles whatever. If Chicago were any thing but Chicago, there would not be any activity. But while reports from every other quarter show that business is nearly at a standstill the transfer lists in Chicago indicate a volume of sales not much inferior in amount to those of last year, which, by the way, was regarded as a phenomenal year. With speculation practically dead, the investment interest is in a healthy condition. The fact that there is no fever discernible, should be taken as a favorable symptom. Not only is the pulse of the public normal but its eye is sharp to see desirable investments and to profit by them.

The activity noted elsewhere in the JOURNAL at Chicago Heights, Harvey, Waukegan and other manufacturing towns is in keeping with the general feeling as outlined above. At Chicago Heights the sales of lots, street improvements, building, and establishment of new industries has been phenomenal. The history of Harvey is familiar to all, but we are of the opinion that the half has not been told about that sturdy little manufacturing city. At Waukegan new movements are discerned which are destined to bring forth important results. At other points constant agitation is in progress, in many instances beneath the surface, but tending toward developments of the highest importance.

WORLD'S FAIR RAILROADS AND HOTELS.

The near approach of the Fair is stimulating elevated and surface railroad companies and is bringing any number of new hotel projects to the front The most important hotel project which took form this week provides for a structure facing the north line of Jackson Park. The Imperial Hotel company was granted articles of corporation with a capital stock of $180,000. The company is headed by August C. Mills. It has purchased from J H. DeFrees and A. F. Shuman the northwest corner of Fifty-sixth street and Cornell avenue. The lot has a frontage of 150 feet on Fifty-sixth street and runs back 165 feet to an alley. There is a building line established fifteen feet back of Fifty-sixth street. This leaves a space to be improved 150 feet square. A seven story apartment hotel building is to be constructed at a cost of $150,000. The rear half may be a two or three story structure to be used during the World's Fair only. The building will be operated as a hotel during the Fair and later on will be used as a fine apartment building. The corner 100 feet was sold by J H. Defrees while the adjoining fifty feet was sold by A. F. Shuman. The price paid represents $600 a foot, or a total of $90,000.

The large North Side apartment house which was built two years ago by J. F. Keeney and J. T. Odell has been leased to L J. Clark & Co., for a term of three years at an annual rental of $30,000. The building is known as the Granada and Salvador and occupies 100x125 feet at the southwest corner of Rush and Ohio streets. It contains thirty-five apartments of seven rooms each. L J Clark is a well-known hotel man, recently of Minneapolis. These are only a few of the projects which are on foot for having an indirect or direct bearing on the location of the World's Fair. The elevated railroad question is assuming more satisfactory condition, and work is promised on the Lake Street Elevated road which has almost become a by-word in transportation circles. This week a sharp advance was noted in Alley "L" stock and this advance was also reflected in the Lake street elevated stock which has been a drug on the market at a remarkably low figure. The rapid progress made by the Alley "L" people seems to have stimulated the Lake street company in making another effort to complete at least a portion of that line. The structural iron for the extension of the road to Western avenue has been shipped to Chicago and work in construction is promised next week. An order has been placed with the Phoenix Bridge company for the steel bridge which is to cross the river at Lake street and which will give the road something like an eastern terminus. The road extended to Western avenue will be about two-and-a-half miles in length and it is thought that some of the rolling stock can be brought on and the road actually opened for public traffic.

LAND SOLD AT $3,000 PER ACRE.

William L. Wallen and Jerome Probst have just closed the sale of block five in Wallen & Probst's third addition to Oak Park, being six and three-quarters acres lying at the corner of Chicago and Lathrop avenues to Mr. George M. Lyons, general western superintendent of the "Home Insurance Co." for $20,250, all cash. This establishes a value of $3,000 per acre for the property. The land is very advantageously located, being in very close proximity to the River Forest depot on the Wisconsin Central and Northern Pacific R. R. and but four blocks from the Lathrop avenue station on the Northwestern R. R., also accessible to the Cicero and Proviso electric road. The street, water and sewer improvements in this vicinity have been very extensive during the last year, all streets from Lathrop avenue to the Wisconsin Central R. R. having been solidly paved, with water and sewer pipes laid, with a lining of attractive cement sidewalks in all that district lying between Chicago avenue and the Northwestern R. R. This together with the remarkable building activity comprising only high class residences has established a retail valuation of from $35 to $40 per foot. Messrs. Wallen & Probst still own 42 acres in this subdivision, but will close the sale of thirty acres of this tract in a few days to non-resident parties who intend to retail the same in lots.

TWO ACRE SALES AT WAUKEGAN.

Edmund B. McClanahan has sold to Mrs. William Warner of Lake Forest, 368 acres at Waukegan, near the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul railroad and adjoining the Morris Ganse lands, for $47,840. Mrs. Warner has also purchased 130 acres at Benton for $13,000.

Pratt Bros. have sold 80 acres in the southern part of Waukegan, one mile and a half west of the Washburn & Moen plant, to New York capitalists for $24,000, or $300 an acre. The land lies about midway between the Chicago & Northwestern and the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul railroads. It was bought as an investment. Pratt Bros. are also negotiating for the sale of another tract of 160 acres.

ACRES IN DEMAND AT DOWNER'S GROVE.

Several large acre sales have recently been made in Downer's Grove Township in DuPage county, the most important of which is the sale of 320 acres on the county line made to E M. Barton, president of the Western Electric company. This tract includes all of the east half of section 24 excepting forty acres, and also a forty-acre tract in the northeast quarter of Section 25. It has a frontage of a mile and a half on the county line road and is two miles south of Highland station on the Burlington railway. The old Plainfield road, a continuation of Ogden avenue, runs through this section, as does the Joliet wagon road. The price paid for this tract was a little over $150 per acre. Another sale of 160 acres in the same township, about three miles west of this tract, has also been made recently, and several large sales in the town of Lyons, directly east, are said to be under way.

TRUE VERSION OF THAT WORLD'S FAIR RAILROAD LEASE.

The statements in the several daily papers of late, with reference to the entrance of three trunk lines at the southeast corner of Jackson Park for passenger traffic during the Exposition have been varied and necessarily inaccurate. It was settled by the Exposition company nearly a year ago that there would be one of the main entrances at the southeast corner of Jackson Park. It was first thought by the board of directors that one or two tracks, the extension or continuation of the Illinois Central stub track, running up to the Hyde Park water works, extended on through the property of W. A. Alexander, block 1, would be sufficient. Mr. Alexander was requested to name his price for this extension, covering only 30 feet by 600 feet, which he did, naming a very reasonable sum. Later on the directors became convinced they would need more extensive facilities at this corner of the park and negotiations were begun with Messrs. Willard and Alexander for the Willard tract and Mr. Alexander's block. The latter is bounded by the park on the north; Oglesby avenue on the west; 68th street on the south, while the northeast corner is washed by the lake. The price named was satisfactory to the board of directors and the World's Fair officials; the papers were drawn up, but on account of the owners, Messrs. Willard and Alexander, wanting to reserve the right for the landing of boats at their own pier at 67th street, on the southeast corner, which was interfering with the Henderson syndicate, there has been a temporary suspension of the negotiations.

The morning papers stated that some one had made a statement that he had been offered property in that vicinity for a very low figure and that Messrs. Willard and Alexander were getting a phenomenal price for the lease—even greater that the value of the property. It is a fact, however, that Mr. Alexander paid for his property, before the Fair was ever dreamed of, $67,500, or $10,000 an acre and has been offered $95,000 within a year for it. Further than this, it is a fact that Messrs. Willard and Alexander were offered by a syndicate or corporation, for amusement purposes, one-fourth more for the lease of their property, than they are willing to lease it for to the Exposition company. We find that both of these gentlemen have always shown a disposition to deal fairly with the Fair and one of them especially has been an energetic worker, subscriber to and supporter of the Exposition since its inception. They are not speculators, but men with capital, whose interests and that of the public and city especially are identical.

THE SALE OF STOCK YARDS PROPERTIES.

The largest and perhaps the most interesting deal of the week was the sale of Stock Yards properties to an American and English syndicate. The transaction involves $7,000,000 and is of remarkable proportions even for Chicago. A number of prominent pork-packing establishments of Chicago become amalgamated under one management and the ownership divided between English and American stockholders. The packing plants of the firms of the Allerton Packing company, John Cudahy, T. E. Wells, J. C Hately, Hately Bros., the International Packing company, and Jones & Stiles have been purchased and will pass into the possession of the International Packing and Provision Company, limited.

The extent of this combination will be appreciated when it is known that the various plants cover over twenty acres of ground at the Stock Yards; and that there are branches in other cities. There is a capacity for the slaughter and curing of from 10,000 hogs in summer to 15,000 in winter, per day. During the last three and one-half years ending May 1, 1892, the earnings of the amalgamated business have averaged over $875,000 per annum, and for the last two years and a half over $975,000 per annum, while in 1891 the amount of earnings reached the sum of over $1,100,000, being over $850,000 for the first year, $950,000 for the second and over $1,100,000 for the third.

MICHIGAN MORTGAGE LAW.

AN IMPORTANT DECISION OF THE SUPREME COURT AS TO TAXATION.

The Supreme Court decided that the provisions of the new General Tax law providing that the total value of all real estate mortgages owned by savings banks, insurance companies, etc., apply to all mortgages regardless of the fact that they might contain clauses by which the mortgagor agrees to pay the tax. The court says that the assessing officers have no business to inquire into the terms of a mortgage, their duty being simply to assess the mortgage interest to the mortgagee and the interests in the land to the owner thereof. Writs of mandamus were therefore granted to compel the Detroit Board of Assessor to deduct mortgages containing tax clauses held by the savings banks and insurance companies of that city from their capital stock for assessment purposes, a thing which the board had refused to do.

CURRENT COMMENT.

So many wild-cat schemes of long distance electric traction have lately been sprung on the public that it is a relief to learn that a carefully planned attempt to make electric power do the work of steam locomotives is about to be made in Baltimore by a well established company. So confident is the electrical company of the success of the venture that it has offered to put in the plant at its own risk, acceptance being contingent on successful operation. The spectacle of powerful electric motors hauling idle steam locomotives and heavy passenger and freight trains down into a long tunnel and up a steep grade to the normal level of the railroad will, indeed, be a triumph of electricity. We have little doubt that it will be witnessed, and that a powerful impetus will be thereby given to the study of the problem of long-distance transportation by electricity. The success of this project means much to the electric railway interests of the United States, and the progress of the installation will be eagerly watched.

The financial condition of the Progressive League which lately made a voluntary assignment, has been made public by the report of the assignee to Judge Scales. This case is a warning to investors. The report shows the league to have to its credit $663 deposited with a building and loan association, $93 with the Chicago National Bank, and office fixtures valued at $15. On the other hand the assignee finds that the league has 167 members, forty of whom hold certificates for $100 each, which are now due, while fifty-five certificates fall due in June and the remainder at future dates. The assignee gives it as his judgment that the institution will be able to pay less than four cents on the dollar. Four cents on the dollar! Of all the brilliant co-operative schemes we have ever seen this one certainly deserves a special mention.

In American Notes and Queries of March 12, 1892, is an explanation of the origin of the term "Lynch Law." The writer derives it from Col. Charles Lynch, a Virginian whig soldier of the revolutionary war, who, as chief magistrate, was in the habit of holding court at his house, in Avoca, Campbell county, for the trial of tories, who, if found guilty, were tied to a certain walnut tree, given thirty lashes and made shout "Liberty forever!" The prisoner was faced by his accusers, heard the testimony and was heard and gave testimony for himself. The writer says that in later times the stripes gave way to the sentence of death, "and many lives have thus closed without ceremony, but no one ever came to his death at the hands of the gallant Col. Lynch except on the battle field." A wood cut of the tree is given So here goes another of the traditions of history.

NASHVILLE.

REAL ESTATE AND BUILDING JOURNAL:

NASHVILLE, TENN., May 7, 1892.—The contrast presented by a comparison of the South of the "ante bellum" period with the South of today affords much food for reflection. The changes wrought in the interval between the first shot at Charleston that fired the Southern heart in the stirring days of '61 and the present time have been due to conditions evolved from events that have followed each other in close and rapid succession.

No part of the South presents this contrast in more striking colors than beautiful Middle Tennesse with its fine progressive population, its varied landscapes, and its splendid water facilities, its fertile lands, adapted to the cultivation of nearly all the useful products of nature and its conservative climate, neither too hot nor too cold, but favorable to life and health, as well of the various members of the animal as the vegetable kingdom.

Of this picturesque section, Nashville, the capitol and chief city of the South is the center. Counting St. Louis, Baltimore and Kansas City as Southern cities, it stands seventh in that list in point of numerical population, with strong indications of standing still higher when the next census shall be taken. Apart from its reputation as the Athens of the South no one can contemplate its fine commercial and manufacturing advantages, the constantly increasing population, and unequalled resources of the country surrounding and tributary to it without predicting for it a great future and great name.

In the "Upper Cumberland" region are immense tracts of "hardwood" timber. Then there are the inexhaustible coal and iron fields to the north, south, east and west, all within easy distance of the city. Rarely indeed has nature so bountifully supplied man with such a combination of material and physical advantages as are to be found in this section of the South, embracing middle Tennessee and the country contiguous thereto, for here can not only be raised all the cereals, cotton, live stock of all kinds, but iron, coal, limestone and wood for the manufacture of pig iron lie side by side, and the numberless, useful and necessary utensils, into which this metal is moulded.

Immense strides have been taken in the last decade in the direction of diversified industries which have done so much in building up the North and are yet to contribute so powerfully in the development of the South.

The Nashville Real Estate Exchange is one of the most active organizations for the good of Nashville. Almost every leading real estate agent and broker is now an active member, and we have several hundred associate members, among them many of our most prominent citizens, land owners and real estate dealers. The organization of the National Real Estate Association has stimulated and united the members of our local organizations, and will send a large delegation to the meeting at Buffalo.

DULUTH.

Editor REAL ESTATE AND BUILDING JOURNAL:

DULUTH, May 6, 1892.—The bank clearings in Duluth for the week closed May 5, footed up $3,739,693.43. This is one of the biggest weeks ever known in the clearing house. For the corresponding week of last year the clearings were $1,850,059 or less than one half the amount of this year's. Of course the unusually large amount this week is due to the May deliveries of wheat which were extraordinarily large. In Duluth there were delivered on Monday 10,000,000 bushels of wheat while Chicago's delivery on the same day was only 100,000 bushels. The clearing house figures do not, however, by any means indicate what the actual business was. The transactions of two banks alone on one day of the week ran over $20,000,000. When the figures become known outside it will set some people to thinking.

The real estate market has been quite active during the past week, the transfers being larger than for some time. We look for a large and active real estate business this spring and summer.

CHICAGO AND DENVER.

Editor REAL ESTATE AND BUILDING JOURNAL:

Every ambitious western town has at some time dreamed that it was to be "another Chicago." The very suggestion of the idea makes people smile. But the splendid prospects of Denver have of late years been taking such definite and tangible shape that we are justified in believing that destiny has marked ours for the third great city of the country. Our growth has equalled that of Chicago. We are just thirty years younger and have kept just thirty years behind her in population. Chicago was practically started in 1830 and Denver, practically, in 1860. Each was laid out a year or two sooner than these census years. In ten, in twenty and in thirty years, each had according to the census, substantially the same population at the same age. At the breaking out of the war Chicago had almost the same population that Denver now contains, and everybody remembers that Chicago was even then regarded by the whole country as a great city.

But can Denver keep up this parallel progress in the future? I think she can.

In 1870 Chicago's population was 298,977. Denver has only to grow from about 125,000 in 1890 to 298,977 in 1900 to maintain her pace alongside of the world's wonder. If it be urged that Kansas City and Omaha have also grown approximately as fast as Chicago up to the same age the reply is that their eras of rapid growth are forever over because their tributary prairies are all settled and that the period of farm construction, village construction and railroad construction in Kansas and Nebraska, which gave those cities on the banks of the malarial Missouri such a tremendous impulse, can never be repeated. They have no new country to settle as Denver has. They have no world famous climate. They have no such manufacturing possibilities. Worst of all they are too near Chicago, and are even now suffering from being overshadowed and absorbed by it. They are in Chicago's proximate and indisputable territory and must fight with that city a losing battle until they sink into the position of its recognized vassals.

Not so with Denver. She is fortunate in being a thousand miles west of Chicago, just as the latter has been indisputably fortunate in being a thousand miles west of New York. Just as New York instead of rivaling really helped Chicago and established branch houses there on account of the great distance, precisely is Chicago helping Denver along to greatness in the very same way. Denver is now the unrivaled financial, commercial, manufacturing, smelting, railroad, social, educational and intellectual center of the mining region, an empire of wealth which is only now upon the threshold of its greatest development, which is in fact the one brand new region now left in the United States that offers a tempting field to capitalists and immigrants. LATE LEGAL DECISIONS.

CONCEALMENT IN A REAL ESTATE TRANSACTION.

The Supreme Court of Massachusetts in Burns v. Dockray has recently decided that where during the negotiations for the sale of land, the vendor tells the vendee that the title is good and conceals from the vendee that his grantor is insane, and plaintiff on his representation purchases the land, which is afterward recovered from plaintiff by the guardian of the defendant's grantor, such concealment will be regarded as fraudulent.

Among the recent decisions of the Illinois Appellate court are the following:

Munson v Jaques—A bill to remove a cloud from title to land is defective if it fails to state whether the lands were "improved or occupied, or unimproved or unoccupied." There was a departure from the authority given to appellant. It is not the same thing to the principal whether he shall have several thousand dollars at once, or three months hence without interest. The authority being special must be strictly pursued.

McGraw v. Storke—A party not the owner of land on which a building has been erected, has no right to file a bill under the mechanic's lien law, to adjust the rights of persons having a lien, or interested in the property.

Benner v. Schmidt—Plaintiff in error furnished some iron for a building, and did all that was required of them under the mechanic's lien law, but did not punctually perform as the contract provided. Their material went into the building, and if the defendant suffered any damage by the delay, he may recoup such damage out of the price, but the plaintiffs in error do not give away their iron by their delays, and being entitled to their pay, and having complied with the law as to filing statement and notice, they are entitled to a lien.

RIGHT OF WIFE TO DOWER UNDER MORTGAGE.

Some recent Illinois Supreme Court decisions are as the following:

In an action for dower the court decided that where a wife joins with her husband in the execution of a mortgage of his land in which her dower is released, a foreclosure and sale of the property after his death will pass all the wife's rights therein to the purchaser, and after the time of redemption has expired, her dower will be extinguished.

A widow under the statute, is entitled to dower in land mortgaged by her husband before marriage as against all the world except the mortgagee, or those claiming under the mortgage. She will be entitled to dower as against the purchaser of the same at the administrator's sale, he occupying the same position as a purchaser from her husband.

The purchaser of mortgaged land at an administrator's sale steps into the shoes of the intestate mortgagor and it becomes his duty to pay the mortgage and leave the widow's dower intact.

Where land is conveyed subject to mortgage, the amount of which is retained by purchaser from the price, there is an implied promise on purchaser's part to indemnify grantor against mortgage.

ESTOPPEL FOR LACK OF EQUITY.

Where a person is a party to an arrangement by which his debt is paid by the conveyance of a tract of land to his creditor, he and his heirs will be estopped from specifically enforcing a contract of the grantor to devise the same land to him and thus defeat the payment of his debt.

ADMISSIBILITY OF PHOTOGRAPHS AND PLATS IN EVIDENCE.

Photos as well as plats, to be admissible in evidence, must be verified by preliminary proof that they are true representations of the places and objects of which inquiry is being made; and "whether sufficiently verified or not is a preliminary question of fact to be determined by the judge presiding at the trial," and that "his decision thereon is not subject to exception."

VALIDITY OF LEGISLATION FOR SPECIAL TAXATION.

In the exercise of the right of special taxation for local public improvements, a city or village has such power and such only as is conferred upon it by the statute, and that power must be exercised in the manner provided by the statute.

The passage of an ordinance for the making of a public improvement is essential to the levy of a special assessment or special tax on property to be benefited. Without such ordinance there is nothing on which the proceeding can rest.

An ordinance not for the making of a local public improvement, but after the same is completed, for the levy of a special tax for its payment, is void, and can not form the basis for such taxation. Until the ordinance is passed no expense can be incurred which can become a charge on the property holder.

Until an ordinance is passed for such improvement describing its nature, character, locality and description the committee can not act and ascertain its probable cost, and this is required as a safeguard for the protection of the property owner.

EVIDENCE AS TO UNDUE RESTRAINT IN MAKING WILL.

The fact that a testatrix is a woman of unusually strong mind and self-willed, is sufficient to rebut a presumption of undue influence and overcome evidence to that effect unless the same is strong and overwhelming. In order to invalidate a will upon the ground of undue influence there must be evidence of a present and operating restraint at the time of making the will, such as to subjugate the mind of the testatrix to the will of the person operating upon it. Murray's Estate County Court, Penn.

RIGHTS OF REDEMPTION UNDER FORECLOSURE.

The Supreme Court of Illinois has held in several cases that a contract extending the time of redemption of lands will be enforced and a redemption allowed within the time designated by the contract.

A certificate of purchase prior to the expiration of fifteen months is not realty but only personal property.

A purchaser at execution sale does not have an interest in real estate until the expiration of fifteen months. Until then it is only a chose in action and hence a contract to redeem is not obnoxious to the statute of frauds.

A transfer of a certificate of sale to owner of equity operates as a redemption.

PRIOR LIENS OF BONDHOLDERS.

Judge Gresham has just rendered an important decision upholding the prior liens of mortgage bondholders in corporations of a private nature. The question arose in the application of the receiver of the Grape Creek Coal company of Vermilion for an order authorizing him to issue receivers' certificates which should be a lien on the property. The Coal company had previously executed a mortgage for $500,000 to the Farmers' Loan and Trust company to secure an issue of bonds for that amount, which mortgage was foreclosed. The receiver in his application urged that but $24,000 was needed and that the money was to be used to continue work at the coal mines.

Notwithstanding that the receiver was backed up by three-fourths of the mortgage bondholders the court declined to allow the certificates to issue as a lien which would endanger the rights of the mortgage bondholders. The court pointed out that this had been done with railroad corporations, but they were essentially public in their nature, while with coal mines and similar private corporations the public had no concern. Extensive as the powers of a court of equity are, the court said, they do not authorize a Chancellor to impair the force of solemn obligations and destroy vested rights. Instead of displacing mortgages and other liens on property of private corporations it is the duty of courts to uphold and enforce them against all subsequent incumbrances. It would be dangerous to extend the power which has been recently exercised over railroad mortgages. The power does not exist in this case, and the court denied the application of the receiver.

The decision is significant in that if applied to the holders of receiver's certificates of the United States Rolling Stock company these latter will get nothing. Their claims amount to about $1,800,000 and were resisted by the holders of the consolidated mortgage bonds of the company issued before the receiver was appointed. The decision will also have application in many other cases of the kind now pending.

SHERIDAN DRIVE AND THE NORTH SHORE.

It is apparent to all who have visited the north shore, that some of the finest residence property within easy reach of the center of the city lies in that direction. Up to about three years and a half ago, this territory was comparatively neglected. In the fall of 1888, however, an association of prominent citizens of the north shore suburbs, known as the North Shore Improvement Association, set on foot a movement to secure the construction of the Sheridan Drive. From that time to the present, interest in north shore property has increased rapidly. Values have doubled and quadrupled. The Sheridan Drive from a project has become a reality; and all along the line have sprung up the beautiful and costly residences of some of Chicago's most prominent business men.

Lake View and Ravenswood, which a few years ago were considered outlying suburbs, are now populous parts of the city. Leaving the city limits at Edgewater, we enter Rogers Park. Thence through South Evanston to Evanston the improvements are continuous. Handsome residences on paved streets overlooking the lake indicate the character of the purchasers who are fast building up these suburbs. Beyond Evanston are Wilmette, Winnetka, Glencoe, Ravinia, Highland Park, Fort Sheridan, Lake Forest, Lake Bluff and Waukegan. The entire drive of thirty six miles from Chicago to Waukegan is unsurpassed in this or any other country for varied picturesqueness of both land and lake scenery. Its most noticeable features are the high and rolling character of the land, and the heavy trees with which many portions of the lake shore are wooded.

The work of the North Shore Improvement Association has been largely confined to securing the active co-operation of residents of the various municipalities through which the road must pass. The Lincoln Park Commissioners have charge of the drive from Elm street south of the Park, to Fifty-ninth street north of it. South of Elm street it is expected that the drive will be constructed by the property-owners and the commissioners. North of Fifty-ninth street it ceases to be the Lake Shore Drive, and becomes Sheridan Road. Through Rogers Park the drive runs along Evanston avenue. An assessment of $25,000 was levied, and the street was macadamized through the whole length of Rogers Park.

North of and adjoining Rogers Park is South Evanston, with nearly a mile and a half of lake shore. The drive continues northward on Evanston avenue through Calvary Cemetery along the lake shore to Rinn avenue, thence west one block to Arnold avenue, thence north to Lincoln avenue, thence west one block and noth to the north line of South Evanston. About $40,000 has been expended in South Evanston in the extension of the drive.

In Evanston the drive runs along the shore to the university campus. Here it turns westward for about two blocks, thence north along the campus to Centre street; thence west on Centre street to Ridge avenue, thence north on Ridge avenue to the north line of the village. These improvements have cost the village of Evanston about $50,000. Thence north through Willmette and Winnetka the drive is most picturesque. The elevation of the ground above the lake is from fifty to eighty feet, and the route followed takes the road up and down numerous slopes and along the sides of deep, heavily wooded ravines. The entire drive to Waukegan presents a series of pleasing surprises alternating beautiful landscape with charming lake views.

A portion of the return drive is along Ridge avenue, from North Evanston to Rosehill cemetery in Lake View. Ridge avenue is rightly named from the fact that it is on a plateau from forty to fifty feet above the lake.

Beginning at Evanston, the north shore rises rapidly above the lake. South of that point also the altitudes are good and there is nothing of the swampy character about any of the north shore suburbs. A visitor to the north shore is struck with the clearness of the air as compared with the smoky atmosphere of some of the older portions of the city. The tasteful and substantial character of the residences, and the public improvements also, at once impresses the thoughtful observer.

TOWNSHIP OF MAINE.

The town of Maine, northwest of the city and just outside of the city limits, has come prominently to the front within the past year and a half. Inside this township is to be found some of the most picturesque property in Cook county. The land lies high above Lake Michigan, and much of it is covered with a heavy growth of timber. People who know property contiguous to Chicago as only an expanse of prairie land, can meet with a most pleasant surprise by visiting Norwood Park, Edison Park, Park Ridge, Riverview, Revere Park. Desplaines, and other points just beyond the northwest city limits. Such a trip will show them that instead of being flat, treeless and unattractive, some portions of Cook county are possessed of great natural beauty. During the past year many heavy purchases were made in this township, and live men are rapidly securing control of the property there. A large number of improvements, both public and private, have been made in the various towns, and large improvements are contemplated for the near future. In Park Ridge and Edison Park, the progress of improvements has been particularly noticeable, many of the streets having been improved and a large number of fine houses having been erected. The events of the past year and a half, indicate that the township of Maine is awake and striving for its proper place in the front line of investment favorites. No land so near the business center of the city in any other direction, can be bought at so low a figure. Property to the south, southwest, west and north, has been advanced to so high a figure that people of small means are looking toward the northwest, where they can secure homes and sanitary and other advantages. It must be admitted that the present interest in town of Maine property is due to a recognition of its merits, which have been in the background for many years.

The town of Maine bids fair to become a great manufacturing centre. Our readers will remember the sensation caused a few months ago by the announcement that the Columbia Steel Car Company had bought a large tract of land in the town of Maine for a site for extensive steel car works. When the question of location was under consideration by the company all the advantages and disadvantages of the many properties offered were thoroughly discussed. It was, therefore, a high compliment to the northwest side when the company selected it as being the best place for their large industry. Their tract, which contains something over 600 acres, extends from the Wisconsin Central to the Chicago & Northwestern railroad and is crosed by the DesPlaines river. A dam is built across the river at a point near the south lines of the company's property. This dam makes the river above it for a long distance very wide and deep—a most beautiful place for boating. The banks of the river at this point are from eight to fifteen feet high and heavily wooded

The township of Maine and adjoining territory are made very accessible to the business center of the city by the three railways that intersect the town. The Chicago & Northwestern is one of the best suburban roads in the country and the Wisconsin Central's train service is first-class. The Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul road furnishes its patrons every convenience and comfort, and some of the most elegant and perfectly appointed trains that were ever pulled out of a depot are now running on their road. These three lines afford the residents of the suburbs bordering the city on the northwest excellent transit facilities. On the map the Milwaukee avenue elevated road is shown as extending to the town of Desplaines, for the reason that when the line is built up to Park Ridge, as now projected, it is believed the owners will find it to their interests to continue it from that point through this rapidly-growing district to Desplaines.

A GLANCE AT LAKE VIEW.

The benefits of annexation have been nowhere more apparent than in the case of Lake View. A few years ago this section of the city was little better than prairie, with here and there a frame dwelling. Today it is one of the most populous and prosperous portions of Chicago. Lake View comprised all that portion of the present North side which lies north of Fullerton avenue. Under its local board of trustees public improvements were slow. Very few of the streets were paved and those only in an inferior manner. The police and fire protection were necessarily inadequate. The water supply was insufficient and foul. Residents complained that contagions diseases were prevalent and deadly. Lake View was not regarded as a desirable residence locality.

Since annexation, however, all this has changed. There was so much opposition to the annexation movement that the residents of Lake View have ever since guarded their interests in the common council with jealous eyes. The result is now seen in the miles of substantial pavements and the rapid increase in value of property in the town. Nearly every prominent street in the town is now paved with cedar blocks. It is possible to ride for miles without at any point leaving paved streets and the pavements are as good as any within the city limits. The drainage, also, is excellent The land lies high above the level of the lake; and with the assistance of an excellent system of sewerage it is kept dry at all seasons of the year. While other portions of the city and suburbs are submerged the Lake View streets and cellars are kept dry by the quick outlet of its sewers. The water supply, also, is soon to be perfected. A new tunnel is being constructed two miles into the lake. The intake of this tunnel will be so far removed from the mouth of the river that an abundant supply of pure water will be assured to the residents of Lake View for all time to come. This alone is a great advantage to this section of the city.

Under its own city government there was no restriction as to buildings. Since annexation fire limits have been established. The result is seen in an improved order of architecture, especially in residence structures. The time has passed when cheap frame residences are regarded desirable in any considerable portion of Lake View. Property has appreciated so rapidly that it does not pay to build cheap houses on lots worth three or four times as much as they were before annexation. This is especially true of the district adjoining and immediately north of Lincoln Park. Here can be seen some costly private residences and substantial business blocks that will compare favorably with any buildings of the same class on the south or west sides. One of the finest residence districts in the city is along Evanston avenue and east of the avenue from Diversey street north to Graceland avenue. This is to be the boulevard district of the North side and it is here that the observer sees tangible evidences of the esteem in which the north shore is held by wealthy residents, in the shape of costly dwellings equal in elegance to any to be found in Chicago.

The memory of many very recent settlers in Chicago can recall the time only a few years ago when the choicest lake shore property in Lake View could be bought at prices so low as to make it seem an undesirable investment. No phase of the wonderful growth of Chicago is more remarkable than the rapid increase in real estate values in Lake View, and the visitor who has not seen Lake View property for a year or more will be impressed with the great change which has recently taken place in this part of the city.

THE CALUMET REGION.

The Calumet District is generally understood to comprise the territory south of 87th street, drained by the various lakes and rivers of the Calumet system. This system is extensive and rather complicated. It lies both in Cook county, Illinois, and in Lake county, Indiana. The larger part of it lies within the townships of Hyde Park and Calumet. It also extends into the townships of Worth, Bremen, and Thornton. Generally speaking, its southern boundary may be indicated by a line passing from east to west through East Chicago, Hammond Harvey, (South Lawn), and Blue Island and north through the western line of the Blue Island ridge.

There are two Calumet rivers properly speaking, the Little Calumet and the Grand Calumet, which unite at "The Forks," to form the Calumet river. Into this the whole Calumet region drains. It empties into Lake Michigan at South Chicago, twelve miles south of Chicago harbor. The general course of the Calumet river below "The Forks" is north, though the stream covers considerable territory in its windings. To the west lies the Calumet lake, a shallow body of water about three miles long, north and south and two miles broad. On its west bank lie Pullman and Kensington. Between Pullman and Kensington and the west line of the Blue Island ridge lies a beautiful country, high, dry, and in places heavily wooded. Here are located Roseland, Morgan Park, Washington Heights, Gano, Fernwood, and other thriving settlements.

On the narrow neck of land between Calumet lake and Calumet river is Cummings. On the east bank of the river lies Colehour. Lake Calumet empties into the Calumet river below Cummings, the connecting stream leaving the lake at its southern end and being less than half a mile in length. A mile or so to the south are "The Forks," where come together the Little and Grand Calumet rivers. The Little Calumet comes from the west and the Grand from the east. At "The Forks" is Hegewisch. On the Little Calumet are Riverdale and Blue Island; on the Grand is Hammond, through which runs the Indiana State line.

East of the Calumet river and north of the Grand Calumet lie Hyde, Wolf and George lakes from west to east in order named. The State line runs through the middle of Wolf lake. East and south of George lake and between the Grand Calumet and Lake Michigan lies East Chicago.

South Chicago is the oldest of the larger settlements in the Calumet district. The subdivision of Calumet was filed for record June 13, 1836. July 3, 1837, George's addition to Calumet was recorded. The first hotel was built by Lewis Benton in 1836 and called the Calumet house. In 1874 George's addition was vacated and the subdivision of South Chicago was filed for record. In 1873 the "east side" of South Chicago known as Colehour, was surveyed and put on the market. Colehour has grown in common with the other localities of the region. Practically it is a part of South Chicago. Cummings, also, to all intents and purposes a part of South Chicago, was originally called Irondale. Its history dates from 1875. Great as has been the wonderful growth of the Calumet district, it has just begun to grow. The territory in the southern portion of the district near and east of the Indiana State line is destined to share in the great industrial movement that has resulted in the establishment of such great centers as South Chicago and Pullman, in the northern part of the district.
